"I got your note," he said harshly. "I don't understand."

A deeper wave of crimson went up over Nancy's tremulous face and her eyes sank. She averted her face from Page's eyes, clasping her hands behind her back.

"I don't understand," Page repeated hoarsely. "What did you mean, Nancy?"

Whippet, Like Greyhound,

Only Smaller in Stature Aside from the marked degree of impatience and excitability, from his terrier antecedents, the whippet possesses all the attributes of his larger prototype, the greyhound. Developed originally for the purpose of courselvables, which little recenof coursing rabbits, this little racer, in appearance, a greyhound in miniature, is likewise a sight-hunter, observes an authority in the Los Angeles Times.

The cruel sport of rabbit-bailing The cruel sport of rabbit-batting long practiced in Europe, had been aboilshed by the time the dog became popular in America. The sport gradually improved to its attained perfection of racing, which can hardly be termed "coursing" as it does not test the dogs turning capabilities. No rabbit is used, instead, a rag or towel, waved frantically beyond the finish line, is used to induce the dogs to race to a goal at the end of a 200-yard straightnessy that is divided non lanes to prevent interference between the competitors A well-trained Whipthe competitors. Fish Growls Like Dog;

Another Grunts Like Pig
Though we generally think of itshes as silent creatures, persons who have made an extensive study of their habits have discovered quite a few species that are capable of producing sound, the New York Times relates. Among these are the South American cafish, which growts like a dog, the gunard,
which not only whistles and bellows but purrs much like a cat. The musical contribution of our own American catish is a noise which sounds like a person grinding his teeth, while the horse mackerel and the sunfish common to British waters make simliar noises. The drumer fash of the nar noises. The grummer has of the Florida coast lives up-to its name. A story from Mexico tells of the remarkable vocal efforts of the so-called Mexican singing fish, or canary fish. These fishes, traveling in bodies several hundred strong at certain times of the year, produce a sound by contraction of their air bladders that is mellowed to a musical note as it filters through the water to a listener in a boat above them. And according to the Fishing Gazette, natives of certain regions in South America declare they can hear the "singing fishes" common to that locality coming from quite a distance, not by applyshing or firming but from the moine which the moine Florida coast lives up to its nan

Robin Hood

How much truth there is in the tale about the medieval hero Robin Hood unknown.

Unsuccessful attempts have been is unknown. Unsuccessful attempts have been made to prove his real existence. His career, as eventually developed, has all the details of authentic history. But there is nothing to be found concerning him beyond the content of the old ballads, of which there are some forty. The oldest known to exist is assigned to about the year 1400. There were earlier ones, however, because the Fourteenth century "Piers Plowman" refers to "tymes of Robyn Hood." The time in which Robin Hood is supposed to have had his being was during the reign of Richard I (1188-99). Some have attempted to show that the gallant outlaw of Sherwood Forest was simply an elf of Germanic folk tales. manic folk tales,

Cause of Northera Lights a vast electrical discharge, but the exact nature is unknown. According to one theory, it is caused by the ascent of positive electricity from the surfaces of tropical waters, which flow toward the polar regions on high aerial currents, and there descend toward the earth and come in contact with the earth's negative electricity and produce luminous discharges. Cause of Northern Lights

"He Got the Sack" "He's got the sack." It was formerly the custom for employers to be given the tool-bags of their mechanics while the latter were in their employ. If one of these mechanics were discharged he would be given back his bag or sack for his tools, so that he might go and seek another post. This seems the most reasonable derivation for the phrase,, and it has received the widest acceptance.

The Family THE METER CAMES AND

"CANKER SORES"

Seldom a week goes by that I am not appealed to by people with the well-known "Canker-sores" — small anywhere within the buccal cavity—usually may be seen inside the mouth, on the walls that touch outer surfaces of the teeth. No description necessary—but they occur from size of a pin-head up to large as a penny; never exactly circular, unless when very small. They are whitish, covered with mucous—nature doing all she can to repair. We are asked to "touch 'em up with caustic," which is the usual procedure. This doesn't cure the condition causing them—it just gives us a stall for time, until the digestive tract rights itself, I think.

The other day a young druggist came into my office; he had a distressing case; couldn't eat anything very salty, very tart, very cold, or very hot. Maybe you have been that way,

I "touched 'em up" with 20 per large and lot containing about hree-fourths of an acre of land on Entered. Cheap to settle an estate.—Andrew D. Fuller and John J. way.

I "touched 'em up" with 20 per cent nitrate of silver solution. I told him as I have just told you—it was treating the symptom instead of the simple ailment. "You've got plenty of 'citro-carbonate' in the store, haven't you?" I asked. "Sure" he answered. "Then take three or four doses a day, between meals and at bedtime," was my direction. The patches disappeared within three days. The effervescing, alkaline mixture was easy to take, and, with brief directions as to too much greasy food; the cure was neither difficult nor unpleasant.

Now had my patient been a farm boy—several miles away from the drug store—it would have been different. I might have told him to buy a quarter's worth of Gream Tartar—and take a heape'l taspoonful in a glass of water three times a day.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood -

Cleanse the Blood

Your kidneys are constantly filtering impurities from the blood stream. But kidneys get functionally disturbed—lag in their work—fail to remove the poisonous body wastes.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatipains; feel "all worn out."

Don't delay! For the quicker you get rid of these poisons, the better your chances of good health.
Use Don's Pilis. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They tend to promote normal functioning of the kidneys; should help them pass off the irritating poisons. Doan's are recommended by users the country over. Get them from any druggist.
