From the Melting Pot

There are some points—I might call them rules—that I feel pretty safe in abiding by, subject to very moderate amending for special cases. I will mention a few.

I have learned that the adult man needs at least one meat ration a day, cooked in the manner he likes it best. The working man needs more meat than the housed man. I do not permit heavy meats for the evening meal.

The adult human body needs one or two eggs daily, cooked as the individual prefers.

I prefer cooked fruits to raw fruits, as a rule. From the producer to the consumer these days, may pass the viand thru a dozen pairs of more or less dirty hands. It takes more than a casual rinsing to remove germs; cooking does the work. Stewed dried fruits are my absolute favorites for winter eating.

The fruit portion of the meal, roughly speaking, may furnish from one-third to one-half the volume of the ration. We, as a nation, eat too little of well-selected fruits.

We do not give enough attention to the volume of water taken. A patient weighing 150 pounds should drink a total of a half-gallon of water daily. Don't await thirst, if you are sedentary. Get the habit of drinking methodically.

I am asked often, "Shall I drink milk?" This by people who are merely run down from over-strain of affairs. I ask, "Do you like it?" "Yes." "Then drink it." But if the answer is "No, I can't say I like it, but have been told it's good for me." Then I say "Take a glass now and then, but abandon it if it causes distress." Trial and Error—you know.

You need a bladder physic to drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Get a 25c test box of BU-KETS, the bladder physic, from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETS, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains arising from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. IN LITTLE OLD NEW YORK
by CARL H. GETZ

Eighteen New Yorkers pay taxes on incomes ranging from $4,000,000 to $10,000,000.

The average visitor to New York sees more of the city in a week or ten days than the average New Yorker sees in a lifetime.

If riding in a New York subway, you can almost tell the time of day by noting the newspapers the passengers are reading. The tabloids are the most popular with the early morning crowds.

Was walking along Fifth Avenue the other day when I saw an excited Greek with a pushcart loaded down with bananas having a terrible time dodging motor vehicle traffic. How in the world he found his way to Fifth Avenue is a mystery. When I saw him a huge bus was in front of him and a foreign-made automobile at his heels. A policeman rescued him and directed him to a side street.

There is a steamship company president here who has his office so constructed that his desk and chair are placed on a platform a foot off the ground. He looks down from his seat like a king.

They are trying to revive interest in wood-burning at one of New York's department stores. It must be all of 20 years ago that you watched big sister ply this decorative art on cigar boxes and leather sofa cushions. It was rather dangerous practice over an alcohol lamp in those days. But now it is done with a pyroelectric pen and is very safe and rapid.

Was walking along Lexington Avenue the other day when I was surprised to hear the sound of organ music. I turned and there on the curb sat a well dressed man playing a portable organ. On the top of the organ were packages of chewing gum and peppermint and lozenges.

There is a suicide here every six hours.

"Trust Lord with your prescriptions," is the slogan of a Long Island pharmacist called Todd Chemists.

On Sunday night, their only night off, most actors and actresses go to the theatre.

It is said that 15 per cent. of New York's male population goes to work each morning wearing a uniform. Surface car, elevated train and subway workers, policemen, firemen, mail carriers, hotel doormen—all wear uniforms.

Uncle Ab says master your thoughts rather than let them master you.

Twenty-eight of the 57 New York counties that grow potatoes grow fewer bushels of potatoes than the county uses.

Most farm machinery is discarded because of breakage and rust. Paint and oil protect machines from rust, and tight bolts are the best insurance against breakage.

Freezing temperatures prevent the growth of bacteria but will not kill bacteria that are on the milk equipment. Milk utensils need to be as thoroughly sterilized in winter as in summer.

Poultry can withstand colder temperatures than other animals but they cannot tolerate drafts.

Uncle Ab says if your candidate did not win it was because elections are swung by an ignorant majority.

Twenty-seven thousand New York State farm boys and girls are enrolled in 4-H Clubs. More than 850 men and women are voluntary local leaders.

Only plants that flower late in the fall, such as hydrangeas, should be pruned in the fall. Spring blooming shrubs should be pruned after they flower.

Seventy-five per cent of the town tax and more than half of the county tax money is from the property tax, according to the average of four counties studied by the state college in 1930.
