Duban Awnings—
 For Windows, Porches and Stores!
 Duban Awnings are made of a heavy weight cotton duck striped with brilliant oil colors. They are fitted with strong rings along the top fastened to a reinforcing rope in the hem and attached to the building with hooks. Head-rods can be furnished if desired at small extra cost. Duban Awnings come equipped with first grade cotton ropes, pulleys, galvanized round iron jointed frames and furnished complete ready to hang.
 The Duban Shade Corporation also offers Spearhead Awnings for terraces and porches. They are especially nice for roofless porches or for outdoor lawn sitting rooms, adjoining the home. The iron frame work of this particular type of awning is attached to the building and the awning is lashed or tied to the framework. This type awning cannot be raised or lowered but the canvas part can be removed easily if so desired.
 We have just received the new 1937 sample books of Duban Awnings and Porch Shades, and never before have we seen such good buys in Awnings, all in the latest styles, brilliant color combinations, large variety of patterns and wide range of sizes and all at current popular prices.

Advertising the State "That Has Everything"

Albany.—New York State again has issued its official invitation to the world to come and enjoy "The State That Has Everything."
 Simultaneously with the launching of a wide-spread advertising campaign in 145 newspapers and 16 national magazines, the Empire State, thru the Bureau of State Publicity, Conservation Department, Albany, has begun distribution of a new free vacation guide to thousands of prospective 1937 summer visitors.
 This year's guide, prepared under the supervision of Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborne and Allan Reagan, director of the Bureau, is in two parts. The principal booklet is a beautifully illustrated 32-page "magazine" generally descriptive of New York State's attractions for the vacationist and tourist and containing Governor Herbert H. Lehman's message of welcome "on behalf of all the people of the state." This is supplemented by a compact 64-page volume of "Vacation Facts About New York State," chock full of all the specific data likely to be needed by the prospective visitor. Farmers Asked to Use Flushing Bars on Mowers

An appeal to farmers and land owners who will do any mowing or harvesting to place flushing bars on these machines to help wild life was sounded today by Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborne. These so-called flushing bars are used for the purpose of preventing the destruction of such ground nesting birds as pheasants and quail and rabbits.
 "The use of flushing bars on the farm and other pieces of land to be mowed is increasing," said the commissioner, "and this helps to conserve some species of wild life, but we are constantly receiving reports indicating that nests and broods have been destroyed by mowing or harvesting machines. We are convinced that the mortality among pheasants, quail and rabbits from this cause is very high.
 "From time to time we have issued appeals to farmers and others to help save these birds and animals by placing flushing bars on these machines. The response has been gratifying. Farm groups and 4-H Clubs have co-operated with us in our campaign.
 "We again appeal for this lift for wildlife. If any person wishes prints showing two different types of these bars or any information concerning them we shall gladly furnish it."

State 4-H Dairy Teams to Win Columbus Trips and $2,300 in Scholarships

For the first time in 4-H Club work a dairy demonstration team from each state will have its way paid to the National Dairy Show, which this year is to be held in Columbus, Ohio, October 9-16. The trips are for the teams winning on demonstrations in breeding, growing, feeding, fitting and judging of dairy cattle and the proper handling of milk and cream on the farm.
 The contest is open to all dairy club members and conducted from start to finish by extension leaders. It provides for county elimination contests, the winning teams to compete for state honors. Each member of the winning county team receives a special gold medal and the members of the runner-up team receive sterling silver medals. The demonstrations are to be conducted for the benefit of the public as well as 4-H'ers.
 At Columbus the state teams will compete first to determine sectional winners. Each member of the winning sectional team will receive a $250 college scholarship. The four sectional victors will then compete for national honors and each of the two members of the highest rating team will receive an additional $150 scholarship, making $2,300 in scholarships, which are provided with all other prizes by the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation of Chicago as an aid to the 4-H dairy program.
