

Greenwood Correspondence

South Hill

(Mrs. Margaret Dean, Reporter)

Oct. 19.—Ideal fall weather last week and on Sunday many motorists enjoyed a drive thru the beautiful scenery of hill and dale.

Potato digging still continues and the but few are being drawn to market, some outside trucking has been done. Parties came from Bradford, Pa., this week to obtain some of our fine tubers for home consumption.

Our new residents, Charles Anthony Dougherty and Bruce Newton Clark, are now at home to their many friends and all concerned are doing fine.

T. Joseph Lynch was a visitor on the hill, Friday.

Walter Roselle of Wellsville obtained potatoes on the hill Friday.

Mrs. John Danhier of Wellsville was calling on her daughters, Mesdames Dean and Dougherty, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Dean was a Sunday guest at the O'Leary home in Andover.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dean and little daughters were dinner guests Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dennis of Hornell.

Dr. Francis Coyle of Buffalo visited Louis Dean, Sunday. Dr. Coyle will be recalled as the son of the late Mary Sullivan Coyle of our hill and Philip Coyle of Scio, at one time resident here.

Mrs. Leo Horan was unfortunate in falling down the cellar stairs Monday morning while moving some canned food. She suffered an injury to a couple of ribs, sprained wrist, some cuts and bruises. She is being cared for by nurse Edna Smith and Dr. Scott of Andover and her many friends wish her as speedy a recovery as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith of Andover visited their daughter, Mrs. Horan, Monday evening.

Mrs. Howard Dean and children went to Wellsville Tuesday where she attended a stork shower for a friend that evening.

Oliver Kemp of Andover was disposing of a load of grapes over the hill, Tuesday.

The present three days of rain is the first soaker we have had in months. The equinoctial storm must have encountered some delay.

Dean Bros., while digging on Tuesday saw three deer cross the farm in rather close proximity. Their fine form, grace and movement and agility in vaulting fences and surface rods when sighted by the dog, the boys pronounced a fine animal exhibit.

West Greenwood

(Miss Ella Conrad, Reporter)

Oct. 17.—The Grange and neighbors held a bee at Frank Northrup's to dig his potatoes, Saturday. Mr. Northrup has been ill with typhoid fever.

Bernice Conrad returned home from King Hill, Wednesday, after assisting her sister, Mrs. Gladys Brown with her work.

School district No. 7 has been closed for a week potato digging vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker and daughter, Dorothy, of East Valley, were here, Sunday.

Lester York has been drawing milk in place of Frank Northrup, who has been ill with fever.

Greenwood

(Mrs. A. L. Trowbridge, Reporter)

Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Grant Fuller of Andover called on Mrs. A. L. Trowbridge, Monday afternoon.

R. B. Smith, Jr., of Wellsville and Miss Agnes McCaffery, attended the dance at Fisher Farm, Sunday night.

Thomas McEnroe was a caller in town Tuesday night.

Miss Gertrude McCormick spent one night last week with Miss Alberta Dennis on Jackson Hill.

Miss Genevieve McCormick is passing a couple of weeks in Canis- teo with Mr. and Mrs. Accl Woodward.

Miss Mary Birmingham of Rex- ville spent Thursday night with Miss Agnes McCaffery.

Miss Agnes McCaffery spent the week-end with Miss Yvonne Smith in Wellsville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Trowbridge Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McCaffery and Junior McCaffery attended the show in Wellsville, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Trowbridge were shopping in Hornell Monday.

The Misses Cecelia and Dorothy Aiken of Philadelphia, who have been spending a week with their sister, Mrs. H. A. York, returned home Saturday.

Albert Warner of Bennetts Creek spent Sunday with Miss Mae Whitmore.

R. B. Smith, Jr., and Virgil Smith of Wellsville and Miss Agnes McCaffery attended the dance at the Arcadia in Olean, Saturday night.

A French expedition plans to see whether there is not a great subter- ranean water supply beneath the Sahara, and whether this could be used to irrigate the desert.

Independence

(Mrs. Floyd Clark, Reporter)

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Whitford of Watsontown, Pa., are visiting their mother, Mrs. Maud Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Clarke and three sons were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Whitford at Alfred.

Mrs. Carrie M. Slade of Andover accompanied Mrs. Floyd Clarke home Monday. She is recovering from her recent illness.

John Cones house burned early Sunday morning. Mr. Cone was so badly burned that he died Sunday afternoon. His funeral was held at Wildman's funeral parlors Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. W. D. Clarke spent Thursday night and Friday with Mrs. Carrie Slade at Andover.

Mrs. Charles Clarke passed Friday and Saturday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clarke at Whitesville.

Mrs. C. M. Crandall and Edward and Miss Anna Laura Crandall returned Thursday from Cleveland, O., where they had been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Greene for a week.

Whitesville

(Mrs. Ella Millsbaugh, Reporter)

Oct. 18.—The first snow of the season came Oct. 12th when there were several heavy snow squalls.

The Rev. H. J. Marquis made a business trip to Wellsville, Monday.

Mrs. C. L. Travis, who has been visiting relatives in Boston, Mass., Brewster, N. Y., and Deposit the past week, returned Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wildman.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Marquis, Miss Minnie Edmunds and Mrs. W. E. Wager were calling in Greenwood Saturday afternoon.

The Home Bureau met with Mrs. Charles White last Friday. A demonstration on refinishing furniture was given.

F. W. Clark who has been visiting in Moshertown, Pa., for several weeks returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Ella Millsbaugh entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lee Millsbaugh and daughters, Jean and Bethel of Andover, also Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hes- ton of Whitesville to dinner last Sunday. The occasion being the birthday of her son, Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wildman visited relatives in Endicott, N. Y. over the week-end, returning Monday evening.

John Cone, aged 74 years, was so badly burned in his home three miles east of Whitesville on Sunday morning by fire of unknown origin which destroyed the house and contents, that he died in Jones Memorial hospital, Wellsville, Sunday evening.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Wildman undertak- ing parlors, Whitesville, the Rev. H. J. Marquis officiating. Burial in Rural cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Crittenden were guests Sunday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Leon French of Brook- field, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richmond and twin daughters, Jean and Jane, left Sunday morning for a visit with relatives in Washington, D. C. Henry will return this week but Mrs. Richmond expects to remain a month with her mother, Mrs. Mary Chapin.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church will give a Hallowe'en social at the church parlors on Wednesday evening, Oct. 19. The church will extend a reception to their pastor and family, Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Mar- quis on the same evening.

Mrs. H. J. Marquis, Mrs. G. H. McKee, Mrs. C. L. Crittenden, Mrs. Anna Seger and Ella Millsbaugh at- tended the annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Hornell District, held in Wayland Oct. 13th. Mrs. Marquis was elected president of the district for the fifth term and Mrs. Millsbaugh was elected delegate to the New York branch meeting to be held in Utica, N. Y., next year.

Rev. and Mrs. Marquis chaperoned a company of nine young people to the Missionary meeting at Way- land, Thursday evening, and they received the $5.00 prize offered for the greatest number of young people going the longest distance to the meeting.

Jesse Read, son William daughter Dorothy and Miss Jennie Yarnell, all of Niagara Falls, N. Y., were guests Sunday of Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Mar- quis and attended Sunday morning services here.

No Sleep, No Rest, Stomach Gas is Cause

Mrs. A. Cloud says: "For years I had a bad stomach and gas. Was nervous and could not sleep. Adier- lika rid me of all stomach trouble and now I sleep fine." Brundage Drug Company.

While smoking his pipe during a walk, Mortimer Sullivan, Sr., of Fine, N. Y., heard the distant report of a rifle. A second later the bowl of his pipe was shattered, presumably by the bullet, leaving only the stem in his teeth.

When gentle Hannah bade adieu to visit in West Plains, Missoua, I did me many a household job comparatively tough on Bob. But not another tried my metal like cleaning up a burned-on kettle. I read the Post one night, dog-gone, and let the peach preserve burn on. With- in a recent rhyme I said it; you know about it if you read it. Next morning, conscience-smit, I guess, I rose up and attacked the mess. I took a spoon and scraped and scraped, then used a knife on what escaped. By this and that I worried free the thickest of the peach debris. There still remained a dead black space I tried my darndest to erase. With steel wool, cleanser, el- bow grease, I labored on without success. I got it all except some smears, I'll likely keep for souvenirs; but burning on was easier far than all these slow removals are. If, every time we went amiss, results came back to us like this, we'd live more carefully, I wis. I think, my- self we do go back retracing every wayward track, as sure, but not so swift, I wot, as scrubbing up a burn- on pot. The time shall come when every one adjusts for all the wrong he's done. If, in this life we go not thru it, God gives us plenty lives to do it.—BOB ADAMS.

Rude Rural Rhymes

The Burned-on Kettle

When gentle Hannah bade adieu to visit in West Plains, Missoua, I did me many a household job comparatively tough on Bob. But not another tried my metal like cleaning up a burned-on kettle. I read the Post one night, dog-gone, and let the peach preserve burn on. With- in a recent rhyme I said it; you know about it if you read it. Next morning, conscience-smit, I guess, I rose up and attacked the mess. I took a spoon and scraped and scraped, then used a knife on what escaped. By this and that I worried free the thickest of the peach debris. There still remained a dead black space I tried my darndest to erase. With steel wool, cleanser, el- bow grease, I labored on without success. I got it all except some smears, I'll likely keep for souvenirs; but burning on was easier far than all these slow removals are. If, every time we went amiss, results came back to us like this, we'd live more carefully, I wis. I think, my- self we do go back retracing every wayward track, as sure, but not so swift, I wot, as scrubbing up a burn- on pot. The time shall come when every one adjusts for all the wrong he's done. If, in this life we go not thru it, God gives us plenty lives to do it.—BOB ADAMS.

When gentle Hannah bade adieu to visit in West Plains, Missoua, I did me many a household job comparatively tough on Bob. But not another tried my metal like cleaning up a burned-on kettle. I read the Post one night, dog-gone, and let the peach preserve burn on. With- in a recent rhyme I said it; you know about it if you read it. Next morning, conscience-smit, I guess, I rose up and attacked the mess. I took a spoon and scraped and scraped, then used a knife on what escaped. By this and that I worried free the thickest of the peach debris. There still remained a dead black space I tried my darndest to erase. With steel wool, cleanser, el- bow grease, I labored on without success. I got it all except some smears, I'll likely keep for souvenirs; but burning on was easier far than all these slow removals are. If, every time we went amiss, results came back to us like this, we'd live more carefully, I wis. I think, my- self we do go back retracing every wayward track, as sure, but not so swift, I wot, as scrubbing up a burn- on pot. The time shall come when every one adjusts for all the wrong he's done. If, in this life we go not thru it, God gives us plenty lives to do it.—BOB ADAMS.

When gentle Hannah bade adieu to visit in West Plains, Missoua, I did me many a household job comparatively tough on Bob. But not another tried my metal like cleaning up a burned-on kettle. I read the Post one night, dog-gone, and let the peach preserve burn on. With- in a recent rhyme I said it; you know about it if you read it. Next morning, conscience-smit, I guess, I rose up and attacked the mess. I took a spoon and scraped and scraped, then used a knife on what escaped. By this and that I worried free the thickest of the peach debris. There still remained a dead black space I tried my darndest to erase. With steel wool, cleanser, el- bow grease, I labored on without success. I got it all except some smears, I'll likely keep for souvenirs; but burning on was easier far than all these slow removals are. If, every time we went amiss, results came back to us like this, we'd live more carefully, I wis. I think, my- self we do go back retracing every wayward track, as sure, but not so swift, I wot, as scrubbing up a burn- on pot. The time shall come when every one adjusts for all the wrong he's done. If, in this life we go not thru it, God gives us plenty lives to do it.—BOB ADAMS.

When gentle Hannah bade adieu to visit in West Plains, Missoua, I did me many a household job comparatively tough on Bob. But not another tried my metal like cleaning up a burned-on kettle. I read the Post one night, dog-gone, and let the peach preserve burn on. With- in a recent rhyme I said it; you know about it if you read it. Next morning, conscience-smit, I guess, I rose up and attacked the mess. I took a spoon and scraped and scraped, then used a knife on what escaped. By this and that I worried free the thickest of the peach debris. There still remained a dead black space I tried my darndest to erase. With steel wool, cleanser, el- bow grease, I labored on without success. I got it all except some smears, I'll likely keep for souvenirs; but burning on was easier far than all these slow removals are. If, every time we went amiss, results came back to us like this, we'd live more carefully, I wis. I think, my- self we do go back retracing every wayward track, as sure, but not so swift, I wot, as scrubbing up a burn- on pot. The time shall come when every one adjusts for all the wrong he's done. If, in this life we go not thru it, God gives us plenty lives to do it.—BOB ADAMS.

When gentle Hannah bade adieu to visit in West Plains, Missoua, I did me many a household job comparatively tough on Bob. But not another tried my metal like cleaning up a burned-on kettle. I read the Post one night, dog-gone, and let the peach preserve burn on. With- in a recent rhyme I said it; you know about it if you read it. Next morning, conscience-smit, I guess, I rose up and attacked the mess. I took a spoon and scraped and scraped, then used a knife on what escaped. By this and that I worried free the thickest of the peach debris. There still remained a dead black space I tried my darndest to erase. With steel wool, cleanser, el- bow grease, I labored on without success. I got it all except some smears, I'll likely keep for souvenirs; but burning on was easier far than all these slow removals are. If, every time we went amiss, results came back to us like this, we'd live more carefully, I wis. I think, my- self we do go back retracing every wayward track, as sure, but not so swift, I wot, as scrubbing up a burn- on pot. The time shall come when every one adjusts for all the wrong he's done. If, in this life we go not thru it, God gives us plenty lives to do it.—BOB ADAMS.

When gentle Hannah bade adieu to visit in West Plains, Missoua, I did me many a household job comparatively tough on Bob. But not another tried my metal like cleaning up a burned-on kettle. I read the Post one night, dog-gone, and let the peach preserve burn on. With- in a recent rhyme I said it; you know about it if you read it. Next morning, conscience-smit, I guess, I rose up and attacked the mess. I took a spoon and scraped and scraped, then used a knife on what escaped. By this and that I worried free the thickest of the peach debris. There still remained a dead black space I tried my darndest to erase. With steel wool, cleanser, el- bow grease, I labored on without success. I got it all except some smears, I'll likely keep for souvenirs; but burning on was easier far than all these slow removals are. If, every time we went amiss, results came back to us like this, we'd live more carefully, I wis. I think, my- self we do go back retracing every wayward track, as sure, but not so swift, I wot, as scrubbing up a burn- on pot. The time shall come when every one adjusts for all the wrong he's done. If, in this life we go not thru it, God gives us plenty lives to do it.—BOB ADAMS.

When gentle Hannah bade adieu to visit in West Plains, Missoua, I did me many a household job comparatively tough on Bob. But not another tried my metal like cleaning up a burned-on kettle. I read the Post one night, dog-gone, and let the peach preserve burn on. With- in a recent rhyme I said it; you know about it if you read it. Next morning, conscience-smit, I guess, I rose up and attacked the mess. I took a spoon and scraped and scraped, then used a knife on what escaped. By this and that I worried free the thickest of the peach debris. There still remained a dead black space I tried my darndest to erase. With steel wool, cleanser, el- bow grease, I labored on without success. I got it all except some smears, I'll likely keep for souvenirs; but burning on was easier far than all these slow removals are. If, every time we went amiss, results came back to us like this, we'd live more carefully, I wis. I think, my- self we do go back retracing every wayward track, as sure, but not so swift, I wot, as scrubbing up a burn- on pot. The time shall come when every one adjusts for all the wrong he's done. If, in this life we go not thru it, God gives us plenty lives to do it.—BOB ADAMS.

Turning Back the Pages Of Andover History

TAKEN FROM THE FILES OF THE ANDOVER NEWS

Forty Years Ago

OCTOBER 26, 1892

Hamilton C. Norris, Editor

While David Hunt was driving to this village last Saturday evening, he met with an unfortunate accident. Parties riding behind him, who evidently did not see Mr. Hunt, either ran into or locked wheels with his vehicle, with the result that Mr. Hunt was thrown out, striking on his head on the ground and rendering him unconscious, in which state he remained for about 12 hours. Mr. Hunt walked a short distance to the home of M. C. Williamson being practically unconscious when he reached there.

Mrs. Simeon Hann and Mrs. Frank Crandall were driving to Wellsville last week and their horse became frightened at a bicycle and ran off an embankment, upsetting the carriage and throwing the ladies out. They were severely bruised and their carriage badly damaged.

School Commissioner Stephen Polard will examine teachers for second and third grade certificates at Andover on Saturday, Nov. 25.

Immense quantities of potatoes have been shipped from the Andover station during the past two weeks, and thousands of dollars have been paid to our farmers. The price has been 50 cents a bushel, with but slight variations.

Deputy Sheriff Smith captured the man who stole the money and watch from William and Edward Jones. He was found at Troy, N. Y., and arrived here this morning. He was sent to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Mrs. Sophia Burrows died at her home in this village Thursday evening, Oct. 20, 1892. Deceased was born in 1816 and had lived in Andover village for over 50 years. She was the last of a family of six children. Mrs. Burrows was the mother of A. M. Burrows and Mrs. Phebe Bundy. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon in the Methodist church.

The registry in Andover shows a decided gain over last year's figures. In District No. 1, 338 names were placed on the list and in District No. 2 there were 282 names written.

New York does 13.7 per cent. of the total national retail trade, buys 16.2 per cent. of the country's food.

Thirty Years Ago

OCTOBER 22, 1902

Mosher & Backus, Owners

The people of Andover were greatly grieved Tuesday morning to learn that George B. Herrick had died suddenly at his home, a few minutes after 11 o'clock the night before. Mr. Herrick was about his business and seemed to be feeling unusually well on Monday and nothing could be more unexpected than his death, which occurred without any warning. George B. Herrick was born in Knoxville, Pa., May 10, 1835. He was married to Anna E. Rhinevault Feb. 28, 1860. His wife and three children survive.

Floyd, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Williams died Sunday morning. He had been a sufferer for eleven weeks with a complication of diseases.

We are pained to announce that P. H. Kelly of Cuba, who has been seriously ill the past eight months, is in a critical condition. Mr. Kelly won many friends in Andover while employed in the office of the Mutual Gas Co.

At the regular meeting of the Andover Free Library, held October 14, 1902, the following officers were elected: President, Rev. V. L. Eggleston; vice president, Mrs. Addie G. Coleman; treasurer, Dr. John Com- mon; secretary, Miss Belle Brundage; librarian, Mrs. J. M. Brundage.

Edgar Porter started for Fort Worth, Texas, Thursday evening. He has secured a position with the Cobb Brothers of that place.

Rev. Charles H. Harrington of the Andover Baptist church will conduct a series of evangelistic services at Angelica, upon a pressing invitation, beginning next Monday evening.

Many who claim to have found the key to success exhibit the same old difficulty in finding the keyhole.

At last the Olean street railway company have obtained their rights from the Shawmut & Pennsylvania railroads, and the courts decided they should have a crossing over their tracks.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Hauber of North Bingham, Pa., and Miss Mont- erty Lawrence of Geneva were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Pease Thursday afternoon, remaining over the night. They were also guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Deming, Friday afternoon.

Notice

I will not be responsible for any debts made by my wife, Pauline Adams, from now on. Signed WILLIARD ADAMS Dated October 17, 1932.

Collector's Notice for the Collection of School Taxes

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned Collector of School District No. 1, Town of Andover, county of Allegany, have received the tax list and warrant for the collection of school taxes in and for said District, Town of Andover, N. Y., county of Allegany, and that I will receive voluntary payments thereon at 1% at Brundage Drug store, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays and at other days at my residence on Greenwood street for 30 days from 9 a. m., to 12 m., and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. Dated Sept. 29, 1932.

BERNICE M. NOBLES, Collector

Notice to Creditors

Pursuant to an order of the Hon. Walter N. Renwick, Surrogate, Allegany County, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against the estate of Mary A. Greene, late of the town of Andover, N. Y., to present the same with proper vouchers to the undersigned Executor at his residence in the town of Independence, N. Y., on or before the 30th day of October, 1932.

SAMUEL E. CRANDALL, Executor 44 Andover, N. Y.

25c for 6 Months National Sportsman... National Sportsman has for 22 years been leader in the outdoor field. Its pages today are more interesting and valuable than ever. You will find each day crammed full of hunting, fishing, camping and trapping stories and pictures, valuable information about traps, rifles, fishing tackle, game law changes, best places to fish and hunt, etc. To introduce National Sportsman to you we will send it to you for six months for only 25c. Clip this advertisement and mail together with 25c in stamps or coin today.

Name _____ Street _____ City _____ State _____

25c for 6 Months National Sportsman... National Sportsman, Boston, Mass.

WELLSVILLE DAYS TWO GREAT BARGAIN DAYS FRIDAY SATURDAY OCT. 21-22 Come to Wellsville FRIDAY and SATURDAY TWO GREAT DAYS OF OUTSTANDING VALUES 50—Stores Cooperating—50 COME and SAVE Wellsville Days Are Money Saving Days WATCH FOR THE BLUE AND GOLD BANNERS Sponsored by the Merchants' Division of the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce

FOR RENT... NO JOB... THE ANDOVER NEWS