LITTLE BITS OF HUMOR

"Is old Angus a typical Scotsman?" "Is he? He's saved all his toys for his second childhood!" A woman interested in prison reform, upon visiting a large penitentiary and being allowed to speak to a prisoner asked: "Don't any of your friends ever come to visit you here?" "No," replied the big rough-neck. "Der all here wit' me." Two men were getting ready for a dip in a swimming pool. "Your shins are in pretty bad shape," remarked one. "Hockey player?" "Oh, no," was the reply, "I just led back my wife's weak suit." Mistress (reading new maid's references): "Six places in a year?" Maid: "Yes, ma'am. The days of the good mistress are over." Friend: "You will soon forget her and be happy again." Jilted Suitor: "Oh, no, I won't. I've bought too much for her on the installment system."

Auto Race With Reverse English Won by Ford V-8

An automobile race with reverse English, but not in reverse gear, recently amused crowds that attended a municipal festival at Havana, Cuba. The winning car, a Ford V-8 took almost an hour to cover approximately a third of a mile. The object in this competition was to see how slowly the cars should cover the specified course without stalling engines, for which the penalty was disqualification. Only three other cars, two of which were Ford V-8 85's, finished the race. The Fords took first and second prizes, using 57 minutes and 12 seconds and 56 minutes and 12 seconds respectively, to travel over the 547 yard course. Early in the race, when the V-8's were only 55 yards from the starting line, several of the other cars had gone more than 100 yards. Superiority of the Fords was emphasized by the fact that a two full minutes separated the Ford taking first prize and the competing car that finished third.
