Hi Herald

Introduces Another

New Student

This week the Hi Herald reporter presents Carolyn Handley, formerly of Olean, as a new member of Andover Central School. She is a member of the post graduate class and is taking Latin, English IV, typing and home economics 6. During the summer vacation she went to the World's Fair. She says she likes Andover Central very much, especially the friendly attitude of the teachers and students. —B.T. —

Miss Grace Larkin

To Aid Hi Herald

Cubs

As the Hi Herald editor is anticipating a large number of new journalists, Miss Grace Larkin, English instructor, has kindly consented to give her help to struggling reporters. Miss Larkin had charge of the Allegany County Scholastic Press Association for the past school year. Under her able supervision, many old Hi Herald members can recall excellent A.C.S.P.A. meetings which they attended last year.

Miss Larkin and Miss Barrett, the adviser, urge any student who would like to try his luck at writing news articles to feel free to come to them for help. —ACS —

Hi Herald Meets

Friday

Members Bring Lunch

While eating their lunch, Hi Herald clubs with their adviser, gathered in the study hall in order to talk over the following week's assignments. It was found that more letters were needed for the Hi Herald adviser to answer. If more letters are not sent in, this interesting column will have to be closed.

The subject of "What Are the Qualifications for Those Who Wish to Become Members" was also brought up. Many interesting ways were thought of, and one of these will be chosen. It seems necessary to have some qualifications, as this year a small determined, sincerely interested group is wanted. —E.N. —

Sixty Students

Attend Social Hour

The second Social Hour was held Tuesday night in the gym, under the direction of Mr. Holmes. Sixty students attended.

Staff Officers Start

Membership Drive

The following announcement has been made in each high school home room, concerning the qualifications for Hi Herald membership. It is hoped that each would-be member will have a clearer idea of what is expected from him before he joins.

"Since the Hi Herald belongs to the Andover Central School, we want it to be the 'Vox Pop' of the school.

It is impossible for everyone in the school to become a member of the organization, but we would appreciate it very much if everyone would feel free to write an article occasionally.

The staff itself must be relatively small in number to make the greatest progress. Therefore the officials of the organization wish to set up a fair minimum of qualifications for actual membership in the actual club. Five weeks have been set up as a period of trial.

As a cub, your duties will be to volunteer articles, to write up promptly any assigned articles, volunteer new ideas to the officers, Betty Greene, Bernadine Briggs and Miss Barrett the adviser.

Meetings will be held on Friday noons and all cubs should be present to discuss their problems. Miss Barrett and Miss Larkin will assist any cubs in news writing. Also, the editor suggests the following committee to extend aid to them: Regina Richardson, Betty Jo Ludden, Eleanor Northrup, Anna Hardy and Letha Callaghan. There will be a paper posted in each homeroom for those who desire to join.

- To become a member, the pupils will:
- 1 Sign the paper posted in the homeroom.
 - 2 Read newspapers and journalistic books from the library.
 - 3 Hand in assignments on time.
 - 4 Volunteer new ideas.
 - 5 Come to meetings every week.
 - 6 Get help from advisers or suggested committee.
 - 7 Have the ability to co-operate.
 - 8 Show interest in staff.
 - 9 Look over material before handing it in.

If you fail to gain admission this semester, you may still write and gain admission later in the year." —B.G. —

Gettin' Around -

"What's in a name?" quoth Shakespeare. Betty Greene believes there's quite a bit. She named the two new kittens Lolly Gay and Lilly Hag. Oh, Betty!

Miss Barrett started a collection Wednesday. Four fountain pens were found in Room A by different students and deposited on her desk. Owners please come around.

Who said Latin was a dead language? There were seven students in the Latin I class three years ago; then 15; and now there are exactly 23. Go in' up!

Leave it to the Seniors to outdo the rest of the classes. It took them 25 minutes to decide who should rule them. They elected three presidents before they finally found one.

I'm sure we're all anxious to be at Roland's extra-colossal Junior Prom. That's the spirit!

By the way, Leo Nobles was not asked to stand up in assembly as president of the P.G.'s. So here's his congratulations now.

Mr. McGee exempts his mathematics students from Mr. Bretsch's notebook assignment idea. Altho it is a good idea, it is not necessary for these subjects.

I wonder if it is safe for Mr. May to go up on the athletic field with the girls when they play softball? He runs a chance of being mobbed if his decisions do not suit the fair damsels.

You would be surprised if you knew how many have forgotten the songs which they learned in the grades. Listen at the next assembly and see.

At last there is a football team. It is only touch football, but the boys are playing with the hopes that there may even be a six man football team before they graduate from A. C. S.

Louis Fulkerson spends most of his time after school fixing tires on that thingamajig. (undecided whether it is a jalopy or a truck) that he and some of his friends ride around in.

Betty Greene is on the way up. She has advanced from a sax player in the orchestra to president of the newly formed band. —ACS —

Letters to Hi Herald Adviser

I'm really not doing so well in getting acquainted. I suppose it's all a matter of looking at it in the right way. I presume that the first step is to walk into the study hall with a broad grin (I never could affect one) and a cheery "Hello" for everyone. The people are liable to think you're forcing yourself upon them.

On the other hand, you could go to the other extreme—let people come to you. Somehow this seems to establish in everyone's mind the idea that you are "stuck up," snobbish and superior.

Perhaps I should choose an "in-between course," try to be cheerful and stick to my lessons.

Please tell me your idea on getting acquainted in a strange school.

Yours, C. B. A.

Dear C. B. A.: In regard to your attitude on getting acquainted in the strange school. Being "stuck-up" will get you nowhere fast. It makes the students think you feel superior to them and they will decide to leave you to yourself and associate with some one who is friendly.

Being too friendly will make you seem conspicuous and bold. This, too, will cause the other students to shun you.

The "in-between" attitude is about the best, I believe. Take care of your lessons while in school but participate in social activities throughout the year. This will, in time, create a friendly attitude on the part of your fellow classmates and you will be gradually accepted as one of the "gang."

I hope my information will be of help to you in solving your problem.

Your Hi Herald Adviser. V.C. —ACS —

Famous Sayings

It seems that recently our teachers and students of Andover Central School have adopted some pet sayings. Some of these follow:

- Gosh all Friday!—Mary V. Howdy, Gowdy—Patricia T. Qu i et Please—Ken G. A-a (meaning yes)—Lena V. You don't say so?—Roland S. Can you prove it?—Geometry student.

Any who?—Leo N. All right—Stan R. Oh Poodle—Jessie B. Jeepers!—Anna H. Fish hooks—Regina R. So what?—Billy D. S'wat I say—Betty Jo L. Do tell!—Irene L.

It's not necessary—Mr. Giffin. Now did they?—Mr. Lynch. —E.C. —

Students Urged to

Use One Notebook

In assembly Friday, Principal G. E. Bretsch urged that students use one notebook with dividers for keeping assignments. The purpose of this is so students can have the assignments down for themselves and won't be wasting time finding out what they are. They are also useful for reviewing.

He suggests that students use notebook paper instead of tablet paper for assignments in order that the prepared lessons may be kept with assignments for reference.

A good quality notebook should be purchased so that it may be used for more than one year. —E.P. —

Library Council Is Selected

Eighteen girls have volunteered to do library service and are members of the library council. Nine of the girls are doing desk duty in the library. The eight class periods of the day, before and after school, are in charge of the bulletin board each week. The other members of the group are doing various projects in helping to rearrange the library for better organization and service. Several out of date books have been removed from the shelves and have been, or will be, replaced by more recent books. —ACS —

Editor Invites

Criticism On Editorials

To arouse a greater spirit of democracy and to indirectly make our paper more successful, it is a suggestion that the pupils write to the editor and tell the points which they liked or disliked about the editorial of the previous week.

Perhaps there was something about the editorial that didn't exactly suit the reader or maybe an especially good point was brought up. The editor also extends the invitation to ex-members and ex-teachers who are in other schools.

Become Cub

Reporters

Altho they only joined the Hi Herald last Friday, Elaine Pope and Marilyn Hardy have turned in some excellent reports to the Hi Herald. They have showed a fine spirit of co-operation by voluntarily writing these articles. These were the only two Freshmen who have volunteered an assignment to date. The editor hopes to see more of this co-operation not only from the Freshman Class but from all the classes. —B.G. —

Report For Intermurals

Orchestra and Band Rehearse In Old Gym

All students are participating in intermurals because of the co-operation of the faculty and the members of the intermurals council. Due to the fact that intermurals will be held in the gym when the weather does not permit them to be held outdoors the orchestra and band practice will be held in the old gym. —B.B. —

Guess Who?

I was walking down the hall the other day and stopped in front of the Sophomore Class. I glanced around and who should I see but a girl talking and laughing with lines, while at the same time trying to finish a geometry problem. Later in the afternoon, I saw her singing also in the mixed chorus. She has blue eyes, brown hair and I have heard she has recently returned from the hospital. Can you tell me who this person is?

Last week's Guess Who was Richard Clair. —M.R. —

Presidents Speak

In Assembly Friday

The executive officials of the Junior and Senior high classes were announced by Principal Bretsch in assembly last Friday morning, after the students filed in to the strains of the school orchestra and had "pledged their allegiance to the flag" under the leadership of Harold Rice, Senior.

Speeches were given by Leslie Brundage, Senior; Roland Shaff, Junior; Stanley Ruger, Sophomore and Francis Schrlau, Freshman.

These four boys had recently been selected to head their classes. The Eighth grade presented a novel idea of having a city form of government of which Norma Crowner is the mayor. The Seventh grade president is Wesley Lehman.

As a part of the assembly, ideas on "notebooks" and social conduct were given by Principal Bretsch. The assembly was closed with the high school song and a number by the orchestra. —M.D. —

Two Brave Men

"Bring me a plate of hash," said the diner.

The waiter walked over to the kitchen elevator. "Gent wants to take a chance," he called down the speaking tube.

"I'll have some hash, too," said a second customer.

The waiter picked up the tube again. "Another sport," he yelled.
