A ROCK IN A WEARY LAND

When I was 15 years old my father took me into his study and gave me a talk about life insurance. He was a preacher, with a large family and a small income.

"Paying my premiums has kept me poor, and often in debt," he said, "but I am well rewarded. I can lie down and sleep soundly at night."

In order to bring the lesson home, he applied for $3,000 of life insurance on the 20-payment plan for me, saying that he would carry it until I had graduated from college and I could go on with it from there.

Twenty years seemed longer at that time than a hundred years seem now. I wondered if I would ever live to the ripe old age of 35, when the policies would be paid in full.

Well, I have lived that long, and these policies, and some others, are all paid up. Father himself lived long, and having educated his children and seen them all started, he cashed in his insurance and was comfortable in his old age.

Remembering this lesson, I have signed my checks for premiums very cheerfully, but never with so much satisfaction as during the past two years.

In a period when almost every- thing one owns is tumbling it is great to know that one investment, at least, is just as good as it promised to be. Nothing has happened to any of the big insurance companies, and nothing will.

I was reminded of this the other day when I attended a convention of insurance salesmen. They were full of human interest stories.

Said one: "A business man walk- ed into my office and asked for an application blank. He said that two years ago he was worth $200,000, and thought that he and his family were safe from financial wor- ries forever. Now the $200,000 is less than $50,000. His only hope of independence is thru systematic savings as represented by payments of life insurance premiums."

Another told of a man who asked: "I am 35 and have to start all over again. What kind of a policy can you offer me that will insure me a competence at 60?"

We were all carried off our feet by the new theory of investments in 1929. Bonds and insurance were out of date. Common stocks were the one sure way to fortune.

Now the pendulum has swung back. The old-fashioned ideas are in style again. It is a time when insurance companies ought to double their advertising and insurance sales- men their efforts.

When we were prosperous we sometimes regarded these salesmen as a nuisance. Today their wares are "as rivers of water in a dry place; as the shadow of a rock in a weary land."

The Board of Excise of the town of Andover met Wednesday and granted licenses for the sale of li- quors to the following persons: Hotels, J. A. Swink, Mrs. H. Joyce. Ale and beer, Mrs. E. Trainor, Mrs. Frank Myles, Store, Stillman Bur- dick.

The sale of the Kemp farm came off last Saturday as advertised. Mrs. E. A. Harmon bid off the property at $6,050.

Brown, the man who was sent to jail at Angelica for 500 days for assaulting T. N. Boyd, has served out his sentence.

The American House is being re- painted and repaired. A. L. Jones is doing the work.

Last Saturday afternoon the gas was suddenly shut off. A big stump or log in the creek above the Kemp farm came against the pipe in such force as to break the pipe and And- over people had to hustle around and pick up wood to burn. The line was repaired on Sunday and the gas turned on again Sunday night. Andover has as little trouble of this kind as any town where gas is burn- ed.

The roads are drying up rapidly. The maple sugar season bids fair to be short.

The Mutual Gas Co. will drill a well on the R. A. Pease farm. Work will be commenced as soon as the machinery can be conveyed to the premises.

Aunt Polly Hopkins bids all wim- min in the neighborhood to a quilting bee at Mr. Prest's great hall, Wednesday afternoon, April 20th. The men folks can come too, supper at early candle light.

We understand that Dr. W. W. Crandall will move to Andover the first of May and will occupy his house on Greenwood street, now oc- cupied by T. McTighe and James Pardon.

John Prest has concluded to ac- cept the contract for building the new M. E. church at Wellsville. The committee having extended the time for completing the work.

S. J. Fowler of Bainbridge, who was here last week looking over the prospects for establishing the un- dertaking and bakery business, has decided to come and has rented the H. P. Benton store on Main street.

At 5:30 o'clock Thursday morn- ing the fire alarm was sounded and the fire soon located in the building on Center street owned by M. H. Harmon and occupied by him as a store and justice office. Nearly all the goods were saved but the build- ing destroyed.

Rude Rural Rhymes

The Pastured Woods

This is the soil, hard and bare, beneath the trees, no seedlings there because the farmer permitted his cows to ramble around and trample and browse. This is the farmer who ought to know that seed can't start nor seedlings grow to make new trees when the old trees go in a woodlot where the bonehead cows can ramble around to trample and browse. This is the wire strong but cheap; two strands of it are enough to keep the woodlot free from the farmer's cows that otherwise would trample and browse the hopeful seeds, the seedling trees that grow, if they can on spots like these. This is the rhyme that I have writ; Josh Cope's the boy that started it. And here's to the farmer who'll change his ways, and staple tightly the good wire stays that keep the cows where cows belong while the hopeful seedlings push up strong for use and beauty and wild bird song.—BOB ADAMS.

Mosher & Backus, Owners

We are glad to announce that the Honeoye Union School has secured Wm. W. Pingrey as principal for another year.

We understand the Town Board are making arrangements to place a new iron bridge across the Dyke's Creek on lower Main street this summer. The present wooden struc- ture is unsafe and entirely inade- quate.

Dr. Burdick says its hard to beat four queens. The last little lady came Saturday morning.

In anticipation of the salary of C. B. Lever, mayor of our city, he has purchased the Ralph Kemp 50- acre farm joining his own.

John Prest has enlarged the stage to his opera house and placed new footlights therein, so that it is now in fine shape for any kind of play or performance.

At the meeting held at Cuba last week the Democrats chose officers to serve on the county committee. Among whom Henry Horan, Jr., re- ceived the honor for Andover.

Bullhead fishing has been fairly good this week at the pond. Several fine strings have been taken. Hiram Boyd says the railroad ties along the pond are worth ten cents each to set on some days.

Dr. George H. Witter of Wells- ville has been selected by a confer- ence of leading Republicans of Al- legany county as their candidate for state committeeman, to succeed the late Hon. Wm. J. Glenn, for the 34th Congressional District.

The bicycle path licenses for Al- legany county will be only 50 cents this season. Get your badge early and let us hope the sidepaths will be placed in riding condition earlier than they were last year.

Mrs. Frances Clark, wife of Ed- son Clark, died Sunday after sever- al weeks of severe illness. Funeral services were held Tuesday. Inter- ment at Alfred.

The building recently occupied as a bowling alley on Greenwood street has been rented by Laundryman C. T. Rogers, for a laundry, and the same is being put in readiness to be used for that purpose. The charge will be made next week.

J. C. and Frank Bassett went to Alfred Saturday afternoon to visit their brother Baylies Bassett, who had had a stroke of paralysis a few days before. They found him in a semi-conscious condition and failing rapidly, with little hope of his re- covery. Mr. Bassett is over 80 years of age.

Word has been received that Peter Velthuysen, who left Alfred last October, as a missionary to the Gold Coast of Africa, has been a victim of fever and died February 17th.
