PROGRESS WITH THE PROGRESSIVES!

Progress with the Progressives is the cry of the high school! Progress with Ludden, Lynch and Ruger! Those cries are right, for these people represent the cream of Andover's crop in that they have the intelligence, ability, tolerance and foresight to properly govern you, the high school group of Andover, with these qualities. These leaders are and should be, the outstanding representatives of the greatest little school in New York.—So make your vote next Thursday Progressive—and you'll be right. E. Northrup

A WORTHY CAUSE

The Andover Central School's co-operative party this year is asking for at least one or two of the votes of every member of the high school student body to help elect her candidate, which beyond a doubt, are the best qualified to fill the offices for which they are running.

This year's platform covers many varied and social activities besides some new and useful ideas that could be used to improve our school in many ways. The platform includes such ideas as All-Student Assemblies, a Sport's Program which would include six-man football as a fall sport and more and better dances. Suggestions have been brought before the party that the letters awarded for different activities should have an emblem representing that activity so that there would be no confusion regarding the way the letters were earned. The Co-operatives are wholly in favor of this.

Our school is recognized by other schools in the county as a leader in journalism. Why not also in student leadership? There is no reason why Andover cannot obtain this goal and it is the ambition of each Co-operative candidate to do his utmost toward this end.

Another important ambition of the Co-operatives is to arrange for the opening of the cafeteria after basketball games so that refreshments could be served to those who want them. This could be done directly thru the Student Council or thru the Varsity A Club.

If elected, the Co-operatives will accept and further student suggestions for the welfare of our school and do all in their power to make our school something to admire and envy.

A slogan is a slogan—A. C. S. students are Co-operative! You can't progress unless you are Co-operative—so vote a Co-operative ticket.—V. Oakes

NINETY-SIX HOURS

Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday—and to think that I don't have to get up until noon on any of those days. I'll just sleep and sleep until I'm sick of sleeping (if that day will ever come). Let me see now—in the afternoon I can eat, visit my pals, and maybe sleep a little more. The nights are easy to take care of. There is a ride that can be taken, a show to be seen, a skating rink to skate in, and a party to go to. On the whole, tho, that doesn't seem like doing very much.

Perhaps you're one of the polar bear type and will indulge in a chilling swim followed by a bit of sunbath (if you can get it), and a brisk walk in Nature's own garden—the woods. This sounds like a good idea but I'm inclined to think that it will only last one day. The other three days can then be spent trying to get rid of the sweet cold, scratches and chapped skin that you acquired somehow or other.

Well, I'll solve the problem for you. I know of one mother that is going to start her fall house cleaning during teachers' conference. Of course if you or your mother hadn't thought of this possibility, I don't want you to blame me for the re-

High School Honor Rolls Announced

Fifteen high school students earned places on the honor rolls for the first marking period, which ended October 4.

First honors, which are awarded to pupils having averages of 90 per cent in at least three major subjects with none below 85, go to:

Mary E. Baker, Elaine Pope, Audrey Glover.

Second honors, which are awarded to pupils having averages of 85 in three major subjects, with none below 80. The second honor list is as follows:

Charles Hall, Doris Sick, Mary K. Cannon, Louise Freeland, Omallec Greene, Doris Mead, John Dean, Victor Oakes, Catherine Perry, Jean Rogers, Mary Mesler, Betty Jo Ludden.

Local Fire Chief Witnesses Fire Drill

The third fire drill of the school year was held Friday afternoon during the first period. Mr. Bretsch announced the fire drill over the public address system and gave criticisms and suggestions for improvement.

Special guests for the occasion were Fire Chief George Wereley, Second Assistant Chief Albert Rogers, and Oliver Kemp, President of the Andover Fire Department. The visiting committee gave high praise to the manner in which the drill was conducted.

Chief Wereley timed the exit of the 530 pupils at two minutes and ten seconds.

Twelve fire drills are required by law to be held each school year with the majority of them during the early fall months.

I Am An American

"God Bless America! I am an American," "Max these cries ring throughout the land of promise and opportunity forever!" was the fervent prayer of every pupil of Andover Central School after one of the greatest, most stirring speeches ever made, or ever will be made, in the halls of our school.

Mr. Ludvig Dale, head of Hornell Commercial School, spoke on the topic "Nazis Over Norway," but so pictured it in the minds of the pupils that it will never be forgotten.

Mr. Dale, formerly a Norwegian and still having relatives in Norway, pictured the terrors, the starvation, trials, death and misery so common in that subjugated land. He bade his audience do only two things (and these are at the request of a conquered but not vanquished race)—"Send Norway nothing. We would rather starve than live under German rule! Keep America the land of leadership it is, for we look to her for the signal of revolt silently brewing in the breasts of every Pole, Frenchman, Norwegian and Belgian."

Mr. Dale's closing sentence brought no immediate applause. Pupils were stunned and stirred beyond that point. It took them a few minutes to realize what this man had said. His speech was too powerful to rate immediate response, but the outburst that soon followed was sincere and wholly heart-warming. The assembly closed with "God Bless America" and after such a speech the words of the sang truly meant something to every person in the audience.

Radio Station ACS Broadcasting

Think of a real broadcast in our new school! Such a project has been undertaken by the English II class in their drama unit. To the strains of a piano, played by Miss Larkin, the play "A Night at an Inn" began. The announcing was done by Arthur Temple. He also made the sound effects which should qualify him for a job as sound effects man for WHAM. A few of the noises were somewhat puzzling, but he soon straightened that out in the minds of the audience, as to origin, anyway. The following boys took part: George Karcanes, Brice Kenyon, Miles Gorsuch, Clyde Shellman and Arthur Temple.

The broadcast seemed to be a success and students are looking forward to two more.

But, what if it may have. Well, anyway, have a good time whatever you do.

Five A. C. S. Delegates Attend A. C. S. P. A. Meeting

The Hi Herald business manager has the unique honor of being called upon by the Scholastic Press Association of Allegany county to act as president for the coming year. This election took place at the first meeting of the press association which was held in the new Alfred-Almond school last Tuesday night. Principal Bretsch of Andover was named a counselor for the officers.

Five delegates from the Hi Herald staff journeyed to the meeting in the station wagon, along with three faculty members, Miss Larkin, Miss Barrett and Principal Bretsch. Those students attending were Betty Jo Ludden, Anna Hardy, Regina Richardson, Ethel Crowner and Stanley Ruger.

Delegates returned to Andover with many new ideas for their Hi Herald which they gained from the meeting.

Co-operation for Hi Herald

How many of us boys and girls in high school know what co-operation means? It means working with your leaders and teachers to accomplish a certain goal.

In the Hi Herald the goal is a better paper and a worthwhile one. To obtain that goal the editors and adviser need the co-operation of each and every member.

At the meetings, the staff should co-operate by remaining quiet while the editors or the business manager are outlining the week's assignments.

After the meeting they need our co-operation in prompt writing and handing in of our assignments. They need our assignments written to the best of our ability.

Come on members of the staff, let's co-operate with our leaders for a worthwhile paper in the best way possible!

UP BEATS . . .

Chick Gath is going to put a drainage tube on his horn. He figures that this should save him the effort of blowing the water out of it.

The band, in spots, now plays so well that Mr. Quigley interrupted them to ask if they were playing the music correctly.

Come on, fellow band members, we must snap out of it if we expect to keep on doing the good work that we started out doing.

Marilyn announced the fact in chorus that she has to work down to a certain note before she can reach it. If, when the chorus sings for a concert, you hear one lone voice singing down a scale, you will know that Marilyn is just trying to reach her note.

We are proud to announce the fact that the band will play for the assembly next week.

Several people have been interested in the fact that Marilyn and Elaine are practicing for a duet. Would the said people like to tell their fans just what this duet is going to be for?

Flash! The music department has new stands. Come in and see them some day. They are quite the thing in style. We've never seen any quite so essential.

Somehow or other Vic Oakes found himself ten measures ahead of the rest of the orchestra. This really surprised him.

Vic also specializes in playing both the snare drum and the bass drum at the same time. You ought to see him do it.

Mr. Quigley says that he likes Marilyn's enthusiasm, but he doesn't want her to keep on dashing thru the pieces six measures ahead of the rest.

"God Bless America" has become very popular in both the grade music classes and band.

The Fourth Grade greatly enjoy the Hallowe'en song and especially the "Boo" at the end.

Professor, band, orchestra and chorus says—A worried look frequently crosses the usual bright countenances of the band members as "Chick" Gath frantically goes lower and lower (and still lower) in his sousaphone. It seems that since Mr. Quigley informed the group that sound vibrations could crumble a building, the band members have been keeping an eye on the nearest exit, just in case "Chick" becomes over-enthusiastic.

Seniors Postpone Card Party

Due to the fact that a number of other activities scheduled for Wednesday evening were taking place in various portions of Andover, the Senior class postponed their card party to a later date, that of next week Tuesday evening, Oct. 28 at 7:30 in the school cafeteria.

It is hoped that with this change of date more townspeople and students will find it convenient to attend the Seniors first card party. The admission will be 15 cents for students and 25 cents for adults. ALH

New Type Social Hour Held

Last Wednesday, Oct. 16, a new type of Social Hour was held which seemed very successful. The grade pupils who attended were required to get passes signed by Mr. McGee in order to allow only the ones who really tried to make Social Hour a dancing period.

There were more students dancing and more co-operation than ever before. This plan seemed successful and will be continued in the future, so don't forget, the grade pupils must get permission from Mr. McGee in order to come to Social Hour.

Shall We "Pass the Basket"?

"Where's the scirrers?" "Where's the paste?" So ran the conversation of the "Pass the Basket" Committee which met last Wednesday night. The committee consisted of Mary Mesler, chairman; Lucile Joyce Violet Barney and Jean Dunham.

"Pass the Basket" is the name of one of the activities begun recently to earn money for their treasury.

The rules regarding it are:

1. Accept what is in the basket.
2. Put what it is worth to you in the basket, which will be found in the basket.
3. Put something else in and pass the basket to some other person, preferably a Senior.
4. Do not keep the basket more than five days.
5. Add your name to the list.
6. All are included, boys, girls, bank and some others, too, in the basket.

Keep it moving!

Freshman Frolics

A group of girls had a "swell" time at Norma C.'s house last Saturday. The hamburg was good even tho it did fall on the ground once or twice.

Ruth L. is learning how to play football, with the help of her brothers.

Anne McD. and Paul K. had a nice bike ride Sunday.

Bebe D. caught a hot stone under her chin at Norma Crowner's party Saturday. But it was from the fire.

The French I class has learned that if the teacher doesn't appear they are supposed to go on with the class in an orderly way.

Ken. Cook was the first one to see the snook in French I. Do you always stare out the window Ken?

Blue and white! Everywhere we look there are Progressive signs.

Charles Hall is in a frenzy about developing pictures.

The Freshman Hallowe'en plans are just about finished. We hope it's a success. AM-RL

Is This What You Think?

1.—"Fools Rush In"—Freshmen at Social Hour.

2.—"I'll Never Smile Again," Brice Kenyon.

3.—"Two Sleepy People," Don Lynch and Chick Gath.

4.—"Oh, Johnny," Anna Hardy.

5.—"Aren't You Ashamed," Don Emery after falling on Brice.

6.—"Let Me Call You Sweetheart," Nancy S. to Stan.

7.—"Daisies Won't Tell," Louis Sherwood (thinks).

8.—"Bicycle Built for Two," Ann M. and Charles H.

9.—"In My Merry Oldsmobile" (Hudson), Mr. Lynch.

10.—"I've Got a Pocketful of Dreams," Mr. Quigley. EMC

Who Will It Be?

1.—Who will be the future Benny Goodman out of the Andover Central School orchestra?

2.—Who will be the first of the band members to be able to play the new music right?

3.—Who will be the first person to play their instrument when Mr. Quigley is talking?

4.—Will Elaine Pope or Chick Gath be the most accomplished player in the future?

ANDOVER LEADS FOOTBALL LEAGUE

The Andover football team is leading the football league with Arkport defeated Addison last Friday at Addison. There are only two games left in the league, Addison at Andover, Oct. 23 and Andover at Arkport, Nov. 1. Andover must win both of these games to win the pennant and must win one and tie one to tie for the lead.

The standings so far show that Andover is the strongest team in the league by their win over Arkport. Arkport and Addison have each won one, lost one and tied one game, while Andover has only lost one and won one.

ADDISON DEFEATS ANDOVER 6 TO 0

The Andover football team lost all chances of winning their league when Addison defeated them on the local field 6 to 0. This was Andover's second setback from the Addison boys and the second defeat in league competition.

Addison scored their touchdown in the second quarter on an intercepted pass from Shaft to Vars. The locals seemed strong on defense but very weak on offense. The locals threatened to score three times but each time failed to advance to the goal.

Andover has one more game at Arkport next Friday night and this will probably be one of the best games of the season. The lineup:

D. Lynch, qb C. Holt, rg
D. Emery, c A. Temple, lg
S. Ruger, lb J. Dean, qb
C. Greenan, hb R. Shaft, kb
W. Vars, fb
Subs: Lehman, Dolan and Oakes

Sophomore Class Leads Honor Roll

The Sophomore Class leads in the first honor roll this year.

Those on first honors are Mary E. Baker and Elaine Pope. Those on second are Louise Freeland, Doris Mead and Omallec Greene.

The Junior Class rates second with Audrey Glover on first honors while John Dean, Victor Oakes, Catherine A. Perry, and Jean Rogers are on the second honor roll.

The Freshman Class ranks third, having Charles Hall, Doris Sick and Mary Cannon on second honors.

The last, but not least, is the Senior Class which has Betty Jo Ludden and Mary Mesler on the second honor roll.

The honor roll was arranged in this way to designate the class having the most members on the honor roll for the first marking period of this year. MJM

CHIT CHAT

The Geometry marks are down so low that even Andover's brightest (?) students couldn't bring them up.

The A. S. C. P. A. meeting was very interesting (especially the eats).

The Junior play is progressing slowly but surely.

John Dean proves that there is at least one Romeo in A. C. S. by his performances in the Junior play.

All of that gas wasted Sunday night. Too bad she wasn't there Ken!

A trifle too much hydrogen was liberated in chemistry class the other day and a mild explosion resulted.

Among the people who attended the football game and dance Saturday night were Irene Lynch, Nancy Snyder, Stan Ruger and Vic Oakes.

What is this about a Third Party? Was Vars surprised to receive a live alligator from Barbara?

Anne Hardy and Kathleen Howland started out with their boy friends for the Wellsville football game Friday night but true to form a flat tire occurred and they never got there.

What about a dance? All of the other schools around here have had one. Who will second the motion?

Off the Book Shelves

The student librarian's high school offers an excellent means for observing the various activities of the students in the library. The following having been noticed:

That the magazines and newspaper racks are used to a great extent by the majority of people, even the teachers.

How those small children love to come in and secure books from their section. They are certainly going to be intelligent children by the time they reach high school if they continue reading. They look so thrilled and glad to be allowed the privilege of obtaining books from the high school library. The only difficulty the librarians have is understanding their names.

The material on the two bulletin boards has been changed many times. Each time it excels the time before. The one depicting the course of the new history books was especially interesting to the History C pupils.

Some people still have to be reminded by the teacher in charge to put their chairs back in place.

Where was the "birdie" in the sixth period study hall located last Friday? It certainly resembled a bird. Maybe Mr. Bretsch is learning. (Hi Herald Continued on Page 7)
