ELECT THE CAPABLE!

The Government of the United States depends upon the people. The officers they elect become those people who direct the destiny of the country. Our Student Council operates on the same principles as the government. The Student Council representatives are the student leaders who direct the activities and help determine the success of the events sponsored by the Council.

When choosing your three candidates-at-large for the Council this year, look more to the record they have in high school than to how well you like them.

Many people say "Oh, don't vote for her. I don't like her. She doesn't care for me." Maybe they do dislike the particular person, but she might be the most capable candidate. Select the candidates who have the best scholastic record, those who play fair, and are the best workers. Don't let personal prejudice sway your decision. Choose those most capable of leading the Council and the student body on to a successful year. —J. Button

Election Campaigns Under Way

Election campaigns for this year's student Council have started with a bang.

The two parties, the Progressives and the Co-operatives, met Wednesday morning to select five freshmen for their respective parties and to nominate each party in the forthcoming Student Council elections.

The Progressive party under the supervision of Miss Pauline Anderson, re-elected Paul Kilbane, Ruth Lynch and George Karcanes as their candidates. Mary Baker was chosen campaign manager.

Thursday morning the students arrived at school to find the rooms ablaze with signs urging everyone to vote Progressive. There was an especially clever poster in the library. At the top of the bulletin board was a sign with the words, "The Talk of the Town" on it, and under this was a fine picture of the Progressive candidates. Beneath the picture was a large V and the words: "For Vict'ry." Below the poster was the word "Progressive" in the party's colors: red, white and blue.

There are a number of fine Progressive posters everywhere. One of these is on the bulletin board outside the library door. It gives the Progressive creed:

P—progress
R—recreation
O—opportunity
G—gains
R—responsibility
E—excellence
S—satisfaction
S—scholarship
I—influence
V——victory
E—education.

There is another one in the freshmen homeroom with an illustration of a Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior and their reasons why they are going to vote Progressive. The Freshman says that she believes that underclassmen, like the Progressive candidates, would understand the wants of a Freshman and would do more for them than a Senior.

Some of the Progressives, to show their loyalty to their party, have taped Progressive signs on their lockers.

When one votes for a member of the Student Council, he should vote for the persons who stand for his beliefs and ideas. MEB

Principal Bretsch Elected to County Athletic Committee

At the Allegany County Athletic Association meeting held last Thursday, Principal Glenn E. Bretsch was elected to the Central Athletic Committee and made vice president of that group. The Central Committee is the governing body for the County Association and plays an important role in maintaining fair and cordial relationships between member schools.

Other members of the committee are Andrew Haynes, principal Fillmore school, president; Charles Pocock, Wellsville High School, treasurer; Joe Palone, Belmont High School, secretary (appointed in place of Principal Fred Strate who is now serving in the U. S. Army), Ike Kinkaid of Cuba Central School and Paul Fuller, Scio Central School.

Plans For National Honor Society Continue

A committee has been appointed by Principal Bretsch to draw up a constitution for the National Honor Society which has been proposed for adoption by the Andover Central School.

The committee, as chosen, is as follows: Miss Anderson, Mr. Maloy, Miss Mahl, Elaine Pope and Arthur Temple.

A copy of the constitution which the committee draws up will be released at a later date.

Eldon Kaple Recovering From Unusual Accident

At least one boy knows what is inside of a golf ball. Or does he? Eldon Kaple, member of the freshman class, is recovering from what might have been a serious injury to his eyes when a golf ball, irritated at being squeezed tightly in a vise and cut open, retaliated by squirting him in the eye with the liquid which is placed in the center of many golf balls.

At the close of one of the shop periods last week, Eldon and another lad picked up a golf ball and decided to investigate its interior. Squeezing the ball tightly in a vise, they proceeded to cut thru the outer covering which suddenly released the terrific pressure on the liquid core. The liquid spurted out striking Eldon in the face and eyes, doing considerable damage. Latest reports are that the injury is not permanent and another week will see complete recovery.

"Reporters" Assemble School News In Two Days

At the Hi Herald meeting held last Thursday afternoon, Oct. 1st, the students finished their articles for today's paper. All material had to be completed and handed in in two days last week because of the vacation this week. A regular meeting was not held because the buses left early, so many people were absent for potato digging and the Seniors were having a candy sale.

World Series Broadcast

The annual world series baseball games have been broadcast in study hall this week. The games started Wednesday with the Yankees ahead and Thursday the Cardinals won, thus making a tie for the first two games. DB

Dr. Common Guest Of Honor at Faculty Picnic

The faculty club enjoyed its first social meeting of the year Wednesday evening at a picnic supper at the John Lever camp on the Andover-Wellsville road. The supper was held at 5 o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Robert Common were the guests of honor. Dr. Common will soon leave for Miami where he will be stationed for the time being as an Army dentist. If this station is permanent, Mrs. Common and their son will join him there later.

Mss Pauline Anderson and Robert Ingerson were chairmen of the picnic. Misses Mahl and Clark, Mrs. McKibben and Miss Snyder took care of the food arrangements. BB

Commando Course Built For Physical Education Classes

Classes Stressing Body Building and Toughening Activities. Boys Keen About Obstacle Course.

The use of a "commando" obstacle course, built on the high school athletic field, will be a regular part of the physical education program for many of the older high school boys this year. This is the recommendation of the State War Council in an effort to meet the demand of the armed forces for men with strong, toughened bodies, according to an announcement made in assembly recently by Principal Glenn E. Bretsch.

Because of the war, the whole physical education program will stress more formal, body-building drills and calisthenics with less emphasis on strictly recreational activities.

The commando course which has been built by the boys themselves under the direction of Mr. Ingerson, physical education director and Mr. Fribolin, shop instructor, consists of a 100-yard race course having the following obstacles in order. The boys first jump an ordinary track hurdle, then a four-foot fence, then zig-zag thru a series of posts set in the ground. They then must scale an eight-foot wall, jump a six-foot ditch, run along a series of benches two feet off the ground and finally run up a four-foot incline and jump off.

Warning has been issued by Principal Bretsch that this severe type of training is only for the older boys and then only after proper conditioning and proof of physical fitness by the medical examiner. The course should not be used by pupils outside of school hours, except under proper direction.

Vote Progressive

When you are sitting home alone,
With nothing else to do,
Think of the PROGRESSIVES,
And all they'll do for you.

P represents our purpose, one and all,
R means recreation for both large and small,
O is for organizations, three or four
G is for good times more and more
R stands for regular assemblies, weekly, too.
E is for enormous—we mean the things we shall do for you.
S is for social activities which will bring you bliss
S is for sincerity, which with our candidates you can't miss
I for our insignia, red, white and blue,
V means victory, which we can't attain without you.
E is for excellent—our candidates and platform too.

We of the Progressive Party feel that our candidates, Ruth Lynch, George Karcanes and Paul Kilbane are capable of carrying on the school activities in which their classmates wish to participate.

We have told you what our platform stands for and know that if you wish this to come true, you'll VOTE PROGRESSIVE!

Toot, Toot, Toot!

This is what the Bus No. 2 riders heard Wednesday night on the way home. Because of some mechanical fault the horn started in its musical tones and refused to stop. From a report made by the bus driver, Mr. Bostwick the next morning, this "mechanical fault" was a short. We observed mothers running out of houses to see what the music was all about.

After Mr. Bostwick decided he had heard too much of this racket, he took the horn to pieces, thus causing it to stop its honking, he thought. This proved satisfactory until the bus made a turn and the horn began its familiar sounds. From Mr. Bostwick's report the horn kept him company back to Andover when it was repaired by the mechanics of Holts' garage. FMM

CHIT-CHAT

We see that "Blackie" and "Red" are being accompanied these days by the Junior president and that "certain" Freshman girl.

What would happen if George and Ruth L. stopped fighting? Things would be rather dull, wouldn't they?

ACS welcomes a new pupil, Ann McNulty. We hope you like it, Bonnie.

How are you coming, Pickles, without Paul? You're not. We're sorry.

We wonder why Marian' eyes hold "Chuck's" attention? It isn't the new glasses is it, "Chuck?"

Barbara Brownell looked rather lonely at Social Hour last Wednesday night because of the absence of "Flash."

Elaine and Arthur are still "that way" about each other again this year. We must say they make a grand pair.

A wonderful time was reported by all who attended Social Hour this Tuesday night. Shouldn't more boys turn out?

"Naz" seems to be wearing down his "precious" tires on Maple street.

"Blackie" having received his driving permit, may now escort Red hither and yon in the "rector."

Ann, if you don't stop writing those "famous" notes, we wonder what will happen, especially to Barb's Bebe's and Marian's feet?

We see several new romances, but most of the older ones are still carrying on.

Mary Baker has adopted the college fad of wearing "pig-tails." We rather like them.

We want to compliment "Jake" on his grand dancing at Social Hour. You should get Jake to show you how to clog. BEC-MPS-VML

Co-operatives Are The Best

The Co-operative candidates are the candidates everyone is considering. They are Art Temple, Marilyn Hardy and Elaine Pope. The Co-operative campaign manager is Jean Button.

The Co-operative party has made effective use of the public address system. Anne McDonough made a speech Friday morning for the benefit of the Co-operative candidates.

The Co-operative party has endeavored to keep up its class work and at the same time to promote a fair and square campaign. The posters are neat and draw the attention of the students. They are attractive, neat and do not include unnecessary details. Plans are being made for the campaign assembly which will be held the week we return to school. The Co-operative assembly program will stand out as a real event. J

"Vic" Oakes Is One From Many

"Vic" Oakes, the Valedictorian of the 1942 Senior Class, already has had his picture published in a leading Syracuse daily paper.

The Syracuse Herald published a picture (approximately * by 5 in.) of "Vic" signing up for the R.O.T.C. (Reserve Officers Training Corps) as an additional part of his college training this year.

"Vic" and 1999 other Freshmen enrolled at Syracuse this fall. He is taking an engineering course at Syracuse University and is already a member of the university band as well. SM

Vote Straight Co-operative

"Co-operate—then Progress." A group of people who do not co-operate cannot progress. The cavemen lived in uncivilized caves because they constantly fought among themselves. When some of the more brilliant of them realized that his neighbor and he could kill more animals by co-operating when they were on a hunt instead of driving the game away from each other, they had food enough to last during the winter. Food was more vital than any other factor to be considered.

Perhaps our Student Council isn't the most important thing in school, but it is a prime factor in the the carrying on of our school activities.

The Co-operative Party has always been well represented on the ACS Student Council. The Co-operative Party has as its representatives the students who are highest in scholastic ability, and initiative. The three Co-operative candidates are Arthur Temple, Marilyn Hardy and Elaine Pope. Arthur is Senior Class president, a member of the Science Club, one of the student representatives to form a constitution for the National Honor Society and an outstanding athlete. He has shown extraordinary initiative in the class affairs.

Marilyn is a member of the Senior Class, member of the Science Club, Girls' Chorus, has received the girls' "A" award for three consecutive years, is secretary-treasurer of her class, was a member of the Hi Herald staff last year and is trying out again this year, and is very active in intramural sports.

Elaine is also a Senior, a member
