Plumb Hammers-Hatchets

The beauty of the new Plumb Hammer is an outstanding feature. The claws have a slight roll on the back so that the split is the highest point. This enables the user to grip a closely driven nail. The beveled edges grip the smallest brad, and will pull a headless nail. In the new Plumb Hammer, a wide chamber around the face guards against chipping in case a glancing blow strikes near the edge. Balance in a tool depends upon the proper distribution of weight. In the new Plumb Hammer, every ounce of weight in head and handle is scientifically distributed. It rises easily, falls true, feels comfortable in the hand. Those are the tests of hammer balance. Because only seasoned, tough young hickory, individually tested is used for Plumb Handles, the neck can be made slimmer, giving more spring to absorb striking shocks, and take the sting out of the blows. The grip has been tapered; it fits the hand; eliminates cramped muscles, and the end of the handle has been flared to serve as a backstop.

Plumb Hatchets are drop forged from one solid piece of Plumb special analysis steel. Fine in grain, harder, tougher, this steel takes a hard keen edge. No Plumb Hatchet is made with a soft steel body and a cutting edge of hard steel welded on. You can grind and grind a Plumb Hatchet and still have hard cutting steel on the edge. "Hang" in a Hatchet has to do with the relation of blade to handle, as well as the proportions of the head and

Our usual election day storm was with us again Tuesday. The floods in Scio and Grove towns cost $15,000 each one to repair the damages done.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders of Scio have rented the house on West Greenwood street owned by Mrs. John Joyce. Mrs. Anna Wood delivered a new 1934 Ford two-door sedan from the Wood garage Tuesday to Richard Watson in Hornell.

The McDivitt oil lease of 120 acres in Bolivar township has been purchased by O. D. Underwood of Olean and C. J. Swan of Buffalo.

The Allegheny County Medical Society held an interesting meeting October 11th at Belmont. Dr. Oscar J. Oberkercher of Buffalo was the speaker.

Frank Stryker of Middaugh Hill recently killed a horned owl measuring 54 inches across the wings. The owl was feasting on one of Stryker's prize chickens when shot.

Eighty towns in New York State voted Tuesday on the question of licensing the sale of alcoholic beverages. Belmont represented Allegheny county and voted wet by a large majority.

The Rebekah divisional conference of Allegheny, Steuben and Livingston counties will be held at the I. O. O. F. hall Thursday, Nov. 14. Bertha Persons, vice president of the Rebekah Assembly, will conduct the meeting.

A reception in honor of Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Cory, newly installed pastor and wife of the Andover M. E. church was attended by a company of 80 in the church parlors Friday evening. A program and refreshments were enjoyed.

Hallowe'en passed off quietly in Andover. True, the streets were filled with many youngsters in costumes and some of mature age, but it was a jolly crowd and the News is proud to state that no reports of any damage to property or rude pranks have come to our notice.

Attorney C. L. Earley and John E. Cannon presided at a mass meeting held in the Andover Auditorium Sunday afternoon. The gathering consisted of representatives of silk mill workers and Andover citizens to debate the prospects for re-opening of the Andover Mills, which is a matter of deep interest to all Andover citizens.

The following prizes were awarded at the card party at Blessed Sacrament club house, last Wednesday evening: Contract bridge, Miss Emma Folsing and Mrs. Ray McGill; auction bridge, Grace Fisher and Mrs. Earl Dawson; five hundred, Mrs. Bartley Joyce and Mrs. Anthony Dougherty; euchre, George Joyce and Mrs. Ella Dougherty; pedro, Grace Howland, Cecelia Gavin; seven-up, Harry Lynton and John Burns; forty-five, John Wahl and Michael Gavin; five hundred rummy, Mrs. Edward McAndrew and Mrs. Wm. Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Lewis entertained the Young Women's Friendship Class and their husbands Tuesday evening at their home in East Valley. A short program of general singing and a reading, Riley's "Old Sweetheart of Mine," by Rev. E. J. Cory, who responded to an encore. Mrs. Cory gave two of Edgar Guest's poems. There were songs by Mr. and Mrs. John Croyle and Mrs. Ralph Burgett and Mrs. E. J. Cory. Games were played and refreshments were served. A fine time was reported by everyone. At the prayer meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Youmans Friday, Nov. 1st, there were 40 in attendance, thirty from Wellsville, and ten from Andover. In the 18 months that ended June 20, 1935, 51,200 persons met death in motor crashes in this country. More than 1,300,000 were injured. This is worth thinking about the next time you take the wheel of a car.

Mrs. LeRoy Brundage was hostess for a card party held at her home on Maple street Wednesday evening. She was assisted by Miss Julia Flynn Bridge, five hundred and euchre were played. Mrs. Bartley Joyce won high in bridge; Mrs. Avery Mead in five hundred and Mrs. John Quigg in euchre.

Miss Winifred Wentworth was given a surprise visit Monday evening by relatives who passed an enjoyable evening in honor of her birthday. Refreshments were served and many fine gifts presented Miss Wentworth. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hammer and daughter, Joan; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mullikin and family of Hornell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullikin of Friendship, Mrs. Lillie Crane of Hornell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Updyke, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Taylor and Mrs. Wm. Pease of Andover.

Some little excitement was created by the discovery, by John Jennings, a Reading farmer, of an animal thought to be a species of the timber wolf. The animal was in the branches of a tree when shot by Mr. Jennings. The carcass measured 43 inches in length, weighed about 25 pounds and had a face like a fox with a long bushy tail. It was dark brown in color with tiger stripes around the body and stubby legs and feet like a dog. The mate has been sighted and is now being trailed by hunters in the vicinity.

Greenwood Man Sued For $25,000 Damages

Mr. and Mrs. Deimar L. Miller of Greenwood are plaintiffs in negligence actions brought in Supreme court against William L. Lippert, also of Greenwood, seeking $25,000 damages. Mrs. Miller claims Lippert as owner of an apartment building where they lived, was negligent in keeping the stairway in unsafe condition so that she fell on April 26, 1935 and fractured her left leg and knee.
