GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

Andover Students

If you were present at the game between Wellsville and Andover lest. Tuesday morning A. C. S. students have helped but notice the large sign that brought itself to your view no matter where you might have been seated. This card was titled in large is bold letters "Good Sportsmanship." A sign with such a high meaning. A sign with such a high meaning should be set apart from everything else. It should be honored and obeyed.

And the state of the state o else. It should be honored and show, as the applause indicated. It is a shame, but I fear that this particular sign was neglected on the night of the Andover-Wellsville sign; but few really recognized the significance that lay in it.

It is very well to have some standards to live up to, but why have them when you neglect them? Even symmasium. The main purpose of this many have been just the first this party is to have a good social time that this had happened, I don't time playing ping-pong, basketball,

And the second day of May, 1922, 2 was made by the club president. William Flint. The One-Way Word of May, 1922, 2 was named, was worked like the regular crossword puzzle, as it was named, was worked like the regular cr ing Senior High School. Second, "no" because they have proven themselves incapable of proper adult conduct at Social Hour. They were given the opportunity of coming, dancing and sharing equal honors with Senior Hi pupils, but they abused that opportunity most decidedly. There are always just a certain few who have to be clever.

I've often heard the comment—"They shouldn't come because we couldn't even think of it when we couldn't even think of it when we were eighth graders." I disagree with that attitude. Times have changed. I wager those people have told their parents that upon several instances themselves.

Seneral pupils were greatly interested in the clipping on the study hail bulletin board, which listed move hits of 1939. The following list was published: "Cagecoach," "Ninotchka," "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Love who have to be clever.

THE HI HERALD Student Council Sponsors Musical Program

The Junior and Senior Student Staff Elected by Student Body body assembled in the auditorium Friday morning for a new type of assembly program under the direc-tion of Louis Fulkerson, Student Council president.

After the Pledge of Allegiance led by John Dean, a number of pop-ular and college songs were heartily sung, namely "Over the Rainbow," "Cornell Alma Mater," and "Oh, Johnny," under the direction of Mr.

Giffin.

The middle portion of the program was delegated to the sixth graders who sang a number of songs in the form of quartets, duets, and solos which proved very entertaining. After the students sang "Lord Jeffrey Amherst," and "South of the Border," the assembly was concluded by the singing of the Andover high school song. —A.L.H.

We think it should be considered that for at least the last two or three years the Junior high school pupils have been allowed to attend Social Hour, altho some did not take advantage of the opportunity.

Next year some of us will be in high school and naturally we wish to be able to dance well so as to attend the school dances.

I think that it can easily be said that even if the Andover Central School has no "Good Sportsmanship" in sign, that they truly showed some wonderful sportsmanship at the game Friday night.

It seems to me that they proved to Wellsville that it doesn't pay to get so excited over a game that you forget yourself and your conduct.
