Show Restaged in Fine Style

"When Youth Comes Tripping," was given a fair sized audience at their repeated appearance Monday evening. The play, a three-act comedy, was good and no criticism need be given of any character, each part being well taken and nicely presented.

Extra numbers which were thoroughly enjoyed were several selections played by the American Legion band and vocal solos by little Miss Ethelyn Wilkins of Allentown, who sang "Old Faithful" in a very sweet voice and by our own soloist, William Lang. Both responded to hearty encores.

The privilege of listening to a play once more in Andover where one could see and hear those on the stage and be seated comfortably during the program was a treat to Andover. The News trusts the management of our fine Auditorium may be able to arrange to give us more of them.

News job printing pleases.

Space and time don't seem to matter very much. It is what we do in space and time that matters.

Brooms
 Every home can use a good broom to advantage. To buy the ordinary cheap grocery store broom is questionable economy; they give you service of a low order and soon lose their shape so that the sweepings are left in ridges and the surface you wish to clean must be gone over several times.
 It has become a proverb that—"A new broom sweeps clean"—if the broom is a "Morning Glory" it sweeps clean new or old. Made from the toughest and finest broom corn by master workmen, they wear down evenly and retain their elasticity, keep their shape and do a good job to the last push.
 Morning Glory Brooms are sold on a money-back guarantee, if the dollar you pay for one of them does not, in your judgment, give you one hundred cents' worth of the cleanest, easiest and most satisfactory broom service you have ever experienced, bring back the handle and get back your money.
