South Hill

(Mrs. Margaret Dean, Reporter)

Oct. 19.—We hoped for a succession of the two recent fine fall days, but the same brand of gloom again prevails.

Parties from Wellsville, Bolivar, Olean and Bradford visited the Hill last week, in quest of potatoes for home consumption.

Mrs. Howard Dean and Tony Dougherty represented South Hill at last week's card party in Blessed Sacrament Hall, Andover.

Mrs. Harold Barney, son and daughter Howard and Violet of Independence and Miss Gertrude Schoonover spent Sunday in Avon and Hammondsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Clark have purchased a new 1937 Dodge coupe.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dean and children were Sunday guests at the Dan-ther home in Wellsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schoonover and master Gerald spent Sunday at Woodhull with Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Schoonover.

The Messings Home and Improvement Co., of Rochester, are redecorating Newton Clark's home this week.

Dougherty Bros. of Bolivar were callers at the Dougherty home recently.

Mrs. Anna Benjamin motored to Canisteo Tuesday, her sister Mrs. Cora Finch returning home with her to spend a few days.

Frank Holmes and his truck are now missed from our highway, as his work on the Hill has terminated, after 28 years service on the Atwood oil lease. Glenn Schoonover remains as pumper for the new company.

It is quite disappointing to our potato growers, now that the crop is nearly harvested, that the market is near stagnation. Is it not a big gamble each year, with the farmers on the losing end?

The flooding program of the McEbenwood Oil Co. is quite interesting as it takes form. Forty one wells to be drilled on four lots this winter if weather permits, 25 of which will be water wells, but drilled to the oil sand. The volume of water will be used in flooding the oil sands, by the power installed in a large pressure plant, to work continuously. Three strings of tools at work and eight wells now drilling, the first oil well just finished on the Gus Lynch lot.

HOW, WHAT AND WHY?

Special to the Andover News

Self-Help Clothing

Mrs. V. S. writes: "Somewhere recently I came across a reference to 'self-help' clothing for children. Can you tell me something about self-help garments and where I can get directions for making them?"

Ruth Scott of the State College of Home Economics replies: "We find that if clothing can be designed to open in front so that a child can see and get at the fastenings he enjoys dressing and undressing himself and becomes independent at an earlier age.

"Wide elastic in the tops of little boys' trousers and little girls' panties is easier to manage than buttons and buttonholes which can not be reached. Care must be taken, however, that the elastic is not tight or it will interfere with the child's well-being and general comfort. Elastic webbing is satisfactory, it is soft and durable and need not be as tight as the narrow elastic to hold the garment in place.

"Dresses and suits without collars, with the necks finished with a facing or binding, are easy to care for and are more comfortable for active youngsters.

"A copy of Cornell bulletin E-328, 'Clothing for Children,' has information on self-help clothing. This bulletin is sent free on request from the Publication Office, Roberts Hall, Ithaca, N. Y. The Bureau of Home Economics at Washington, D. C., also has several bulletins on the same subject, for which you may write."

Removing Cows

L. F. inquires about the time that cows should be removed from pasture.

Professor G. H. Serviss of the agronomy department says: "Pastures should be allowed to go into the winter with at least two or three inches of cover.

"This means that cows should be removed about the middle of October where the grass has been grazed closely. It will do no harm, however, to leave them slightly longer on pasture that has not been grazed so closely. Too-late or too-close grazing in the fall is more injurious than at any other time of year, as the pasture is left bare and injury from winter heaving may be serious."

Try to select kitchen utensils that can be used in several ways, suggests Cornell bulletin E-357 on buying cooking utensils. This bulletin is sent free to New York State residents from the Office of Publication, Roberts Hall, Ithaca, N. Y.

Niagara Hudson System Advertising Wins Top Honors in U. S. and Canada

Niagara Hudson System advertising, appearing regularly in this newspaper, was recently judged the outstanding utility advertising in the United States and Canada, by Public Utilities Ad-Views, a magazine issued to review all utility advertising.

This yearly advertising contest was started more than ten years ago. It is an authoritative guide of the best public utility advertising and merchandising in the country. The staff of Ad-Views reviews the daily newspapers of every metropolitan center, as well as several hundred smaller cities. The system used for scoring points for outstanding utility advertising is based upon the ideas utilized in the advertising, the layout and illustrative technique, and the general effect on the advertiser's relations with the public.

In commenting on the award, company officials said: "We consider our advertising a means of helping our customers get the best possible value out of the electric service we supply. It is our way of keeping the public informed of the latest developments in electric appliances. Naturally, therefore, we are highly gratified to know that advertising experts consider our work a good job."

Actual scoring in this year's contest showed Niagara Hudson System advertising winning 55 points, with the nearest competitor 29 points.

Christian People Unite To Solve Common Problems

Thirty-five persons were registered for the one-day conference on adult Christian Education held at the Congregational church in Wellsville, Monday, October 18th. Fourteen churches were represented from six denominations. This is evidence of the desire of Christian people to unite in attempts to solve common problems.

Rev. Clair Malcomson of Cuba led one of the worship periods in the place of Rev. Robert Pursley, who was ill with a cold. Wayne Rood, a student in the Department of Theology of Alfred University, and Miss Leta Crandall of Little Genesee sang solos at the evening prayer service.

The group voted appreciation for the use of the church building and to the pastor, Rev. M. H. Sangree, to Dr. Young and Rev. R. E. Lentz for the splendid addresses and discussion periods conducted.

County Women's Republican Club to Meet at Richburg Oct. 27th

The October meeting of the Allegany County Women's Republican Club will be held in the high school, Richburg, on Wednesday, Oct. 27th. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

This meeting promises to be especially interesting. The Hon. William MacKenzie of Belmont will be present to greet the club as our Assemblyman, and will speak briefly on present conditions.

Mrs. Belle W. Saltford of Poughkeepsie will give an address. Mrs. Saltford is widely known for her activities in the work of the Republican party, having been a member of New York State Republican Educational League for many years, and a member of the State Committee from Dutchess county, as well as prominent in the local political and civic affairs of her district. She is known for her work among the Girl Scouts and the Zonta International. At the present time Mrs. Saltford is candidate for Delegate-at-Large to the Constitutional Convention of 1938.

This is the final meeting of the 1937 season, and a large attendance is expected. Those desiring reservations should make them by Monday, if possible, with Mrs. J. Herbert Lester of Richburg.

LITTLE BITS OF HUMOR

No Recommendation
"What do you think of mud as a beautifier?"
"Well, it hasn't done much for the turtle."

The Hard Heart
Owner (to contractor): "Why, I was so scared when I saw that scaffold fall that my heart came right up in my mouth."
Contractor: "Hope you didn't chip any of your teeth on it."

Early to Rise
The Chief: "H'm, late again, Smith?"
Smith: "I'm sorry, sir, but last night my wife presented me with a boy."

Chief: "She'd have done better to have presented you with an alarm clock."
Smith: "I rather fancy she has, sir."

Ah, Yes
"Is Mr. Perkins at home?" inquired the caller.
"Which one, sir?—there are brothers living here," said the maid.

For a moment the caller looked puzzled, then he had an idea: "The one who has a sister living in St. Louis," he explained.

Always Polite
An angler, who had been trying to hook something for the last six hours, was sitting gloomily at his task, when a mother and her small son came along.

"Oh!" cried the youngster, "do let me see you catch a fish."
Addressing the angler, the mother said, severely: "Now, don't you catch a fish for him until he says 'Please!'"

Batavia Sheep Field Day is Successful

At Western New York recent sheep field day and ram sale at Batavia, 36 breeders from 15 different counties entered 102 purchased rams of 14 breeds, according to N. F. Smith, county agricultural agent of Livingston county.

Fifty-seven rams were sold, of which 27 were Shropshires, eight Hampshires, and five Southdowns. The average sale price was $27.18 with a low of $20 and a high of $35.
