JUNE EXAMS

Believe it or not, June exams are only eight weeks away. When one stops to think about it, that isn't so long to catch up on that "border-line" course. If those eight weeks pass by as swiftly as the others have, it will be no time at all before we're in the middle of exams, and then it's too late.

Most students loaf along in the first parts of the year, thinking "Well, I've got lots of time to catch up on that Latin," or "I'll study those theories later." Now that vague "later" is the present, and now is the time to catch up on those theories and Latin conjugations.

Now is the time to start seeing teachers for special help and coaching. Now is the time to start digging in, so that we can face Regents with easy confidence and clean hands.

ON SPRING FEVER

Spring fever expresses itself in various ways. Since I am in school during the spring my knowledge of spring fever is confined to student cases.

This disease seems to come upon those susceptible usually at the time when the birds begin to sing outside one's window each morning and when the buds and flowers can be seen. I would say that "Spring Fever Season" falls during the latter part of March, thru April and into early May. After that, naturally, it is no longer spring, but summer, and summer fevers cannot be included in this essay.

The symptoms are varied. Dreamy moods, consisting of poetry writing and gazing wistfully or dolefully out of the windows, are a well known part of spring fever. These moods are punctuated by yawns and stretches and often by short naps, when teachers are busy elsewhere. Loitering on the way to school is another decided symptom. This loitering is caused by detours into woody spots, or stops made to watch a robin, to ponder on the fresh greenness of flowers, grass and buds. This particular phase of spring fever is also marked when the sufferer takes deep breaths and is inspired to exercise on long walks.

There are a few preventives of this disease. First, pay particular attention to windows to see that they are kept tightly closed. A fresh spring breeze, or the springy smell of grass and earth will prove fatal to a student heretofore engaged in French composition or Latin prose.

Another cure that has been tried with varying success, is the wearing of dark glasses. The darkness of these glasses dulls the brightness of the sun and the greenness of the surrounding country; thus the spirits of the patient are dulled to some degree. However, in normal cases, it is best to let the spring fever-stricken student alone without interruptions of any sort for eight chances out of 12 a cure is impossible.

Anyway, who wants to cure anyone of spring fever, when everyone suffers proportionately?

The Mexican Fiesta on May 3rd, created by the Junior Prom officials promises to surpass all classes in the novelty of the decorations and theme. When decorative, imaginative heads got together at a primary meeting, ideas flew thick. Determined to have something to perpetuate the amazing conclusion of a peek at the merry life "South of the Border!"

Band Receives

High Rating at Festival

Friday morning, April 12 at approximately 9 a. m., 26 members of Andover Central School Band journeyed with their director, Earl Giffen, to Bolivar where they played at the Southwestern New York State Music Festival.

All bands that had been originated since June 1939 were grouped as Class D. There were five bands in this classification, and Andover received the second highest rating with only the Bolivar Junior band superior. Since our band was given a marking of 3-plus, which is between "excellent" and "good," it may be highly commended for its speedy progress and development.

The selections played were "Waltz", by Paul Yoder; "World of Music March", by G. E. Holmes, and "Funeral of a Pet", by Peter I. Tschalkowsky.

Senior Play Cast Feted at Childs'

Tuesday night the Senior play was given before a large audience which was very much appreciated by the Seniors. After the play Miss Larkin, director of the play, entertained the play cast and members of the faculty at Childs' restaurant.

Two Freshman boys, Warren Dolan and Paul Dunham, who sold the most tickets were also present. After a delightful evening all departed to their homes.

Freshman-Soph

Skating Party Huge Success

The Freshman and Sophomore skating party last Friday evening proved to be a fine outing for all who attended it. Maybe it shouldn't be said that it was a party of the two lower classes because more upper-classmen went than did Freshman and Sophomores.

There was not as large a crowd as usual because of the Junior prom but there was more room to skate and there were not so many people falling down.

—H. S. Operetta, April 26—

Frosh Wandering Party Is Success

Last Wednesday night the Freshmen held a party in the high school gym at which a large group was present. This party was somewhat like the Junior party, where one could play ping-pong, badminton, basketball, and dance and all the other available games and activities which the school offers. An organized game of basketball was played, girls vs. boys, using girls' rules. Since the boys were too fast the girls made only six points.

After the game refreshments were served consisting of punch, cookies and candy. Everyone seemed to have a good time including Miss Barrett and Mr. Lynch.

No Pre-Primary Class This Year

Because of the unusually crowded conditions in the present school building, it has been found impossible to hold the class for pre-primary children that has been held usually each spring.

Every available space in the old building has been pressed into service and no room would be available for the pre-primary group without dismissing some of the other primary grades earlier than is desirable.

Students Eagerly Await Saturday Evening

Second Sweater Swing Is Open to All

Townpeople as well as students have been eagerly awaiting the advent of another "Sweater Swing." The Student Council has listened attentively to these requests and is bringing this Saturday evening Doc Small and his Harlem Night Hawks who will furnish lively music for a lively time for students and all who like to dance.

Dancing will be from 8:30 to 11:30, and the price of admission is 75c per couple.

Senior Play Cast Has Pictures Taken

The members of the Senior play cast posed various times during practice. The cast first had their pictures taken by Ralph Shaff for the Evening Tribune Times. These turned out quite well so Richard Clair took some more pictures after the matinee Monday afternoon.

After the play Tuesday evening, Francis Mead took more pictures of the cast in costume.

After posing so many times for the camera, the play cast should be professionals at it as well as their acting.

"Black Derby" Was Financial Success

The Seniors presented to the public on April 9th one of the most successful plays ever presented in Andover. The Seniors appreciated the fact that so many came and enjoyed their production. The play was successful dramatically as well as financially. The receipts of "The Black Derby" amounted to $87.85.

"BASE HITS"

By Ryan

There is not enough local baseball news to devote this column to this week. However, many people are interested in the International League which I will review the prospect for the coming year. Next week the column will have the local and National news. The strength of these teams are hard to judge at the present because they may receive reinforcements from the majors to strengthen their club thru-out the season.

The Newark Bears who finished fourth last year are looking good so far this season. They should be the team to beat. The Bears have a good catcher in Tommy Padden and have fair pitching. They have a .300 hitting outfield with Buster Mills, Bud Metheng and Tommy Holmes. Their shortstops position is rather weak and several rookies are trying for the job. The Bears are a farm club of the Yanks and can get help from them if necessary.

The Jersey City Giants who won the league last year will be fighting hard for the flag. The Jersey Giants have the strongest outfield in the league. They have an airtight defense in the infield. The little Giants have just fair pitching and rather weak hitting. They can't expect much from their parent club, the New York Giants.

The Buffalo Bisons who finished third last year will probably be up in the same slot this year. The Bisons have a good manager in Steve O'Neil and are a scrapping outfit.

Carnegie, Mullin, Smith and Johnson will be fighting for outfield berths. They have a good pitching staff with Cook, Rogolaki, Ogiogo, Stromme and Geibell. Their catching is fair but second base and shortstop are weak. The Bisons are independent and have to buy their own material from other clubs.

The Syracuse Chiefs who after a dog fight last year were just squeezed out of the first division but will undoubtedly finish there this season. They have a good pitching staff headed by Blanton, former Pittsburgh Pirate ace, Jack Tsing, and Ted Kleinbens. Outfield lacks experience but may add needed punch to put the club in the first division. The Chiefs are weak at short and second but may receive help from the Pirates.

The Rochester Red Wings who finished second last year are weakened by several trades. However, if the St. Louis Cardinals send them some help they may finish in the first division. They have several veterans on the club and have a few promising rookies. Their pitching staff is none too strong this year. "Iron Man" Mike Ryba will carry most of the burden. Estel Crabtree is the only veteran in the outfield.

The Red Birds have poor catching and not enough sluggers. Billy Southworth is a good hand with young ball players and hopes to develop a few rookies to fill the weak spots.

The Montreal Royals are a much improved team this year. They got help from the Brooklyn Dodgers and expect more. The Royals have a new manager in Clyde Sukeforth. The Canadian boys have a veteran (Hi Herald Continued on Page 7)
