FOOD TO KEEP YOU FIT

What Makes a Good Green Salad?

There's nothing fancy about a tossed green salad, no cherries, no whipped cream, no nuts. It is, however, a vital part of a meal, and comes to the table in a big bowl at the same time as the meat, potatoes and cooked vegetables. It includes lots of lettuce leaves, or any other salad green, crisp and cold and mixed with a good, tangy dressing.

To make a successful salad, first make sure that the greens are clean; then comes crisping. With tender green lettuce, chilling is important, for the young leaves often wilt fast after they have been picked.

Chill the greens in the hydrator of your refrigerator, or wrap the leaves in waxed paper or a moist cloth, or put them in a salad bag, and place them in a cool place. Another method is to lift the leaves out of the water in a colander or wire basket, shake them gently to release excess water, and put them into the refrigerator for 20 minutes.

Do not bruise the salad greens in handling, for bruised leaves are less attractive and lose vitamins. Never cut the greens until they are ready for use. A good sharp pair of kitchen scissors helps in cutting greens without bruising them.

DISH FOR THIS WEEK

This is a good time to make a main dish of spinach. A spinach loaf is especially good for a lunch or supper when served with a well-seasoned tomato sauce.

Spinach Loaf with Tomato Sauce
1 1/4 cups of cooked, chopped spinach

- 1 cup of fine dry bread crumbs.
- 1 cup of grated cheese.
- 1 teaspoon of salt.
- 1 egg, well beaten.
- 1/2 teaspoon of pepper.
- 1 tablespoon of lemon juice or vinegar.

Mix all the ingredients together and pour the mixture into a greased bread-pan set in another pan of water. Bake it in a moderate oven, around 350 degrees Fahrenheit, for about 25 minutes, or until set. When cooked, unmold the loaf on a platter and pour two cups of tomato sauce around it.

A simple way to make a tomato sauce is to substitute seasoned tomato juice for milk in a medium white sauce.

This loaf may also be made from wild greens, or, during the mid-summer months from New Zealand spinach or Swiss chard.

For a lunch or supper, the spinach loaf and tomato sauce may be served with whole bread or muffins with butter and cottage cheese, milk at least for the children, and fruit salad.

For dinner, the loaf may be accompanied by thin slices of fried ham or bologna, baked potatoes, a dish of radishes and green onions, bread and butter, a beverage, and raisin rice pudding served with cream or top milk.

HOW, WHAT AND WHY?

Special to the Andover News

The Andover News has arranged with the Office of Information of the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics to answer questions about problems of farm and home. If you enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and mention the name of this paper you will receive a direct reply to your query from the colleges. Do not ask more than one question in one letter or on one postcard. Ask as many questions as you like, but make each one a separate communication.

Apples Drop Off

W. H. writes: "I have an apple tree that has borne fruit for three years, but the apples drop off before they are ripe. When cut open, they show brown spots in the center, but no worms. What can be done to save the fruit?"

Prof. W. D. Mills of the plant pathology department replies: "I cannot be certain from your description what causes the brown spots. Possible causes are the apple maggot or the railroad worm, controlled by arsenical sprays in late June or July; boron deficiency, controlled by spring applications of borax to the soil; and internal breakdown caused by picking at the wrong stage of maturity or by improper storage.

"You have been sent more information under separate cover. If you still have some of the fruits in storage and can send them to us, we will gladly try to determine the cause of the trouble."

"It is not always practicable to try to clean wall paper. Sometimes it can be wiped with a soft brush covered with a clean soft cloth, or, if the paper is rough, with the attachment of a vacuum cleaner.

"No good method of removing grease spots from wall paper has yet been found. The best way at present is to cover the spot with Fuller's earth or magnesia and allow the powder to remain overnight. In the morning, brush off the Fuller's earth gently to prevent the grease-soaked powder from spreading on the paper. The Fuller's earth may be purchased at a hardware store."

Almost anybody can tell you what you ought to do under the circumstances.
