WASTINGS from "Wandering Willie"

RAY McGill's terriers must have been all hot and bothered to get that game over quick last Sunday. They didn't even wait for the Scio game to get here for the game, but loaded up and beat it over there. But the Scioans (can we call them that?) insisted that they really liked to play on the Andover diamond so the locals turned around and came home. Score 3-1, Scio. The ride evidently didn't do the boys much good.

THE LEGION boys, we believe, are out to show the citizenry a better time than they have had for several years. They're trying out an entirely new way of doing things which we think will go to make a better celebration than ever and which will be of more interest to John Q. Public. There must be something for folks to watch outside of the midway, even if it's only a greased pole or, or, well anything. But they're chucked full of ideas, with new ones coming up every minute, and we're looking forward to a high old time with something doing every minute of the evening.

IF ANYONE who had not heard about the Erie excursion had gone by the depot about train time the other morning they would have thought that some one had an accident or the place was burning up. There must have been 45 or 50 scattered around, some going and others saying goo-by.

TOOT! Toot! And a couple more toots, then two green lights fading into the distance, then (gloom) — Too bad, Johnny, but those Erie trains, like time and tide, wait for no man! And it's 40 miles from Olean home.

SUPER CHANNELDRAIN ROOFING

Made of extra heavy pure zinc coated Cop-R-Loy is the "New Deal" in roofing. This roofing is made of sheets of Cop-R-Loy covered uniformly with an extra heavy coating of pure new zinc. The sheets are scientifically formed so that roof drainage is no longer a problem—they are made to last because they are better metal with heavier galvanizing and therefore offer new economy that comes from many extra years of service.

Channel drain is expressly made for roofs of one-fourth pitch or more—it is fireproof and lightning proof. The new center ridge in the sheet not only enhances the appearance but makes a flatter and more rigid sheet. The easily fitted overlapping edge of the sheet and the deep drain channel formed in the underlapping edge which when nailed in position forms the most practical known barrier to leak by capillary attraction, syphoning or even by force. This feature of lapping the sheets means no waste of metal because each sheet 24 inches wide has a covering width of 24 inches.

Wheeling Super Channel Drain Roofing is easy to put on—no expensive labor, special tools or wood sticks are required. Hands with hammers and lead headed nails can make a perfect super Channel Drain roof that will be admired by neighbors far and near, and one of which you yourself will be very proud. No effort or expense has been spared to make this new roofing serviceable, durable and economical for the building owner. Channel drain offers the best in roofing protection—"When It Rains, It Drains"—and we recommend it to you as a product of superior quality.

We also stock Barrett Asphalt Roofing, Roof Cement and Roof Paint—all of which pay large returns in material, comfort and money.
