South Hill

(Mrs. Earl Schoonover, Reporter)

April 6.—There was quite a bit of excitement on our hill Monday forenoon from the gasket blowing out of the pump and setting the pump building on fire. It was being operated by the gauger, Mr. Boyer. The engine and pump are used to pump the oil from the tanks on the McEbenwood lease to Wellsville. At the time it caught fire, there was a two inch pipe full of oil going into the pumps, the shutoffs were quite some distance from the engine, so by the time they got it shut off there was quite a bit of oil to feed the fire. Two of the Andover fire trucks and men were here to do their bit and extinguished the fire.

ALLEGANY COUNTY YOUTH MOBILIZES FOR VICTORY

Allegany county 4-H Clubs will participate this week in the National Mobilization Program. Local 4-H Clubs have planned special programs in their communities to re-emphasize the part they are playing in the National Victory Program.

Heading this group are more than 800 boys and girls who are participating in the "Victory Garden Program," agreeing to produce, conserve and store an abundance of vegetables and fruits for use in the coming months. Nearly as many boys and girls have indicated their interest in a "Fire Prevention Program" sponsored by the Allegany County Fire Cooperative Fire Insurance Company agreeing to inspect their home farms and properties to prevent any unnecessary fires when such loss would mean a material decrease in the production of consumer goods.

In addition to these two special activities the boys and girls are reminded of their other regular 4-H activities in the "Food for Freedom Program" including the poultry projects, dairy, sheep and two pigs on every farm. Conservation of natural resources thru the ordering of more than 12,000 forestry seedlings, which will be used to reforest idle acres of land in our country, is being carried on. Special First Aid and Home Nursing projects are being offered to groups where instructors are available.

YOUR CAR How to Get the MOST out of It

TIPS ON DRIVING

Have you signed up with a new set of driving habits for the duration? Like defense bonds they pay interest, but it is interest many times compounded. You may only be thinking of saving tires, but more careful operation of your car also means less gas and oil used, less wear on mechanical parts, less likelihood of accidents, injuries and replacement of hard-to-get parts. Here are some suggestions that other experienced drivers have found effective:

Depress the clutch pedal while starting the engine. Then the battery isn't given the extra job of turning the transmission gears.

Don't race the motor during the warm-up period. By taking it easy at first you save gas and give the oil a chance to get to work.

Use the hand choke (if you have one) sparingly. Improper use wastes gas and may cause serious dilution of oil in the crankcase.

Shift gears at the lowest practical speed. Low gear is needed principally to overcome starting inertia. Shift to high between 15 and 25 miles an hour. Remember: you pay for a jack-rabbit start in tire and clutch wear and extra gas used—and the fellow you outdistance usually pulls up beside you at the next traffic light.
