Bible School Lesson By REV. CHARLES E. DUNN

The Remaking of Jacob Lesson for May 30. Genesis 28:16-22

What a cunning, crafty schemer Jacob was! He insisted that Esau, his hungry brother, should promise the surrender of his birthright in exchange for a bite of food. Then he stole the blessing meant for Esau. Finally, he outwitted his uncle Laban.

Golden Texts Romans 12:2

What was the result of all this; deception? Grievous sorrow and loss. Jacob paid dearly for his wily manipulations. He had to flee from home and loved ones, and never, ac "far as we know, met his mother! again. He lived as an exile in an! alien land where trouble crossed h path more than once.

But there is an attractive side to Jacob's character. Thru all his! scheming he could hear the voice of God calling him to better impulses. This is made clear in our lesson, +' memorable story of Bethel, enshrined forever in the beloved hymn, "Nearer, My God. to Thee." What! dòes it teach? First, the grace of gratitude. Jacob was so grateful for his inspiring dream of the angels that he not only consecrated the stone upon which he had slept, but also promised to give to the Lord! a portion of his goods. In the sec-
