What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The 75-millimeter gun is a divisional weapon used by the Artillery as an anti-tank gun. It has been replaced to some extent by the more modern "105", known as the heaviest of divisional weapons. The 75-mm gun costs $12,000 and has been converted by our Ordnance into a "blaster" twice as efficient as in the first World War.

This gun gets maximum power for minimum weight and cost, and the American people are providing the finance through the purchase of War Bonds. If you do your share and invest 10 per cent of your income in War Bonds, adequate supply of this efficient gun can be assured our fighting forces. Buy War Bonds every pay day.

In Double
"Remember," wrote the instructor of the correspondence school of journalism, "to write on only one side of the paper."
And by return mail came the following inquiry, from the new pupil: "Which side shall I write on?"

Tall Stories
"Yes, I've seen a few bad crop years in my time, too. One year our string beans were so poor the crop didn't even pay for the string."
"That's nothing. In 1914 our corn crop was so bad that my dad, who had a small appetite, ate up 14 acres of corn at a single meal."

Quite a Run

The train was pulling out and the old gentleman was just settling down comfortably. Suddenly the door burst open and a young man tumbled into the coach and seated himself, panting and puffing, opposite. The latter looked on with obvious disapproval.

"You must be very unfit, young man," he said, after a while. "Why, when I was young I never panted like that, after a run."

"Perhaps not," said the other, "but I missed this train at the last station."

The question in the seaman's examination was: "What is the waterline?"
The Answer — The mark around a Marine's neck.
