Dr. George Cutten Alfred Commencement Speaker

Alfred, May 5.—Dr. George B. Cutten, retiring president of Colgate University has accepted the invitation to be Commencement speaker at Alfred University on June 1 at 2 o'clock.

Dr. Cutten came to Colgate as President 20 years ago from Acadia University, Nova Scotia, where he had been president for 12 years. He served 13 years as a Baptist minister after graduating from Yale, being pastor in Connecticut, New York and Ohio. He has been a newspaper reporter, appletree salesman, steam fitter, pastor, teacher, soldier, author, college president. At 68 he is still hale and hearty, still holds a license to serve as a North Woods guide.

"The world will always need thinkers, leaders and doers," said Dr. Cutten at the time he announced his retirement for August 31 of this year, and the service opportunities of colleges in this world of ever-increasing problems will be richer tomorrow than ever before.

Other items on the Commencement week program include: the Senior breakfast on Friday, May 29, the alumni reception and annual banquet on May 30, the 50-Year Reunion breakfast, the Commemorative recital on the Davis Memorial Carillon, and the Baccalaureate on Sunday, May 31, the annual meeting of the board of trustees, the Commencement exercises, and the president's reception on Monday, June 1.

WANDERING WITH WILLIE

BEFORE the summer is over a lot of folks (as evidenced by Monday night's crowd) will learn that softball is not the itty-bitty kiddie game that they thought it was, but a game of great dexterity and skill (We know, we tried it.)

After the game, we were in about a half dozen different groups of players and from the schemings and stuff that we heard some of these teams will be ringing in players from MacArthur's hard-fighting boys if they can get them loose.

But no fooling we predict that before later diggin' time Andover athletic field will be the busiest place it has been since it was laid out.

PROBABLY many of you have heard the little incident of the fellow who made a batch of wine and had 12 bottles in the cellar when the better half told him he would have to get rid of it, or else. Anyhow, this is the procedure he followed (as far as possible). We get groggy ourselves when we recite it. Here is what he did:

He withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass, which he drank. He extracted the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass, which he drank. He then withdrew the cork from the third bottle of wine and emptied it down the sink, except a glass which he drank. He pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, and poured the rest down the glass. He pulled the sink out of the next glass and poured the cork down the bottle and drank the glass—then he corked the sink with the glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour. When he had everything emptied, he steadied the house with one hand and then counted the bottles and glasses with the other, which were 29. To be sure, he counted them again when they came by and had 74. And as the house came by, he counted them again and finally had the houses, bottles, corks and glasses counted, except one house and one bottle which he drank.

THE other night we had a horrible dream (verging on nightmare). We dreamed that the fire whistle blew and the firemen ran every which way and finally ended up at a local residence to find the place a mass of flames. They started their job of getting the fire out and realizing that the place was doomed began carrying out the furniture, etc., when lo, two of the men came staggering out each with a 100-pound bag of sugar on his shoulder (the owner's ration card plainly stated that he had seven pounds in hiding.) Well, you know, we could see that owner's face turning red clear up to his eyebrows and it wasn't fire reflection either. Anyhow we could see the officers arriving, and the judge on his way and then court and—we woke up all a-sweat. No more sandwiches for us on retiring.

But that couldn't happen here.

now, could it? It was just a dream!

NEWS ITEM—The annual dinner and entertainment of the school bus drivers was held recently in Wellsville with a fine dinner and entertainment enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served and cards enjoyed after the dinner with K. D. (Flash) Bostwick receiving high honors for the evening and Walter (Mike) Gath consolation winner.

Paint a Whole Room WITH BENJAMIN MOORE'S

"PAQUA"

FOR $2.49 PER GALLON

"PAQUA" is a new miracle paint! You pay for concentrated paint, then you add a half gallon of water, blend well and apply it over wall board, old paint, brick, cement, building tile, even over wall paper—and it covers in one coat! You skip all the tedious preparation of walls, and you skip the undercoats. "PAQUA" is free from any "painty" odor and rooms finished with it are ready for occupancy immediately after drying which takes only an hour and the finish is rich and stands washing with soap and water after a week's application. "PAQUA" has a high reflection factor and does not yellow with age. It may be recoated without difficulty and it flows on so easily it's actually fun using it. It is supplied in white and a variety of tints.

PAINT WITH "PAQUA" AND YOU SAVE ON TIME, LABOR & MONEY!
