the Belmont cemetery.

The storm is costing Wellsville taxpayers money in more ways than one. For instance, a hurried survey Monday morning taken in Wellsville schools with the resultant determination that absence alone, blamed on the storm of Sunday and Monday. is costing Wellsville no less than $181.80 in state money which would have been received next year. In explanation, Superintendent of Schools George F. Jammer rointed out that the attendance at schools this year determines the amount of state aid to be received next year. The great amount of absence Monday was blamed principally on the impassability of roads.
