Waftings From WANDERING WILLIE

SEVERAL people have inquired in the past few weeks if little "Willie" had died, or if Corporal "Cable" had completely swamped him. But no, "Willie" is not dead—he was just sleeping. And while we're on the subject of "several people" we have heard remarks as to why yours truly writes in the "we" attitude. "We" don't know, unless it was just because we thought the blame for some of the dope written would be spread farther in covering "we" than "I." And now we're so used to writing this way that "we" can never be "I."

JUST a chance rumor, perhaps, but we would suggest that the party bragging about poisoning a dog in our little village had better just scold the dog or call a cop—as we think it would be much better and cheaper in the end for that same person. Do you get it?

YOU know it's been so long since Francis "Cable" Cable has been heard from that we're wondering if the sergeant that was in the habit of cutting his toenails didn't get tired of the job and whittled him to hamburger. The last we knew he was shooting "Ack-Ack" (anti-aircraft) bombs all over the sky down Stewart way—then wham! no news at all from our elongated friend.

Just as soon as the weather cools down a little (it's so much hotter here than in Georgia) we will take a couple of weeks steady and answer some of the sizzling letters directed at "Willie." But just now we are still in the grip of acute laxitude.

Many of the other boys in camp are either so doggone busy or sleepy we haven't heard from them for a while of a while. But let's hope. We've heard more than one remark on the streets that folks up this way always read "Cable's" letters first and then went on to digest the rest of the paper. Come, Cable, break down and send a sizzler up this way!

YOU know Andover is really going places this fall like it never has in the last ten or twelve years. We got the mill located and setting up for business in good shape, a new store and auto supply establishment is now open for business, and the price of milk and spuds are tops.

It makes a fellow feel like breaking out with a cheery "Tra-la" just to see things coming along the way they are—and also to see Andover with the picture show packed each show night, along with other signs of returning life and hope, and personally we can see no need now for anyone going around with a face as long as a horse's muttering about "them days are gone forever" and all the other mush that goes with their type. Your town is only as good as you say it is.

AND talking about saying things this old poem seems to fill the bill about thinking before you speak:

If all that we say
 In a single day
 With never a word left out,
 Were printed each night
 In clear black and white,
 'Twould prove queer reading, no doubt.
 And then just suppose,
 Ere our eyes we would close,
 We must read the whole record thru
 Then wouldn't we sigh
 And wouldn't we try
 A great deal less talking to do?
 And we more than think
 That many a kink
 Would be smoother in Life's tangled thread,
 If half that we say
 In one single day
 Were ever forever unsaid.

CONGRATS are in order to former Private Alan Tuttle. "Tut" has been advanced to Corporal now and we are glad to mark him down on the list of the several from our village who have been raised in the ranks.
