THE BODY ROOM and riding quality of L the Ford V-8 are surprising—unless you remember two unique Ford features . . . the V-8 engine and the 12311 springbase.

For all its 8-cylinder smoothness and power the Ford V-8 engine is only four cylinders long! And the engine is placed 81/2 inches further forward than heretofore. There is lots of extra room inside the Ford body.

The other unique feature is the "long springbase" ride. This new kind of ride is made possible by the greater distance between the Ford front and rear springs. Your actual ride-base in a Pord V-8 is 1231/4 inches long! Almost a foot longer than

Ford is always a thrifty car to own—but cost is not skimped in building it. All through it are measurable values that compare with cars selling for many hundreds of dollars more. Why don't you try this Ford V-8 -- today?
