Homespun Yarn

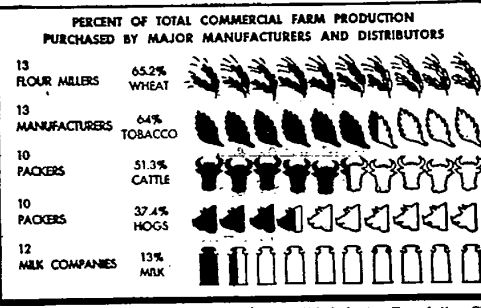

Cotton needs less moisture than rayon to iron well.

As a safety measure in the use of electrical equipment, frequently look for breaks on all cords attached to appliances.

In pressing materials, a general rule to follow is: the heavier the material, the more steam and the hotter the iron needed.

Do not allow children to overtax weakened foot muscles during convalescence from any disease, urge child health authorities.

WHO BUYS FARM PRODUCTS?

A recent study of agricultural commerce by the Federal Trade Commission revealed many interesting facts relating to the handling of many leading farm products.

While figures for big income-producing farm products indicate that large marketing concerns buy more than 50 per cent of the U. S. production, total milk purchased by a dozen large dairy firms is only about 10 per cent of the country's annual 47 billion quart crop.

Contrary to the usual impression, purchases of farm products are probably less concentrated than the average patron would expect.

Top-selling meat packing companies sold only the equivalent of 70.2 per cent of the total 35.1 per cent of the fresh pork and 64 per cent of the cured and processed pork production in the case of veal; however, purchases of these concerns totaled 85.5 per cent, the federal figures showed. Two of the largest packing companies' beef sales were but 47 per cent of the total.

Purchases of 10 leading packers for a year equalled 81.3 per cent of the total production of cattle and calves, and 37.4 per cent of the hogs. The three largest companies purchased 40.8 per cent of the beef and 25.3 per cent of the hogs.

Thirteen millers bought only 65.2 per cent of the commercial wheat flour crop, while 12 tobacco manufacturers bought the equivalent of 64 per cent of the nation's tobacco crop, selling 97 per cent of the cigarettes and 50 per cent of the smoking tobacco.

With milk the so-called big companies are but a minor factor as 12 major concerns purchased only about 10 per cent of the total milk production in 1934 and about 18 per cent of the commercial milk. Eleven leading companies marketed 83 per cent of the fluid milk and cream sold in cities and villages and about 25 per cent of the butter.

LITTLE BITS OF HUMOR

Daughter: "Do you object to George because he stays so late?"
Father: "Oh, it isn't that so much but I suppose I would like him better if he wouldn't take the morning paper when he goes."

Attention, Please
Teacher: "Charles, what are you doing there? Do you think you are learning something?"
Charles: "Oh, no, ma'am, I'm just listening to you."

Worth the Wait
Taxi Driver: "I'll have a job finding the other six cents of change."
Scotchman: "Ah, weel, the night's young."

Bright Boy
Teacher to Pupil: "Spell the word 'Straight'."
Pupil: "S-T-R-A-I-G-H-T."
Teacher: "Correct; what does it mean?"
Pupil: "Without ginger ale."

Dog Biscuit Also
The owner of the fruit stall was trying hard to make a sale. "We have some very nice alligator pears this morning," he remarked to a customer.
"How silly," laughed the very young housewife. "Why, we don't even keep a goldfish, mister."

"Rather unsettled today, sir," said the waiter, angling for a tip.
"Yes," replied the customer, "and I don't think there is any champagne coming either."

Teacher: "What are relatives?"
Smart boy: "They're people who stay at your house overnight while they're on a trip."
