You Must Have Vitamins A and D

You must have Vitamin A as an aid in protection against infections which are more likely to occur in the nose, throat, eyes, ears and sinuses, when there is a deficiency of this vitamin.
You need Vitamin D to help the body make proper use of the calcium and phosphorus in your diet.
If you are not getting enough of these two important vitamins, take a ONE-A-DAY brand Vitamin A and D Tablet every day and insure your normal requirements.

"Tricks To All Trades" — But Ours

Washington.—Representative Keef (R-Wis.) told the House Tuesday he had learned of a loophole in the tire rationing program thru which many persons were securing new tires for their automobiles without a certificate from the County Tire Rationing Board.

"They merely buy a light farm wagon which comes fully equipped with four new tires," he said, "transfer the new tires to their automobiles, put the old automobile tires on the farm wagon and resell the wagon."

New York Fish Travel Pulman

Due to the rubber shortage, New York State fish traveled Pulman this year according to the Conservation Commission.

The fish car, which has been in retirement for a number of years, was again put into service and attached to regularly scheduled trains. The car, built in 1925, has 40 oxygenated tanks with a capacity of a ton and a half of fish. The department reports the saving of more than 35,000 truck miles in the distribution of hatchery fish to New York State streams by use of the car. The cost of transportation showed the car to be 12 cents a mile cheaper than the trucks.

Tall Tales!

"When I was timbering in the Northwest it snowed so hard we had to let down with ropes to reach the tops of the trees," said Smith. "And the fog was so thick the fish lost themselves in the woods, but we soon remedied that by digging some ditches in the fog and draining it back into the river."
"Well, when I was digging in the Panama Canal," retorted his friend "it was so hot there one day when my buddy went in swimming and dove off a 20-foot rock into the steam he forgot to take into consideration the evaporation, and when he was halfway down all the water was gone. It happened, one of our sudden rains came up, tho, and he landed in eight feet of water."

"Equality For Farmers Through Co-operatives"

per-Valsted Act, giving farmers the right to unite in co-operative marketing associations for the sale of farm products.

Soon after this the old organization was dissolved and in its place stood the new Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc., made up of the dairymen in the vast New York Milk Shed. The New York Milk Shed, as it is called in the six states surrounding New York City which ship their milk there. It includes the state of New York, northern and eastern Pennsylvania, northern New Jersey, and the eastern sections of Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut. This great milk shed supplies fresh milk daily to 15,000,000 people, or nearly one-eighth of all the people in the United States. New York City, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Elmira, Albany, Binghamton, Utica and Scranton are some of the largest cities in the Empire State which give it the right to be called the greatest fluid milk market in the world. It is an immense job to ascertain the maintenance of so large a "route." This was made possible only thru a most unique plan.

After the formation of the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc., certain members came forward with the plan of selling milk to distributors in various classes. The plan is fairly simple. Only about 20 per cent of the milk taken in by the association can be sold as fluid milk, which happens to be the best market. Much of the remaining 50 per cent is sold in the form of sweet cream which affords the next best market. What remains is disposed to the highest markets available next in order, namely buttermilk, pat cheese and ice cream. This is the only plan by which the farmer can attain a fair share of returns from various products. For part of his milk he gets top prices always. In addition this plan "stabilizes the market for everybody." Even during the depression following the World War, the producer members of the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc., did not lose their markets and likewise their returns.

Another war confronts America and the league will again be put to a test. The dairymen feel sure that the test will be encouraging and with this in mind they firmly look over the attainments of the league in 1941. According to President Fred H. Sexauer, two major points were attained or favorably impressed upon the American people this year—an increase in milk prices and the equal representation of agriculture with industry and labor in the Federal government.

The league will continue to do the same successful things in the future that it has done in the past. The American dairymen realize its potentialities and stand firmly behind it for they realize that in dairying as well as in any other phase of life the same statement is true, "United, we stand; divided or individually, we fall."

State Income Tax Inspector at Wellsville

Buffalo, Mar. 25.—To help State income taxpayers compute the authorized 25 per cent reduction on their State personal income tax returns due on or before April 15, and to give other assistance as needed, representatives of the Income Tax Bureau today received local assignments for the balance of the 1942 collection period.

Henry Seilheimer, Buffalo district tax supervisor, announced that an income tax examiner would be stationed at the Village Hall in Wellsville on March 30th.

Mr. Seilheimer urged taxpayers to make full use of the expert, free services of the State income tax examiners.

"If you are in doubt as to the correctness of any entry on your return or have any question as to the method of making any computation including the authorized 25 per cent reduction, don't hesitate to call on our men," said Mr. Seilheimer.

Referring to the 25 per cent cut recommended by Governor Lehman and adopted by the Legislature, the State tax official explained that the taxpayer should make out his return just as he would ordinarily do. The 25 per cent reduction is then computed in the blank space beneath line 20 on page 1 of the return.

"Simply subtract one-fourth of the total tax," he said. "The remainder is your tax due."
