Upon entering A. C. S.'s hall last Monday morning I instantly heard these remarks by students who, having enjoyed their grand Easter vacation suddenly began to seriously think about school routine again: "Oh, I forgot to bring my library book, and it's due today."
"I wonder if we had an assignment in bookkeeping?"
"Did you finish reading the essays?"
"Boy, did I ever study for test."
"It's only a week before the five week tests, then ten more weeks before finals."
"Did you remember to bring your sewing material?"

These are only a beginning to what I heard. If the students had had an assignment note book, the majority of these questions would have been needless. —M.J.M.

TO LOOK AT THE CALENDAR, hear now and then a robin, or see boys and girls bunking marbles and roller skating would suggest the possibilities of spring's arrival; but, to feel the icy wind nipping one's ears and nose, and the sight of snow lying about, no has his doubt?
Still, there's nothing like hoping for the best, and winter and spring have to change places sooner or later, so, cheer up, you down-hearted, low-spirited ones, warm weather is "just around the corner." —A.I.H.

EIGHTH GRADERS CONTROL THEMSELVES
A Freshman being interested in the homeroom organization plan, which is being studied, in Social Science Class, interviewed the present mayor of the eighth grade organization about certain details of it. This organization is headed under the initials W. C. O., which means "We Control Ourselves." Every five weeks new officers are elected, chosen if they have no red marks during that period. Once a week a meeting is held and after each meeting a court held bringing charges against certain pupils who haven't co-operated with others as running in the halls or slamming locker doors. Then a punishment is in hand for this person as for running in the halls he must walk the total length of the hall five times. The mayor, mayor pro-tem, city clerk and city chamberlain are the most important officers. The mayors for the past 25 weeks have been Irma Crowner, Kenneth Cook, Charles Hall, Paul Kilbane and Doris Sick. According to the present mayor, Doris Sick, this organization proves to help the pupils, the meetings being interesting and also fun in the trials. The students have a record book which is called the "city charter," where rules, punishments and minutes are kept. —DAB

SUPPORT YOUR BAND
The Andover High School band has been invited to participate in a music festival at Bolivar on April 12th.
Bands from Allegany and Cattaraugus county will participate. The festival will last all day with different bands playing all of the time.
This is the first year that Andover has had a band and the students should support it rather than look upon it as a farce. The band has shown great improvement and if the plans work out it will make its first public appearance later this spring. —S.C.R.

Band Is to Go to Bolivar

Andover Central School band is expected to go to Bolivar next Friday, April 12, and is expected to do very well for a first year band, although the band will have lots of competition. The band will play only three songs, "A March World of Music," by Guy Earl Holmes, the second selection will be "Waltz" by Paul Yoder; the third and last selection will be "Funeral of a Pet" by Peter Ilyitch Tschakowsky. They will try to play these as well as possible. —C.G.

Winners of Dairymen's League Contest Announced

Recently winners of the Dairymen's League essay contest were chosen by the local sponsor in Andover. Of the six seniors taking part in the contest, the following won prizes:
Vivian Conner, first prize of $2.; Letha Callaghan, second prize of $1.50; Barbara Temple, third prize of $1.00 and William Flint, fourth prize of 50c.
Vivian Conner's and Letha Callaghan's essays were sent to the District chairman to be judged for the county contest and Vivian, as winner of local first prize, has been asked to write a biographical sketch to be sent to the Dairymen's League. —L.C.

Senior Play Business Committee Is Very Successful

The ticket or business management of the Senior play, "The Black Derby," is turning out to be a success thru the efforts of Chairman Veronica Lynch and those who are working with her. Jessie Burger, Anna Goodrides, Aline Reisman, William Flint, Lawrence Dean and Louis Dodge.
The seniors are planning to give a party for students in high school who sell 15 tickets or more. —B1

MUSICAL BARS

The orchestra has been complimented on its splendid work at the banquet.
We wish you lots of luck in the orchestra, Norma. Norma and her clarinet just entered the orchestra. For one of the songs at the banquet, it was announced that we would sing No. 2 on the menu, which was—Roast Beef and Brown Gravy.
The band will go to Bolivar next week. They are to be judged by the White House band leader. Bon voyage.
Why aren't the busses equipped with radios? I bet there would be a lot more order if they did have them—Maybe.
Now that the band has its new march music, they are quite liable to be seen on the warm days marching around the block.
MUSIC QUIZZ —Aline Reisman
What impression do you get from the singers on the radio who sing (try to) notes that are above the bars?—I don't like it and I get the impression that their throat is sore.
Have you ever sung to yourself and been proud of the result?—No.
What is your favorite lullaby?—"Indian Lullaby."
Has anyone ever told you what the first song was that you learned?—Yes, it was "Bobby Shaftoe."
Do you like to go to parties where some person who is very fond of their voice serenades everyone else?—No.
What do you think of the idea of having radios in cars?—I like the idea.
What is your popular song?—"Wind and Rain in Your Hair."
Can you think of a song that was popular for a while and then disappeared suddenly?—"Star Dust." —ACS

Guess Who?

Oh "Chick" is a rather stout fellow on the tuba he sure can blow.
He likes all the girls.
And they like his curls—
And his voice is really quite mellow.
Of the Sophomores he's a member.
And when in gym trunks he's quite a limber.
He's a lad you should know
For he works at the show—
Now see if his name you remember!

Speaking Contest To Be Held

The sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils are planning for a speaking contest soon. The three best speakers from each room will speak in the auditorium and prizes will be awarded to the best speakers from this group. The prizes are: First, $1.00; second, 50c and third honorable mention. —OG

Mr. Bretsch Assists In Play Rehearsal

Before the Senior play rehearsal Tuesday night, Mr. Bretsch talked to the cast and impressed upon them three facts: to put more expression into their actions, and reactions; to act their parts as if they were real; to learn all their parts to perfection and memorize all the cues.
During the rehearsal Mr. Bretsch and Miss Larkin made several interpretations to make suggestions for improving the play. There was general improvement in the acting when the second act was run thru a second time.
The play is to be presented next Tuesday night and the play is being prepared for a super-production on the big night. There will also be a matinee Monday afternoon for the grade children.
Skits of some of the important scenes will be presented Friday in assembly. —V. Oakes

Vacation Personals

Miss Wood spent her entire Easter vacation snowed in at her home. Mr. McGee and Mr. Lynch spent most of their vacation in Andover. I understand that Andover was well represented at the Thursday afternoon matinee of "Gone With the Wind," after vacation started.
Many Andover students spent their vacation in rehearsing for and presenting the minstrel show sponsored by the Odd Fellows last week. Jean Northrup informs us that she did nothing during her vacation. We'll have to get her recipe. My mother manages to keep me busy during my vacation.
Ardean Matison passed one night in Hornell.
Aline Reisman enjoyed her vacation in Buffalo. She reports that spring was in Buffalo all last week. Either Andover missed that week of spring or else the spring just missed Andover.
Veronica Lynch spent the past week-end in Buffalo and came back with news of an orchestra available for the Senior Ball on May 24th. It is an orchestra popular among the night clubs of Buffalo. Sounds pretty classy and the Seniors hope it proves to be just that.
The Seniors in the class play had a real vacation from play rehearsals as well as school.
We didn't have to come near the school for a week and a half but Mr. Traster had to do his school work just the same. The windows certainly do glisten since they are free from their winter dirt. Thanks to the janitor we can enjoy gazing out of the windows much more now.
Bill Dugan reports that he worked three days and slept the rest of the time. I doubt if he was the only one who caught up on his sleep.
Miss Larkin and a girl friend spent a few days in Albany. They saw "Seventeen" and "Pinnocchio." They did some shopping in Albany and visited in Hillsdale where Miss Larkin had once taught. They had an attack of spring fever and called for potato salad in a restaurant but were told that it was too early in the season for potato salad. They enjoyed their trip even though they had to return in the rain and fog.
Barbara Temple informs me that she did everything during her vacation. One thing was hiking.
Kalipoy Karcanes and Nancy Jane Snyder spent their vacation afternoons doing a bit of investigating. I guess it must have been important.
Anna Hardy bided her time in staying around home and roller skating.
Mr. Maloy was snowed in at his home most of the time also.
Ernest Burdick spent most of his time helping Montrose Greene at his home on Greenwood Hill.
V. Conner spent a few days in Wellsville and saw "Gone With the Wind" while there. —V. Conner

Gettin' Around -

Didja know there are only 742,367 ways of fixing eggs? According to a distinguished French chef. That's all!
Andover is getting to be more skate-conscious. It's about time.
One store in Olean sold two tons of jelly beans in one day last week. Business is fair, eh?
Seems to me that the shy voice of Wee Bonnie Baker has a 50-50 popularity here. Personally I'm for it.
They say there is to be another Student Council dance soon. Why not make it a final bow to immortal Leap Year? After all, it is four long years before it rolls around again.
Some people are wondering whether it is worse to be snowed in or flooded out.
My mistake (as I was informed very directly) the P. G. boys won the boys' interclass games. So sorry.

BASE HITS

By Ryan
Due to the bad weather, this column for the first two weeks will go over the professional situation, mainly the National and American Leagues. This week I will cover the National League.
Last year's champion, the Cincinnati Reds are stronger this year by acquiring a few more pitchers and will be a hard team to beat. However there are two spots in the outfield that several of the Redlegs are fighting for. Harry Craft, Mike McCormick and Vince Dimaggio are fighting for left and center field jobs while Ival Goodman has right field clinched. The Reds have two veteran pitchers, Paul Derringer and Rucky Walters and also several youngsters to bolster the mound staff.
The runner-up for the National League flag, the St. Louis Cardinals, will be fighting hard for the pennant. The Cards have the strongest outfield in the league with Joe Medwick, Terry Moore and Enos Slaughter. Their infield has been bolstered up with Joe Oringo and Martin Marion, two rookies hoping to make the big time. The Cards are the best hitting club in the league. Their pitching staff is well rounded out with a few young pitchers and veterans like Lou Wanneke.

POET'S CORNER

"Thoughts In School"
It's dreadfully monotonous
When one is only seven,
To have to sit in school and learn
The table of eleven.
My teacher says it's useful
But I'd much rather know
What makes it rain and snow and where
The pussy-willows grow.
Today I heard a robin sing,
And Jackie found a flower
He says he saw a robin too
Last night after the shower.
We've got wee chickens at our house
They're nicer far than hens
Oh dear—she's looking right at me,
What are eleven tens?

Senior Play Poster Committee Busy

All you need to do is to look around to see the results of the efforts of the Senior play poster committee which has been busy ever since before Easter vacation, making posters with which to decorate the town. Richard Clair is the chairman and working with him are: Carol Walton, Barbara Temple, Betty Greene, Mary Lynch, Letha Callaghan and Vincent McAndrew.
Mrs. Van Oxx is their faculty adviser. —BT

P. G.'s WIN INTERCLASS LEAGUE

In the playoffs for the boys interclass league basketball team the Juniors, leading team in the interclass games, were eliminated by the Post Graduates and the Seniors eliminated the Faculty. In the final playoffs, the Seniors were defeated by the Post Graduates, who then became the champions of the league.
Following are the standings of all the teams in the league:

Won	Lost	Pct.
Juniors	4 1	.800
P. G.'s	3 2	.600
Seniors	2 3	.400
Faculty	2 3	.400
Freshmen	2 3	.400
Sophomores	1 4	.200

Girls' BASKETBALL SEASON OVER

The Intramural Council met Monday in the gymnasium to decide the schedule for girls' intramurals. The basketball season being over, the periods will be devoted to badminton, ping-pong, shuffleboard and paddle-tennis. The new schedule is going to be helpful to those who do not know how to play these games.

Skunks Aid In Movie Debut

Skunks were an aid in one of the many adventures in the life of Regina Richardson as she relates in autobiography for English III as part of the classwork and printed below:
"Altho I can't say that I remember my first moments on earth, my mother tells me that I came into the world on the 17th of January, 16 years ago, in Hornell, N. Y. I spent the first weeks of my life in the hospital, and then came to Andover where I've been living ever since. I don't remember many incidents in my younger days, perhaps for the reason that few things out of the ordinary happened to me.
Two important things happened to me when I was five. I started to school, and also made my movie debut. I remember being eager to start school, and yet afraid to go, so my mother went with me the first day. After that, of course, I became acquainted with my fellow beginners, and really enjoyed myself. My entrance into the movies was with a litter of baby skunks as co-stars. Naturally, they were still too young to take advantage of their "perfume" facilities, and we played happily together as Mr. Watson, our local natural scientist and photographer made a movie picture of us.
When I had attained the important age of six years, I made my first visit out of town, without my parents. I spent a week in Buffalo with my aunt and uncle. The visit must have turned out satisfactorily, for I do not remember it.
I remember very little about my next few years in school and home life. I was the first child of my parents, and two brothers came along later, to make my life complete. I passed uneventfully thru school until I came to the seventh and eighth

Curt Davis, Bob Weiland and Bill McGee.

This club looks as if they will capture the National League flag.
The Brooklyn Dodgers who finished in the third star last year will be a pennant contender. They have the best infield and pitching staff that they have had for many years. However, the Dodgers have a weak outfield. Most of the Dodgers are veterans and they have a good manager. Leo "Tip" Durocher and his boys have plenty of scrap and have a good chance.
The Chicago Cubs ended up last in the first division last year and haven't much of a chance to climb up any higher. The Cub's pitching is too weak to carry them thru to a pennant.
The Pittsburgh Pirates last year led the second division. This year they have Frankie Frisch as manager and Frankie has pepped them up already. The Pirates hope to break into the first division this year. They have to hustle when Frankie Frisch is managing or get kicked off the club. They have a few good players like Arky Vaughan, the Warner Brothers, Elbie Fletcher and Pep Young.
The failure and disappointment of last year was the showing the New York Giants made, when they finished a poor sixth. This spring the Giants are going good in spring training and are full of pep. Their ace pitcher, Carl Hubbell, has returned to his old form in spring training. They have a few good hitters such as Mel Ott, Harry Danning and Zeke Bonura.
The hard luck team of last year was the Boston Bees. They lost 59 games by one run. The Bees would leave too many men stranded on the base paths as they didn't have punch enough to bat them in. With a few more good breaks and better hitting the Bees will move up a notch or two this year.
The Philadelphia Phillies held down last place again last year and haven't much to look forward to this season. Most all of the Phill positions are weak this year. Kirby Higbee is the Phillies best pitcher. One thing, the Phillies can't finish any lower and can start from the bottom and work up.
Following is the way I pick them to end up at the finish of the National League race:

- 1 St. Louis Cardinals.
- 2 Cincinnati Reds.
- 3 Brooklyn Dodgers.
- 4 Pittsburgh Pirates
- 5 Chicago Cubs
- 6 New York Giants
- 7 Boston Bees
- 8 Philadelphia Phillies.
