AS the Bible quotes "let there be light" etc., so saideth the city papas one day during the past summer—and there was light. But lo and behold when the light was turned on the village multitudes and the city papas were awe-stricken. For verily there was not sufficient light to take care of both sides of the street when the sun did set. So once again the city papas said "let there be light" and the village workers congregated on the opposite side of the street where light upon light was erected, and again the lights were turned on. "Behold!" cried all the people upon walking down Main street Monday eve. "This canst be our Main street, we have wandered into some strange and foreign land," but upon glancing around at the brilliantly-lighted street they could clearly observe that a miracle had come to pass and that the Main street of Andover was lit like it had never been before.

P.S.—All joking aside, Andover's Main street is now one of the best illuminated in Allegany county and the Village Board of Trustees should be given a big hand for this fine piece of work.

THE "city" boys took an awful beating at the hands of the farmers in this section during the deer season. We haven't been quite able to define just what a "city" feller is, (we always kinda figured it was a resident of any of the big towns) but according to the farm folks a city feller was anyone they didn't know. Anyhow they were plainly told to stay off that thar posted property—or else.

We know of several of the big game boys who have hunted deer since they were able to tote a gun, and can vouch that they would do more good and less harm on any man's property than some of the younger local boys, but just because they traveled a couple of hundred miles they were treated like something the cat dragged in. The farm boys in the Adirondack region are much more hospitable.

IT WOULD not surprise us in the least to hear that "Flip" Farwell, local tonsorial artist de luxe had bagged him a whopping big buck. The afore-mentioned "Flip" went out this year to hunt rabbits for the first time in his life and believe it or not was the direct cause of the demise of one bunny. Hunters in general vary in their opinion as to how F. M. happened to hit the little fuzzy-wuzzy, but Smitty claims that it was due to the fact that the rabbit got its combat maneuvers mixed up and walked smack into Flip's bar-rage.

WITH the Andover Grove project now a reality, the "Chicken Hollow" boys can set back and watch their former eye-sore turn into something beautiful by next summer. We haven't heard much about Chicken Hollow of late so have taken it for granted that it is still there, tucked away at the outer edge of the village where men are men.
