WASTINGS
 from
"Wandering Willie"

WHEN the little dog belonging to Burton Thayer was killed Monday on Main street it set more than one person to thinking. That dog had much more of a chance to get out of the way than one of our kindergarten or lower grade children, but he just wasn't quick enough.

Every truck hauling gravel and sand thru Andover has been gaining speed for the past summer and evidently know they can get away with it—and with a six or eight ton truck, loaded or empty, it is impossible to stop quick enough if that had been a child that was mangled by the truck's wheels.

It would seem to us that if the local authorities can't do anything about these trucks roaring thru Main street at anywhere from 25 to 40 miles per, the State police should be called upon to sort of help 'em out.

AND while we're yelping about trucks, isn't there a village ordinance pertaining to the parking of vehicles on our streets or isn't there? Every time one drives down the street they have to almost throw their neck out of joint trying to see around a moving van, beer truck or produce truck that will park any old way just so it is the easiest to unload their wares. And if a couple of cars come together the truck that is really responsible for the crack-up can merrily roll away and the two contestants can patch things up between themselves. If these big buggies were made to park the way they should Main street would automatically be widened by about seven feet.

IF YOU see "Bus" Childs, ask him about that little black dog He'll be glad to explain.

The Family Meals!

Do you dread their preparation? Does it tax your energy to think up dishes that will inspire the family appetite? Has the job lost its zest? If so, you may be trying to get along with tools that are out of harmony with the job.

May we suggest that you put new life into the family workshop with several pieces of 1937 vogue Enamel Ware, which is new in shape and the ivory-white color combination, topped off with shiny chromium covers not only adds taste to the food but also taste to the appearance of your kitchen.

You will like everything about it—the colors—the shapes and the variety of prices. This line of cooking Enamelware is an outstanding example of dependable quality at economy prices, ranging from 25c to $1.19.

Come in and look it over—we are confident of your approval.

Lunch Kits

Good and sturdy, built of metal, with a pint Thermos Bottle that are just the thing for the school lunch, and may be obtained from a variety of colors. Price $1.35.

Boss (to Pat): "So you want to leave the shop. Are the wages insufficient?"

Pat: "The wages are all right, sir, but I'm afraid I'm doin' a horse out of a job."

Lamp Bulbs

A bargain lamp is almost never a bargain, because it wastes current and grows dimmer and dimmer as you use it. Remember, the true cost of light is the price of the bulb plus the cost of the current it consumes.

General Electric Mazda Lamps, the kind that stay brighter longer, now cost only 15c up to and including 60 watt. Look your lamps over and replace bulbs where they are needed. Good lighting is essential if you are not to misuse your eyes, and General Electric Mazda Lamps assure you of high standard lighting efficiency at relatively low cost.

Wasted Heat

How often when sitting in some room in the house, you feel a cool draft. Often this is caused by a broken window.

Our stock of glass is complete and it is better to keep that heat in and save fuel by keeping all the places filled with whole lights of glass than trying to heat with the windows full of broken lights.

Stove Time

Better look over that old stove pipe and determine whether it is safe for the winter. Many of our fires are caused by defective pipes or chimneys. Don't take chances of burning up your home when a few joints of pipe or elbows may prevent it.
