SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
THE DISCIPLE'S TASK
International Sunday School Lesson for June 21, 1942.
Golden Text: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation."—Mark 16:15.
Lesson Text: Matthew 28: 16-20; Mark 16: 14-20; Luke 24: 40-53.
With this lesson we bring to a close our study of the life of Jesus as recorded in the Synoptic Gospels, Matthew, Mark and Luke—using as the basis for our consideration the closing words of each of these gospels. Matthew ends with the command of Jesus that we have come to know of as "The Great Commission;" Mark ends with a picture of the apostles carrying out the commission given them, with the Lord working with them." Luke shows the apostles in the temple praising and blessing God, content to leave them waiting there, until he records at length their story in the Acts of the Apostles.

Today, on the ridge of the Mount of Olives is the Chapel of the Ascension, octagonal in form, which was built by the Crusaders centuries ago. Here, tradition has it, was the place from which Jesus ascended into Heaven after his last appearance to his disciples and his giving to them the words which have been the marching orders of the Christian church since that time, "All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth, Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

It is worthwhile for all of us to pause a moment and realize that Christianity is a voluntary religion; that not one of its adherents is forced to do anything. Everything accomplished in the name of and for the sake of Jesus Christ is a spontaneous act of love and devotion.
All of the progress that has been made by Christianity since the time of Christ has been accomplished thru the voluntary service of those who have accepted Jesus Christ. They are His witnesses and upon them depends the success of the spread of Christianity thruout the world.
Few Christians can go all over the world, carrying out the explicit commands contained in the "Great Commission," but every Christian can do his or her part by living a life of active service, by contributing to the organized work of his or her church, in order that his funds, along with those of thousands of others, may be pooled together to finance those who find it possible to actually follow His command to "Go."

Never, in the history of the world have Christians been more convinced of the effects of their failure to more conscientiously carry out the commands of Jesus. Had we been more zealous in giving the gospel of Jesus Christ to the world, more unselfish in our individual and national life, setting a more worthy example of the teachings of Jesus in our relations with others we might have been able to avoid the terrible conditions which prevail in the world today.
The world stands in great need of Jesus today. It needs what he has to give—a more adequate knowledge of God, of pardon for sins, of comfort from sorrow and of hope for a better world. It needs what he does to the human heart, cleansing the life of sin and replacing sin with love—for God and for man.
What can you do about it? In the words of Charles Wesley Flint, in "Follow Me," we'll answer: "We are his ambassadors; we represent him; he is seen in us. We are his witnesses. We witness by what we say; yes, but even more by what we are—by just the way we live. What a responsibility! But what a privilege! "A boy can play the game so hard and clean; a girl can be so kind and considerate among her friends; a man can be so square and diligent in his business; a woman can be so patient, poised, and unselfish in her home; that other boys and girls, other men and women, will say—"I wish I could be like him—like her."

Class of 20 High

Junior High Commencement Saturday; Baccalaureate Service Sunday; Banquet Monday; Commencement Tuesday

Commencement week at the Andover Central School in full swing during week, beginning with the Graduation Exercises on Saturday and reaching a fitting climax in the High School Commencement held Tuesday evening. Members of the Class were presented with their diplomas marking the completion of their high school course. Sunday evening baccalaureate service was held Monday evening the Alumni Association held a banquet.

This Commencement, which is to be held in Andover, is the first to be held in the new school building. The ceremony not only marks the close of the year for the high school graduates, but also the beginning of the year for the young people of Andover.

Eighty-seven members of the grade of the Andover Central received promotion certificates, marking the high point of their education at the Junior High School.

The program opened with a song by Virginia Leach, which the Class Prophecy by Lewis Wintemberg and by Willis Jeanne Jaekle. The Key of Success was read by Clark with a response by Patricia Joyce gave a grade of the Test Brigade, "Walton, high ranking of the class, gave the Valedictory. Music was furnished by William Dougherty who presented by Principal Bretsch who also spoke to the graduates, reminding them of the opportunity alone does not guarantee success; that opportunity must be used by those to whom it is given.

Perfect attendance list was read. Those who had been promoted in the various grades were read by Mr. Bretsch. These were: Howard Burrows, Ronald Clark, Beatrice Dean, Florence Dodge, Basil Dunham, Ruth Hardy, John Horan, Jeanne Jaekle, James Joyce, Jean Kemp, Earl Leon, Genevieve Loucks, Thomas Lynch, Martha Lois Jean Matison, Doreta Perry, Betty Jean Spicer, Clarence Stearns, Janice Walton, Lewis Walton, James Witman, promoted to high school, 1942; Jeanne Joyce, Eldon Kaple, man.
