Special Manager's Week Features at Babcock Theatre

With special Friday and Saturday programs, manager's week will end this Saturday at Wellsville's Babcock theatre.

According to Deane H. Emley, assistant to C. L. "Holly" Hollister, manager of the Babcock, Mr. Hollister has secured one of the greatest stage and screen programs ever to be scheduled at the Babcock. Two comedy features are on the screen, Jane Withers in the "Arizona Wildcat" visits the wild, wild West, making it even wilder because of her visit; and "Up the River," a hilarious satire concerning the efforts of a prison to keep their football team's star on the team following his discharge. Leo Carillo adds to the laughs in the Withers feature, while an imposing array of laugh provokers merge talents in the co-feature, including Slim Summerville, Arthur Treacher, Bill Robinson and Allen Dinehart.

Friday night there will be a new stage attraction at the Babcock, while Saturday night, in addition to the regular Saturday night stage attraction, Earl Tingley, and his Corn Huskers Band will make a personal appearance. Specializing in rural as well as popular, the Cornhuskers have built up a large following furnishing the music at many of the dances in Allegany and surrounding counties.

This Month On the Farm

FEBRUARY

FEBRUARY IS MONTH OF REAL PLANNING FOR THE NEW YEAR

The outstanding event on the rural calendar this month is the annual Farm and Home Week at Cornell University. More than 500 events are slated for dairymen, poultrymen, fruit and vegetable growers, livestock men, rural youth, and homemakers. For a free program, write to the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y. Seed catalogs are pleasant to thumb thru when the weather is blustery outside. Get several of them for comparisons and suggestions. Planning a garden at this time of year is one of the easiest and surest indications that the garden will have a good start.

Crop rotation is of major importance in plant-disease control. Plan rotations now. The gardener should order his fungicides and insecticides when he orders garden seeds. In buying vegetable seeds, make sure of their source, for the health of cabbage, beans, peas, corn and tomatoes may depend on the seed source.

Thin-shelled eggs are common at this season. To help avoid this, supply minerals and vitamin D by feeding oyster shell and by doubling the amounts of cod-liver oil temporarily.

Beekeepers are urged to make needed repairs in the apiary and the honey-house, to purchase new supplies and prepare them, and to read up on beekeeping literature. When warm weather comes, they can then devote their time to the bees and be ready for the honey flow. Honey producers meet at Cornell, Feb. 14 to 16.

Now is the time to reflect on what the farm inventories and accounts have shown. Farming plans should be based on the story the farm figures tell for the past year. Plan the farm business and then farm the plan. Get a farm account book from your county agricultural agent.

Fires from brooder stoves destroy valuable farm buildings every year, especially in February and March. Check the equipment for fire risks and fire protection.

Inspect planting and cultivating tools to see if all are in good working order. Compare the cost and value of manure and superphosphate with other fertilizer.

Maple syrup producers are looking forward to the first "run." Buckets are being cleaned and mended, evaporators repaired, and sugar wood cut for next winter.

Farmers may consider whether it is good practice to leave their roadside signs up during the entire year. Many signs along the roadsides now call attention to "fresh fruits and vegetables for sale," and many farms still post a cattle-crossing sign when the cows are in the barn and the pasture is deep in snow. It's like crying "wolf, wolf," when there is no wolf.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Just a Few Sips and—Like a Flash—Relief!

Send a few cents today at any drug store for a bottle of BUCKLEY'S MILD-TURN (cough syrup)—by far the largest selling cough medicine in all of cold Canada. Take a couple doses at bedtime and enjoy a good night's rest. One little sip and the ordinary cough is "on its way." Continue for two or three days and you'll hear little more from that tough old hang-on cough that nothing seems to help—if not for fully satisfied—money back.

Senator Desmond Out After Drunken Drivers

Drunken drivers on highways of this community will be cuffed by the provisions of two to six highway safety bills introduced this week by Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Orange county. One bill requires immediate medical examination of any motorist arrested for drunken driving to determine whether he is drunk or sober. The other revokes permanently the license of anyone convicted of drunken driving.

"The drunken driver," Senator Desmond writes to the editor of this paper, "is the scourge of the highway. Bleary-eyed, his brain befuddled, he is a potential killer. To protect other motorists and pedestrians from him, my bills impose drastic penalties."

The four other bills of Senator Desmond:

(1) require applicants for driving licenses to pass physical examinations; (2) permanently revoke the license of any driver whose license is revoked twice in five years; (3) make it the duty of drivers to dim their headlights when approaching other vehicles; and (4) provide white guiding lines along the center and sides of state highways outside of cities.
