Baker's Hardware News

Landlord: "Young man, I'll give you just three days to pay your bill." Stowpax: "Thanks for your kindness, I'll take Fourth of July, Christmas and Flag Day."

Plumb Axes Why is the design of the Plumb Axe superior? Because the blade is designed to sink deep, and tapered to roll the chip and clear itself in the cut.

What is distinctive about the steel used in Plumb Axes? This steel is a special axe steel. Plumb Axes are forged in one solid piece from it. There is no weld to break out. The tempering process is an exact science. Modern electrical equipment gives each part of the axe head the correct heat treatment. The head is toughened for heavy pounding; the eye is stiffened to resist buckling and the bit is tempered for two full inches back from the cutting edge.

What gives a Plumb Axe its balance? To have a proper haft every ounce of weight in head and handle must be properly distributed. The balance of Plumb Axes has been worked out by America's champion chopper. When you swing a Plumb Axe, you can feel that it has a proper hang; that it will fall straight and true with the natural sweep of your arms.

What precautions does Plumb take with Plumb Axe handles? Every Plumb handle is made from seasoned, tough young hickory, selected by wood experts. It must pass two exacting tests: First, for proper grade and grain. Second, it must withstand a 400-pound pressure test in a bending machine to prove its resiliency.

Mrs. Greene Second in Farm Bureau Contest

Mrs. Walter L. Greene was in attendance at the Western New York Home Bureau Federation meeting at Houghton last Monday and reports a very interesting program throughout the session.

Action—And Plenty of It is Fire Laddie's Motto

For the first time since the Texeco Fire Chief program has been on the air, the opening siren has been answered with action and plenty of it—and it took an Andover fire lad-die to do it.

Seemingly "Harry" installed a new radio in his confectionary store and the ever-alert smoke eater was in the place when the siren wailed thru the loud-speaker and, living up to the speed with which the Andover company has been noted for years past—he was on his way before he realized where the call came from.

Daughters to Share Estate of Mrs. Clark

The will of the late Louis Squire Clarke, which was admitted to probate at the last session of Allegany county surrogate court, left the Belvidere Farms to be shared equally between her two daughters, Mary H. Clark and Anne E. Clark Hoster, subject to a life lease by her husband, S. Hoxie Clark. Other property real and personal was willed direct to the daughters. The estate was valued at $10,000 personal and $10,000 real estate.

The Belvidere Farms, which constituted most of the real property, consists of 1,500 acres of choice farm lands along the Genesee river, originally settled by Philip Church after purchase in 1801 and on which stands a quite famous residence over 100 years old, said to have once housed as a guest Marquis de Lafayette, the celebrated Frenchman, who was a friend to the colonists during the Revolutionary war.

Houghton College Makes Unique Scholarship Offer

In connection with the financial campaign which is to be launched in the immediate future, Houghton College has announced a unique and attractive scholarship plan which will be of interest to the citizens of Allegany and the surrounding counties.

The conditions of this offer are briefly as follows:

Houghton college agrees to set up half of the funds subscribed and paid upon this campaign by the citizens of any community as a scholarship fund for the immediate benefit of the high school graduates of that community. Any citizen has a right to designate what high school will profit by this offer, but it is generally expected that the majority will designate the high school in their own community.

Under this plan the president of Houghton College and the principal and board of education of the local high school may elect for a college course any high school graduate of the Class of 1935 or succeeding years.

The scholarship is based on the actual tuition cost, and may be extended for the entire four years of the college curriculum. It covers one-half of the actual tuition of $160 yearly. It benefits any candidate selected, the basis of selection being scholarship, character and need. It is available at any time during the five years of 1935-1938 inclusive.

During the recent times of financial stress the college has been beset by inquiring young men and women unable to pay their tuition expense. Remembering that a large majority of men of outstanding success come from families financially circumstanced, the college is hoping to benefit these would-be students in each of the supporting communities, the amount of the benefit depending, of course, upon the volume of support received in each community.
