South Hill

(Mrs. Margaret Dean, Reporter)

Sept. 21-28.—Frank Holmes, as field man for Atwood & McEwan, is driving a spick and span new Ford truck.
Tony Dougherty filled his silo last week, Will Joyce doing the cutting. Mrs. J. Danher of Wellsville spent one day last week with her daughter, Mrs. Dougherty.
Mr. and Mrs. H. Dean and Mrs. M. Dean were Wellsville shoppers last Saturday.

Mrs. H. Atwood of Andover and W. McEwan of Wellsville were inspecting their oil property here one day last week.

Mrs. Ella Dougherty and daughter, Margaret were guests of the Dougherty family last week, Friday.
Milk inspectors were doing their bit in helping the milk situation in this section last week.

Mrs. Margaret Dean spent last Sunday with Miss O'Leary of Andover and also visited at the Horan home.

The long drought should have been broken by the equinoctial storm but that has failed us as yet.

Mike McLaughlin of Andover is helping Ed. Lynch with his work.

And now the last crop, that of potatoes, is being harvested with no buyers or market in sight. Naturally it winds up the season's work most discouragingly for the farmers.

Mrs. Atwood of Andover accompanied by an out-of-town gas prospector were South Hill visitors, Monday.

Ed. McAndrew reports his son, Richard, as coming as good as could be expected after his operation for appendicitis at St. James Mercy hospital, Sunday night.

Again a gloom was cast upon our community by the death of Miss Nell Horan at her home in Andover last Saturday. Altho in failing health for several months, her ultimate recovery was hoped but it was not to be. Nellie was born on the hill and had lived her life among us, until the family's removal to Andover some years ago. She was one of South Hill's most beloved and respected daughters, for her fine Christian characteristics. Her greatest pleasure was in doing for others with heart and hand. She took a mother's place in the family circle upon the latter's death several years ago, and with wise counsel and help was most solicitous for the welfare of each. As a member of Blessed Sacrament church she was untiring in its service, and prominently affiliated with its many societies. As her neighbors, so we knew her, tried and true. She was one of God's willing workers, and surely "Will abide with Him forever." Funeral on Tuesday was well attended by our people, the bearers representing the neighbors of past years. Much sympathy is felt for the aged father, whose prop she was, and the family in this, their second bereavement in recent months.

John Danher of Wellsville was on the hill the first of the week.

Miss Mary Byrnes of Wellsville is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Howard Dean and family.

Andover R. F. D. 3

(Mrs. Scott Jacobs, Reporter)

Hamilton C. Norris, Editor

"Uncle" Luther Green, the oldest inhabitant in this section, died on Sunday, October 2, 1892, at the home of his daughter. He was 98 years of age. Mr. Green came to independence from Albany when but 16 years old and has always lived there since. He sowed the first grass seed ever sowed in Allegany county.

The Philharmonic Society of Andover will produce the drama, "Foil-ed, or a Struggle for Life and Liberty," Wednesday evening. The cast of characters are:

Ralph Evans — Will C. Cannon
Hugh Bosworth — John E. Cannon
Barney O'Grady — T. K. Regan
Richard Slater — Will O'Connell
Joe Ricketts — Richard Coyle
Jack Swinger — Daniel McGinty
Sal Nipper — Robert Barrett
Charlotte Evans, Miss Agnes Pardon
Becky Buckheart — Miss Julia Ryan
Mrs. Evans — Miss Anna O'Leary
Little Eddie, Master Ewart McTighe

The new machinery for Lanphear & Williamson's new mill arrived Tuesday. It consists of full roller process for wheat and buckwheat.

Marsh Bundy is steadily improving under the careful nursing of Mr. Allen of Hornellsville.

Jeremiah Clarke returned Sunday from his trip to the fairs, at which he exhibited his blooded stock. He brought home a load of bull calves, purchased while absent.

A new footbridge has been built as an addition to the bridge across Dyke creek at the south end of Main street. Sidewalks are being built both sides of the bridge.

Rev. G. W. Gibson has been returned to the Andover Methodist church for another year.

The Family DOCTOR

JOHN JOSEPH GAINES M.D.

SEASONABLE HINTS

Say what we please about "scientific" canning, there is a whole lot of good argument in favor of the cellar shelves that sag with home style fruit jars, filled with a variety of small fruits, home-canned. And, if I do not miss in judgment, we are going to need them this winter.

The humble gooseberry grows wild in most localities—and sugar is not prohibitive in price. No pie is better than a good gooseberry pie at any season of the year. Let me relate this little incident: A 12-year old girl in my vicinity came down with something that caused an intense jaundice. The family doctor in charge advised the mother to give the patient "all the gooseberries she would eat."

I don't know whether I'd have advised that—but I do know that the child recovered in short order. I am not advising you to try it, if you have jaundice; I'm just scoring one for my old friend the gooseberry.

I'd just be glad to know that you have a good store of canned raspberries, strawberries, grapes, tomatoes, cherries, plums, and whatever you have growing next to you. I am awaiting the time here, when the dewberries ripen; they grow wild in old, deserted fields, that have not paid the farmer with other crops. I am getting dewberry and blackberry minded at the time these lines are being penned.

And, I can envy our folks who are storing the "smoke-house" with choice country bacon, hams, etc. They eat just as well as when they were 50 cents a pound—bear that in mind. Don't you adore country-cured ham and bacon! The eyes have it. Yours for a full smoke-house and pantry this fall.

Towels that are folded smoothly lengthwise after the last rinsing, run thru the wringer, and hung to dry in these folds, do not require ironing.

Moehrer & Backus, Owners

Dr. L. G. Probasco of Whitesville is said to be the first to introduce ping pong in that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hinchey and daughter, Miss Carolyn, were in Wellsville Sunday in attendance at the funeral of Mrs. Sarah W. Freeland.

The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marvin was buried yesterday. Rev. V. L. Eggleston, assisted by a quartet from the Baptist church officiated.

Rev. E. J. Rengel attended the Confirmation services at Warsaw last Monday, where Rev. Murray formerly of the Blessed Sacrament church is rector.

Richard K. Hammond of Andover and Miss Clara E. Bestwick of Ullyses, Pa., were quietly married at the Methodist parsonage in Wellsville Tuesday, Sept. 23rd. They will reside in Wellsville.

Nearly every member of the Woman's Relief Corps and a few of the Post boys of this village partook, by invitation, of a dinner furnished by the ladies of Dexter Relief Corps at Wellsville, Thursday. A pleasant time was enjoyed.

Phil Barrett, son of Patrick Barrett of this village, who recently broke his arm at the wrist, in playing football Saturday, had the misfortune of breaking it again in the same place.

Rev. H. D. Bacon, who has been called to the pastorate of the Presbyterian church of Andover, has been transferred from the Cheung to the Steuben Presbytery.

We are glad to see M. A. Crandall, who was recently so seriously injured by being hung up on a cant-hook, on our streets, Monday, apparently none the worse for the accident.

The order condemning the Andover school building, as printed in the News, was vacated by Supt. Skinner because the order did not state that the building was "unfit for use and not worth repairing."

A new order containing the omitted words has been made and served upon the Board of Education. As a result, Andover people are mostly like the Southern Senator who asked "Mr. President, where are we at?"

There May Be a Difference of Opinion on Some Subjects!

Some people believe this way and some people that way, but all will admit that selling an idea is usually more difficult than selling a commodity—and especially is it easier in selling the commodity, if advantage is taken of the modern, the economical and the quickest method. That method is in the use of advertising space in the Andover News. Whether you are a merchant or a citizen, when you want to buy or sell, trade or lease, rent or find a commodity, read and use the advertising columns and let people know of your needs or offerings.
