JUNE IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER!

And with it comes Regents! Ah—fateful month—month which takes away all joy of living in this warm weather!

Yes, we have the school windows open, but that only helps spring fever to get his hold on us. As the warm drowsy air from out-of-doors drifts toward our rooms, to chase out the winter airs, we find ourselves slowly drawn under a spell. This cannot be Salem witchcraft, for those days are far gone by. We come to the conclusion that we have caught spring fever and are having a very bad case of it.

The doctors (Principal G. E. Bretsch and faculty), prescribe the only medicine for the cure of this terrible disease—announcement of June tests and Regents.

My! What a change is brought about! We students suddenly get well, happy and strong. The spell and spring fever drifts on only to return next year.

JEAN MILLSPAUGH WINS ESSAY CONTEST

A ten dollar cash award for the best essay on the Constitution, in a local contest sponsored in each school by the New York Times, was awarded last week to Jean Mills- paugh. Her essay, "The Constitu- tion, a Living Document," will be entered in the State contest.

Each member of the A. H. S. American history class submitted an essay. The essays were judged by a committee consisting of Miss Cecelia O'Connell, Miss Mary L. Day and Miss Louise Meyers, head of the history department in Wellsville High School.

DR. NORWOOD WILL BE COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Doctor J. Nelson Norwood, president of Alfred University, has been secured to deliver the Commence- ment address on Wednesday evening, June 23rd.

Doctor Norwood has always taken a genuine interest in all of the schools surrounding Alfred. He is in constant demand as a public speaker, and the people of Andover are indeed fortunate to be able to hear him at the 1937 graduation exercises.

FUTURE HEADLINERS

There will be headlines in the papers—

When Gerald Dolan doesn't invent things to annoy the teachers;

When every Algebra student does his daily homework well;

When the drinking fountain isn't the most popular place on hot days;

When excellent co-operation is obtained in A. H. S.;

When the students can put up the windows and feel free;

When Veronica and Catherine Lynch don't give Gerald Wahl the rushing act;

When Miss Day doesn't give such long exhibit assignments;

When the boys don't think that sitting on a thumb tack is humorous;

When boys cannot find anything new with which to annoy girls and teachers;

When A. H. S. students stop wishing for a "Scandal" column in the Hi Herald.

A. H. S. WINS FIRST GAME AT EXPENSE OF CANASERAGA

Behind the very effective pitching of Charles Burgett, Andover High School marked up their first victory of the season, defeating Canaseraga 14-11. Andover hit freely to account for an early lead, but were closely pushed, due to numerous errors. Burgett was very effective, holding the losers to a lonely single for six consecutive innings, but found himself in trouble issuing numerous walks and timely errors which accounted for many of the Canaseraga team's tallies.

Andover went into defensive formation in the last half of the seventh to protect a nine run lead 14-5 but walks, timely hits and errors gave the losers an exciting rally which made the final score read 14-11. The summary:

LIBRARY NEWS

The articles on the bulletin board in the library this week contain information about the opening of the David A. Howe library at Wellsville, May 13-14-15.

A map of world articles is also there on which is pictured the countries of France, Spain, British Isles, Italy and Greece, and the principal literature writers for each country.

The article which would appeal to the movie fans in "A Forgotten King Lives Again in Hollywood." The article was reference to the book, "The Prince and the Pauper," by Mark Twain, which is being transformed into a movie by the same name. It portrays the life of King Edward VI. The Mauck twins play the role of Tom Canty and the Prince.

Then, too, the display shelf contains numerous books on the development and discovery of science. Some books pertaining to the preceding are "The Stars," "A Study of Steel," and "Alternating Currents," and there are others.

PENCIL MOVES

Thursday noon, Mr. Host displayed to the Juniors some very neatly and carefully done work from one of the grades. This particular work was writing.

As one climbs the stairs of the grades, one tends to get more in a hurry and often teachers have to give low grades for good work unreadable because of penmanship.

The class was asked from which grade this work might have come. Various answers were given, but none openly disclosed the correct grade. The honor of this bit of clear, easily-readable writing goes to the second grade, which is taught by Miss Dickinson.

American dance records are losing their popularity in Germany to records of the classics. Germans are buying more folk song records, too.

HOUGHTON MUSIC FESTIVAL, MAY 20-22

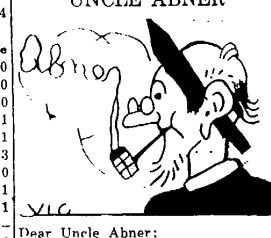

Andover High School will again be represented at the fifth annual Genesee Country Music Festival, which will be held at Houghton, N. Y., May 20-21-22.

On Thursday, May 20th, the Andover High School orchestra will journey to Houghton to participate in the festival, presenting an individual program in the morning, and joining with the massed orchestra group in the afternoon, under the leadership of J. Leo Lynch, director of instrumental music in the city of Binghamton.

On the following day the girls' chorus and a newly organized mixed chorus will present public programs at Houghton, and in the afternoon will participate in the massed chorus under the direction of Dr. Williamson, director of Westminster Choir, Princeton, N. J.

One of the outstanding highlights of the festival will be the band day on Saturday, May 22nd, at which time school bands from surrounding schools will be heard. In the afternoon a massed band concert will be given, directed by Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman, nationally known band leader.

UNCLE ABNER

Dear Uncle Abner:
I am a clothing salesman by trade. However my business doesn't seem to "suit" me. I don't like to do so much traveling because it wears out so many pairs of socks and shoes. My car receives so much "bulleting" and "underwear" that I have to invest in a new one every year.

What I want is a job that keeps me in one place, yet doesn't "tie" me down. I "shirt"ly can't keep this up much longer. I'm going to "slipper", something terrible is going to happen.

At present business is terrible. Scarfs and collars are choking out everything. Shoes are pinching while hats and spats are nearly bottomless. Garters are still slipping.

Please tell me what I had better do.

Yours "Con" Solidate.

Dear "Con":

According to the kind of job you are looking for, the best thing I can recommend you is flag pole sitting. That will keep you in one place but it certainly won't "tie" you down. Now don't go way up in the air just because of this. I know it's pretty tough on the pants, but it's not so hard on the shoes and socks (unless you happen to slide off the pole). If you do go in for flagpole sitting, be sure to wear lots of clothes, because if you step out for a moment you're going to think the bottom has dropped right out of prices. In a short time you'll feel all covered up.

I don't see why business should be so bad. It seems as if suspenders and arm bands ought to keep things up. There will always be a demand for trousers.

Why don't you throw down the "glove" and look the world straight under the hat brim?

Yours truly,
UNCLE ABNER.

HUMOR

Miss O'Connell, in history A class: "What was the significance of the 'Arabian Nights' (knights)."

Bud Dolan: "They were tall, dark and handsome."

Miss Killigrew: "Give two English derivatives from vindicare." (Pronounced win-de-care.)

Jack McDonough: "Windy."

Mr. McGee: "What are two forms of Federal tax income?"

Clyde Briggs: "Pay and No Pay."

Mr. McGee: "Go down to the eighth grade and have them tell you."

Ernest Burdick: "Dad, can you sign your name with your eyes closed?"

Mr. Burdick: "Why yes, son."

Ernest: "Then close your eyes and sign my report card."

Uncle: "Charles, if I gave you ten pennies, what would you do?"

Charles: "I would count them."

EXERPTS FROM EXHIBITION WEEK CHATTER

English III. Class Found Sitting on Corpse.

On the corpse of Colonel Pynchley today, in the Freshman home-room, lo and behold!—the English III. students, acting as jurors, sat on the corpse.

But wait! There will be more than one corpse before the exhibition is over!

Amid the hurry and the scurry of making a chart and exercises for the exhibit, Thelma Callaghan, mistaking a piece of literature for a map of Africa, finally became aware of the fact that she had colored the literature and written the map!

Heard in the Hall—

"What! No gray paper? How about yellow? Oh, maybe blue would be best."

"This paste doesn't stick worth a dime."

"Boy, won't we be glad when this exhibit work is over and done?"

Just a Wee Bit of the Pessimistic

This exhibition work is certainly grating on the nerves. In physical education the other day, Delores Farwell jumped three feet, nine inches into the air! But it's all right, folks, it was all part of the game—they were high jumping! We'll all be flying, teachers included, after the conclusion of five weeks tests this week. But will some of us ever land with a bang!!!—Maybe it will be never to rise again—Wee is me!

A total of 275,000 Canadian families, representing 1,500,000 men, depend on wheat growing for a living, the Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture, estimates.

Members of a Russian group at Madison, Wis., are reputed to avoid passing salt to a guest at the table under the superstition that death would overtake that guest on the way home.
