Altho 1,400 pounds of roast ox over 8,000 buns and gallon after gallon of milk and ice cream will await Wellsville Good Will Day thousands on Thursday, August 8th, the prospect of free lunch will be a lesser attraction to residents of Andover who are among those invited by the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce to spend the day in that place.

In addition to the ox roast and lunch, the crowds planning to be in Wellsville August 8th will be drawn also by the prospect of seeing and hearing one of Western New York's best known and most popular radio announcers, Clinton Buehman of the Buffalo Broadcasting Corporation, pilot of the favorite morning radio program, "The Musical Clock."

There are dozens of other attractions, too, many of which are being saved as surprises for the visitors. And throughout the day, everything on the program is free. That puts the affair in the class of novelty in itself.

The Allegany County Farmers' Annual Picnic will be held in Wellsville the same day, giving the farmers a chance to make a big day of it. The farmers will open their program with sports for adults starting at 10:30 a. m. The Good Will Day program gets under way at 12:15, when Wellsville's guests will see a parade of 50 chefs, leading a bull to Island Park where the ox roast serving will begin 15 minutes later and continue until 1:30 o'clock. Large sandwiches, milk and ice cream will be served free.

During the lunch hour, Clinton Buehman will entertain over a public address system, loudspeakers being located in the business section and in Island Park. From 2 to 3 p. m., there will be supervised play for children 14 years of age or under, prizes going to winners. A treasure hunt and other competitive sports are planned at the high school field.

At 3:30 p. m., the Wellsville Senior ball club, several times champion of Allegany county and one year sectional champions of the Buffalo area, will play the Knights of Pythias of Elmira, one of the fastest semi-pro outfits of the Southern Tier, at Tuller Field.

Prior to the game, at 2 p. m., the farmers' picnic program of the afternoon will take place in Island Park, when a prominent farm authority will be the principal speaker. Running from 3:45 p. m. until 5 o'clock, the radio amateur contest will provide entertainment for the crowd and valuable prizes to the winners. Entertainers of Andover are invited to enter the contest by writing John Rowles, Jr., Wellsville, N. Y. The contest will be held in the park.
