Baker's Hardware News

Enamelled Ware in a Variety of New Spring Color Combinations
Dashing, striking cooking utensils add so much beauty to the kitchen—and to the food which is cooked in them.
The new popular finishes of Enamelled ware are color combinations of red and white, and blue and white—each with a beautiful glossy finish which has an irresistible appeal to all women.
The most outstanding attraction of the new line is the convex shape of the kettles, sauce pots and sauce pans, possessing the new "non-boil" over feature, which adds materially to the appearance as well as to the utility of the enamelware. The wide shoulders and high rim allows the cover to set on the inside flange which prevents boiling over and also causes a partial seal thru the draining of the condensed steam from the top of the cover to the base of the deep seated cover. In this partial seal emanates the principle of waterless cooking or natural mineral retention of the foods being prepared. The handles on the pans are so constructed that they do not get hot—therefore are pleasant to use.
In selecting kitchen utensils of enamelled ware, great care should be exercised to keep color schemes as guiding influence—for kitchen ensembles are as much in vogue as is any other house furnishing line.—Matched sets add more cheer to the kitchen and make burdensome kitchen duties lighter and happier.

Come in and make your selection of this new enamelware while the stock is new and complete.—Prices range from 39c to $1.29 on various pieces.
