Richburg acted as hosts Wednes day, Jan. 29th to the regular Allegany County Press banquet and con-ference. The pupils who represent-ed Andover at Richburg were Chick Gath, Anne McDonough and Mary is applied over a small space at a time with an up-and-down stroke, and immediately rinsed off with Baker, accompanied by Principal Bretsch, Miss Larkin and Miss Barrett.

Richburg Reporters Have Original Idea

For the removal of stubborn finger-mark stains, a little whiting soap paste is good. This is made by mixing four parts of whiting with one part of soap jelly. Whiting may be obtained in most hardware stores for about five cents a pound. Whiting is less likely to take off the paint than a coarser scouring powder.

Glue for Very Soiled Surfaces

For very ditty paint, such as the kitchen walls in homes where coal is burned in the range, glue makes a good cleanser. Granulated glue, costing about 25 cents a pound in hardware stores, is used. Two ounces After arriving safely at Richburg, the pupils enjoyed themselves by playing ping-pong and watching others play badminton and other games.
Playing at ping-pong increased the appetites of everybody and when the call for dinner sounded, everyone joyously hurried to the cafeteria where there was served a delicious dinner. The Juniors of Richburg designe their tables according to that old riddle about what a newspaper is Black and white and red (read) all over. Their original students had covered the tables with unprinted newspaper and scattered over the paper were headlines. On each end of the table was a red candle with another newspaper headline wound around it.

During the dinner the representa-tives from Whitesville, Friendship, Alfred-Almond, Belfast, Richburg and Andover were entertained by wo violin and two piano solos by inford Wilcox and Phyllis Voorhee of Richburg.

Following the dinner there were two speeches made by members of Following the dinner there were Friendship school concerning Empire State Scholastic Press Asso ciation at Syracuse. The speakers urged each school to send represenlatives to this conference.

During the discussion of questions sent in by different schools, the idea of taking interesting articles from the school papers at the end of the the school papers at the end of the year and making a year book to be dedicated to the Seniors was mentioned. It seemed that almost every school represented at the conference had an exchange column of some sort. In this column could be placed clever poems or articles written by other school papers and giving the school which wrate the ing the school which article the credit for it. wrote the

Friendship Submits Sample Insignia
The most interesting part of the evening was the introduction by Friendship of the idea of having an moved that the A. C. S. P. A. They moved that the A. C. S. P. A. should have an insignia and that each should have a chance to design an insignia. Each one made is to be sent to the county executive council, which is to choose the best ones and bring them to the next A. C. S. P. A. conference where they will be judged; the best one being used.

The example Friendship gave was the autline of Allegany county with A.C.S.P.A. printed across the face of it and the name or initials of the school at the bottom. Such an insignia on a school paper could add a great deal of distinction to its appearance.

And so bidding farewell to new friends, the Andoverites left Richburg for Andover after a fine meet
