FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, former chief justice of the United U States Supreme Court, chats with the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, on the porch of Mr. Hughes' private cabin at Jasper Park Lodge in Jasper National Park, Canadian Rockies. The Canadian prime minister stopped over in lasper to renew a friendship of many years' standing. The two last met 18 years ago when Mr. Hughes was secretary of state at Washington. "This is my fourth season Jasper and I just love it." the former chief justice told the prime minister, who expressed his keen pleasure on the large number American visitors in Jasper and other points in Canada this year.
