SPORTSMANSHIP

Sportsmanship is one thing that everyone should have whether one loses or wins a game in athletics, or in life

If one loses, it takes great courage to throw off the feeling of defeat and tell the other party that they won fairly. If one knows one played the best one could, but just didn't "get the breaks" the player will have a feeling that good sportsmanship was shown.

There are those who do not have sporting blood in them. When they are defeated they want to get revenge on the other party by telling that they did not play squarely when they were the ones who tried to cheat and were beaten by doing so.

DANCING

Oh, doesn't the rythm of the music make you feel like keeping time to the music. Next your feet start keeping time to the music and then all of a sudden you are dancing. Even marching, in a sense, is dancing, because you are keeping time to the music. There are two kinds of dancing, the common round and square dancing and the aesthetic dancing, Both kinds of dancing are an art in themselves. Maybe some of you don't know what is meant by gesthetic dancing. The dictionary says aesthetic pertains to beauty, is beautiful or artistic dancing. Dancing is as much an art as music or gainting. Aesthetic dancers' hands, feet and every part of their body must be under control. To do this takes practice, not one day or one week but years of hard practice, the same as singing or painting do. I do not think they are appreciated enough by the people who do not understand dancers because to what they have to takes work and plenty of it. When we see that kind of dancing we should try to appreciate it and not show our ignorance of the work and art involved.

A-H-S-ORIGINAL POEM

Following is an original poem ritten by Regina Anne Richarden of the Seventh Grade:

"Old Ironsides"

O'd bronsides was a faithful ship She bravely roved the sea, Alas, the captain on the deck No more his ship will see.

She'll disappear with a cannon roar She'll sink beneath the waves; Oh, what a death for a ship like this So faithful and so brave.

What's this, she's not going beneath the wave,
To such a sorry, sorry grave?
No, she'll ride the white capped

No, she'll ride the white capped burning wave Until they send her to her grave.

Oh! that is beiter much better in deed

For such a loyal battered steed. She'll ride an anchor till she dies; Watched by eager, shining eyes.

EIGHTH GRADE

LEARNS TO VOTE

Last Thursday the Eighth Grade accompanied by George Beebe and Mrs. L. Joyce voted by using one of the voting machines down town. Mr. Bloss showed each pupil how to vote and then allowed each pupil to vote on the machine. Afterwards, Mr. Bloss and Mr. Beebe answered questions concerning offices to be filed and duties of local officers.

ANDOVER LOSES TO CANISTEO 6-7

The Andover High School football team, making their one and only game under present regulations, dropped a hard-fought game to Canisteo on the latter's field Tuesday, by a seven to six score. The local team outplayed and outgained their more experienced opponents but poor tackling, caused by a lack of practice, led to Canisteo's victory, Andover's offense functioned well from the beginning but offside paralties and fumbles prevented a score. Canisteo tallied in the second quarter on a 60 yard end sweep by Hart. The extra point was converted on a line plunge.

At the opening of the second half Canisteo again went into Andover's territory aided by one long run and a couple penalties, but were held for downs on the 15 yard line. Andover downs on the 15 yard line. Andover downs on the 15 yard line. Andover look of drill and instruction not be entirely lost sight of in the modern psychological approach to education.

The various section meetings proved valuable for the teachers in that more informal discussion and onsideration of specific subject problems were possible.

Sportsmanship can be shown in anything one undertakes, by doing it with the thought that one is not rying to be unfair to anyone else. If a person thinks of being a sportsman at all times he will be able to get along with his fellowmen far better than he ever hoped.

Sportsmanship always pays!
