THE HI HERALD 800 Visit Exhibit Monday Night

Monday night the school was filled with a greater number of people than ever before. Parents, rela-tives and friends wandered thru the new building looking over the work of the students.

At 8:45, when everyone was as sembled in the gymnasium, a program was given to an estimated group of 800 people.

Generally, the older people admired the building and the fine work of the students. Many reported that this was the finest exhibit ever given by the scholestic propulation. by the scholastic population. All went home feeling that their smallfry were progressing in school to the best of their ability. JR

How To Get Fifty Per Cent In All

Business Manager Candidate

Since I have been chosen as a candidate of business manager, I would like to state some of my opinions on the paper as a whole. The plan for reducing the Hi Herald staff next year is a good one. A small part of the staff writes most of the paper and these pupils only should be given recognition by being appointed members of the staff.

If I are there we we have Parker Parkers Parkers I was a good one. A small part of the staff writes most of the paper and these pupils only should be given and the paper and these pupils only should be given recognition by being appointed members of the staff.

Candidates Edit Hi Herald

As is customary at the end

As is customary at the end of each school year, the candidates for offices on the next year's staff edit one issue of the Hi Herald.

Last week's paper was in charge of Jean Rogers, who will be next year's editor-in-chief; Stanley Ruger a candidate for business manager, a candidate for business manager and Paul Ryan, candidate for sports editor.

This week's paper will be put out under the direction of Jean Rogers Victor Oakes, candidate for business manager and Jimmy Driscoll, can-didate for sports editor.

After these trial issues have been published, Hi Herald staff members for it.

If elected I will try to carry out of the Hi Herald this year. R

Our parents and other townspec ple made a fine showing at our ex-hibit Monday evening. Such en-thusiasm gives the students more ambition to do their yearly school work with effort towards making successful accomplishments.

Regina and "Liz" must have had more ambition than most of us Tuesday night, as they were seen bicycling around the heights and bicycling around the lowlands of Andover.

Ahoy, Shipmates!

Reserve a bunk on the U. S. S. Seniors for May 29. All good sailors should immediately call up the sweetheart at the nearest port and make sure she's free to come that night, too. There'll be nothing but real nautical terms and atmosphere there. Only you experienced hands will be able to balance properly on the gangplank which leads to the entrance. Only you old gobs will feel at home among the life-savers, anchors and canvas. The captain will greet you and pretty little sail.

This really takes cool nerves to pitch out of a hole like that. The locals now can depend on three reliable pitchers for wins. The Purple and White batsmen were rather weak as they only collected six hits. These hits came at the right time however to drive in the needed runs. Don Lynch is certainly hitting that ball hard, getting two singles against Belmont. This raises Don's average to over 400 and that isn't bad. This makes bon the leading hitter on the ball club. orettes will serve you. ### "BASE HITS" By RYAN

Another young pitcher has come thru to gram Andover's fifth straight win. "Jake" Shellman pitched a win. "Jake" Shellman pitched a neat ball game last Monday as the locals beat Belmont 5-3. "Swig" locals beat Belmont 5-3. "Swig" Lehman started the ball game but was taken out at the end of the secand to save him for the all-import ant league game with Whitesville. The opposition had only one run off "Swig", this being unearned. When "Jake" entered the ball game the score was tied up at one all.

Belmont collected their two remaining runs in the sixth inning.
Young Shellman gave up only four hits in the five innings he twirled. "Jake" ran into trouble in the final the sack inning when he loaded with nobody out. However, he pitched out of it nicely without being scored on. That really takes cool nerves to pitch out of a hole like
