Two-Day Auto Racing Program at State Fair

As a concluding feature of the New York State Fair's elaborate centennial celebration, a two-day program of big car automobile racing will be offered for the first time in Syracuse auto race history.

As a supporting attraction to the annual 100-mile national championship event on Labor Day, State Fair officials have announced a program of sprint races, aggregating more than 100 miles of sanctioned 3-A competition.

The sprint races will officially open the two-day carnival of high speed Sunday, and will include four ten-mile events, a 30-mile featured final and the initial series of qualifying runs.

Both programs will get under way promptly at noon and will feature some of the country's best known dirt track and speed performers. More than 30 cars are expected to vie for starting positions in the competitive events.

New York Ships Poultry To West for First Time

Albany, Aug. 19.—A shipment of New York State poultry to the West is on its way, reversing the normal west-to-east trend for the first time.

When 150 barrels of dressed, fresh-killed roasters left the Capitol district by refrigerated truck bound for Omaha, Neb., a few days ago, it was the first westward movement of New York poultry ever made to the knowledge of the Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Consigned to a packing company in Omaha from the largest killing and dressing plant in the Northeast, at Troy, the shipment is intended for distribution from Omaha to the West Coast.

The Bureau of Markets is hopeful that Westerners will like their first taste of New York poultry so well that they will insist on repeat orders.

Tomato Once Known As "Love Apple"

The tomato, first found in tropical America by the early Spanish explorers in the 16th century, and known as a "love apple," was used chiefly as an ornament until the 19th century. It was not until about 20 years ago that its vitamin value was discovered.

Homemakers of today know their tomatoes, and the many appetizing ways they can be served, either cooked or raw.

They know that tomatoes are an important source of vitamin C, and that this vitamin is not lost in cooking. They know that tomatoes, like such sour fruits as lemons, grapefruit and oranges, leave an alkaline residue in the system and thus help to counteract over-acidity. In fact, one authority claims that the tomato has twice the anti-acid powers of oranges and lemons in offsetting the acid condition associated with colds and grippe.

DISH FOR THIS WEEK

Devised tomatoes is one delicious way to serve cooked tomatoes, according to the New York State College of Home Economics:

- Devised Tomatoes
- 6 tomatoes
- 1 cup of bread crumbs
- Salt and pepper
- Bits of bacon
- 1 cup of ground boiled ham
- 1 tablespoon of French mustard
- 6 slices of toast.

Remove a slice from the stem end of each tomato and then with a teaspoon remove the center of the tomato. Mix together the crumbs, tomato centers and bits of bacon, and salt and pepper the mixture to taste.

Fill the tomatoes with this mixture, place them in a shallow dish and bake until tender in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Spread the hot crisp slices of toast evenly with the ham and mustard mixed, and put them in the oven until hot. Serve the hot tomatoes on the hot slices of toast.

A suggested supper menu includes—Devised tomatoes, mixed green salad, whole wheat bread and butter, fresh fruit, milk for the children, and coffee, tea or milk for the adults.
