WASTINGS
 from
"Wandering Willie"
 OH, for the life of a fire chief—that is when said fire chief gets in a jam! The story goes that Andover's chief was in a hurry—an awful hurry to get to work and had just about time to gobble his supper and be on the job at 6. It was night onto 5:30 when he came down the street to hop into his chariot and lo— one flat tire. Undecided as to whether he should fix the blankety-blank tire and go without his supper or vice versa, he was in a quandary when another member of the fire department came along and offered to fix the flat while "Jack" consumed his groceries. Needless to say the offer was accepted. Then another fireman showed up and still another until the machine was practically surrounded with the smoke-eaters and the situation was well taken care of. That's co-operation!
 AND now again comes up that slightly-discussed subject of chlorine. Some of the local "hawg" killers are wondering what effect chlorine has on pig bristles. Several of the local butchers hied themselves to the pig pens during the past week with malicious intentions—had the chlorine-treated water all boiling, etc., but when they came to dunk the deceased porkers the bristles set tighter than, well, awful tight. And the fellows who used water from wells or the creeks had no difficulty whatever in removing the hair from their Thanksgiving dinners. Does chlorine get the blame or was the water just naturally not hot enough?

WITH colder weather here and the Andover Athletic Field still in the same place it was last year brings to mind the matter of a skating rink on that field this winter. There has been some whispering around the streets that this will be purely taken into consideration this year, but we would like to hear some shouting on the subject.

"Pick a Star" Coming To the Andover Theatre
 Oliver Hardy had to have new clothes for "Pick a Star," the Hall Roach M.G.M. feature comedy coming to Andover Theatre next Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 27 and 28, in his scene with his famed partner, Stan Laurel. So Hardy was taken to a tailoring shop for a new wardrobe. To everyone's amazement and amusement, eight-year-old "Spanky" McFarland arrived in the same shop for a new suit. The two comedians stood side by side as tailors draped material on them. Hardy's 303 pounds required 10 1/2 yards of material while 56 pound "Spanky" was satisfied with 2 1/2 yards.
 Laurel and Hardy appear in a hilarious sequence to lend authenticity to the Hollywood studio background of the activities of Patsy Kelly, Jack Haley, Rosina Lawrence and Mischa Auer in "Pick a Star." Patsy and Haley are Rosina's sister and sweetheart respectively who are trying to help her get an opportunity on the screen. Mischa Auer portrays an ultra-sophisticated ham actor who gets Rosina the chance. The picture introduces the title song "Pick a Star," Without Your Love," and others. A view of pictures being made is presented in the Laurel and Hardy sequence and in a lavish dancing spectacle.
