We Hope So

Tucson, Ariz., Mar. 11.—Charles G. Dawes, former vice president, believes the depression will end in another two months and that the nation will realize it not later than July.

Voicing this conviction in an interview, Dawes said the depression beginning in 1873 and 1893 lasted five and one-half years each as measured by the stock market, and that the one that began in 1929 should wind up in about the same length of time.
