Why We Observe Thanksgiving

In the United States and Canada a day is set apart annually for the giving of thanks to God for the blessings of the year.

The first Thanksgiving was in the Plymouth Colony in 1621. This first Thanksgiving was not merely a feast.

From Plymouth, the custom spread to the other colonies, until in time the Governor of each proclaimed an annual Thanksgiving day.

For many years there was no uniformity. Some of the states had Thanksgiving and some did not.

The annual Book Week tea was given by the Library Council Tuesday afternoon, November 17, from 4:15 - 5:30 o'clock in the Andover Central School Library.

The guests included faculty members, board members and their wives, the public library staff and the trustees of the public library.

The committee were: General Chairman, Clara Hann; Arrangement Committee, Kathryn Snyder, Doris Mead, Ann McNulty and Francis Slocum; Refreshment Committee; Julia Beil, Jean Button, Florence Mingus, Dorothy Baker, Wilma Goodridge and Susan McAndrew; Clean-up Committee, Jean Lynch, Dolores Dean, Patricia Joyce, Patricia Temple and Ruth Hardy.

The Library Council and Miss Anderson wish to thank Miss Mahl for her assistance in making the tea a success.

Uncle Sam Needs Nurses!

Nursing has long been a profession which interested only those women who had ability and ambition.

The main reason that many girls have not taken up nursing is that they did not decide to be a nurse until they were nearly thru high school.

Today the requirements for entering a nursing school are not nearly as specific as they were only a few years ago.

The purpose of this dance is to defray the expense of what photographic equipment has already been purchased and to enable the club to buy more.

The matinee of "Brother Goose" was given for the grade and junior high school students Monday afternoon, Nov. 23, at two o'clock.

Girls who are undecided as to what profession to take up might look over some literature on nursing.

Mrs. Green, the school nurse, has several booklets from various nursing schools and lists of the required subjects.

Have you thought about dedicating yourself to the service of mankind? You may if you become a nurse.

We can be thankful this year because no bombs are falling upon American cities.

Public Library Extends Book Week Invitations

Parents of first grade children received letters from the librarian at the village library inviting them to bring their children into the library during Book Week (last week Nov. 16-20) and register them for a borrower's card.

The library was and is open on Wednesdays from 3 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening and on Saturday from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock and 7 to 9 o'clock.

What Are You Going To Do?

This reporter became serious one day last week and went around asking the students what they were going to do during the Thanksgiving vacation.

Ruth Hardy '46 and Maretta Dunham '45 "eat, sleep, and go Christmas shopping."

Jean Lynch '46, "Work and enjoy eating a huge Thanksgiving dinner."

Jean Button '43, "Eat, primarily, and then work off the dinner by going hunting." Dear hunting, Jean?

Paul Kilbane '44, Plans to take his Junior Drivers' license, test.

Ken Howland '45, "Sleep and Eat."

Marilyn Hardy '45 and Pat Temple '46, "Besides eating, we will have a busy time with Wellsville."

Pat Lynch '45 Plans to eat enormous quantities of turkey.

Book Week Tea Is Success

The annual Book Week tea was given by the Library Council Tuesday afternoon, November 17, from 4:15 - 5:30 o'clock in the Andover Central School Library.

Science Club To Sponsor Dance

The Andover Central School Science Club has made plans to sponsor a round and square dance on Saturday evening, December 5, in the high school auditorium.

The orchestra has not yet been decided on and will be announced at a later date.

The purpose of this dance is to defray the expense of what photographic equipment has already been purchased and to enable the club to buy more.

The matinee of "Brother Goose" was given for the grade and junior high school students Monday afternoon, Nov. 23, at two o'clock.

Girls who are undecided as to what profession to take up might look over some literature on nursing.

Thanksgiving Recess From Wed. to Monday

The students of the Andover Central School will observe a recess from school from Wednesday, Nov. 26 at noon, until Monday morning, in observance of Thanksgiving.

Air Raid Drills Are Important

Air raid drills are a very important factor in the all out defense program of America.

If such a misfortune should happen, however, extreme panic would seriously hinder the process of rapid evacuation of the pupils if we were ignorant of the correct procedure to follow.

The protection of school children is a primary responsibility of the school authorities.

School buildings are divided into three classes, as to suitability as air raid shelters.

Evacuation rules for class "C" buildings which may be followed insofar as possible in the future are:

1. Children living nearby may be sent home in groups under teachers guidance.

2. Children living at a distance may be sent home if normal transportation is available.

3. Alternate plans should provide shelter in nearby homes for children unable to be evacuated to more distant homes.

These rules take care of all school children and provide comparative safety for them during air raids.

Cooperation on the part of the pupils is very essential if these drills are to be carried out with good results.

Obey all rules and keep off the streets are two main objectives.

These air raid drills may prove of more benefit than we imagine if we should be subjected to an air raid.

Girl Scouts Meet

The regular meeting of the Girl Scouts was held last Wednesday night, Nov. 18th, under the direction of Miss Marie Mahl and Miss Elizabeth Snyder.

The older girls, under the supervision of Miss Dawn Sequin, finished their second class requirements in dancing.

A "Court of Honor" meeting was held when the girls returned to the Homemaking room.

The meeting was closed with the laws, promise and the Girl Scout song.

There will be no meeting this week, Wednesday, because of Thanksgiving.

Senior Play Matinee Held

The matinee of "Brother Goose" was given for the grade and junior high school students Monday afternoon, Nov. 23, at two o'clock.

Girls who are undecided as to what profession to take up might look over some literature on nursing.

Mrs. Green, the school nurse, has several booklets from various nursing schools and lists of the required subjects.

Have you thought about dedicating yourself to the service of mankind? You may if you become a nurse.

Thank You

The Senior Class wishes to thank: Mr. Bretsch, for his cooperation and for acting as toastmaster at the banquet.

Miss Anderson, for directing the play and being so very patient with all of us.

Miss Hussong, for acting as general helper, adviser and finding time to do what everyone else didn't have time to do.

Miss Mahl, for her assistance with costumes.

Miss Zeil, for her excellent posters and help in the makeup department.

Miss Snyder and Miss Sherwood for the "super special" programs they turned out for us.

Miss Heintzleman, for her help as head of the property committee.

Mrs. Wood, for her "swell" spaghetti and general help in preparing the banquet.

We wish also to thank any other people who helped.

Oh, yes, thanks for your hat tree Mr. Fribolin, and the football Mr. Ingerson.

Robert Smith Wins Contest

A prize of fifty cents in War Stamps was awarded to Robert Smith for his composition "What Can I Do For the War Effort?"

In a seventh grade contest held recently by the seventh and eighth grade English teacher, Miss Jaekle.

Judges of the submitted compositions were Miss Jaekle, Mrs. McKibben and Miss Colberg.

The winning composition is printed here: "What Can We Do for the War Effort"

For the war effort in school we are collecting razor blades, tooth-paste tubes, tin cans, old burned-out light bulbs, scrap rubber, and many other kinds of scrap.

In the school building Mr. Bretsch has put a gallon jar in the corridor by the office.

All this scrap will be donated, not sold. If this scrap was sold, somebody would not have money to buy War Savings Bonds and Stamps.

Another thing we are doing in school is to have a sale of War Stamps once a week.

Everyone is trying to buy all the Stamps and Bonds he can, not only to save this money and collect interest in ten years, but to help the country be victorious and make soldiers at camp happy by using money to erect buildings where soldiers may have fun.

Another thing I think we can do is to get the addresses of soldiers at the printing office and then take a special time out every week to write to the soldiers.

We can save the things we have now and make them last.

The Army could be better equipped to fight. Things that we can save are rubbers—make them last—and regular clothes—take it easy on clothes so that the Army can be clothed.

We can conserve on tools and many other things so the Army can use the material to make things for their own use.

This composition is based on things that we can do for the war effort.

Robert Smith, Grade 7

Girls All-American 1942

Left End—Doris Sick, an ardent pupil of ACS.

Right tackle—Arretta Dunham; very good on defense. She knows all the answers.

Right guard—Virginia Loring. She is always on her guard.

Center—Ruth Lynch. She is always in the middle of things.

Quarterback—Marian Stevens. Knows all the signals (including the one-second wink, two-second wink, and the flash wink).

Right-halfback—Elaine Pope — Teams up with another halfback we know.

Left halfback—Jean Button. She gets around very swiftly. Nuff said.

Fullback—Mary Baker. "The bigger they come, the harder they fall."

Left tackle—Barbara Childs, can tackle anything at any time.

Senior Banquet Held

The annual Senior Play banquet was held Monday evening, Nov. 23, in the cafeteria.

Principal Glenn E. Bretsch acted as toastmaster, and called on various members of the "Brother Goose" cast to say just a few words concerning their reaction to the afternoon performance.

The menu consisted of spaghetti, salads, cake, ice cream and chocolate milk.

Miss Pauline Anderson and Miss Reta Hussong, co-advisers of the Senior Class, assisted in the preparations and each spoke briefly to the Seniors present about the matinee performance.

Senior Dance Nets $40, Not $30

It was indeed a surprise to the Senior Class president and secretary treasurer when they discovered last week that the class had more money in the treasury than they could account for at the time.

After a thoro investigation into the matter, it was found that the Senior Halloween dance profits had netted the class $40 instead of $30 as they had thought previously.

Scio Teachers Observe A. C. S. Classes

Five teachers from the Scio Central School faculty visited A. C. S. Wednesday, Nov. 18. Miss Odessa Robinson visited the first grades.

Mrs. Ella Shear attended the third grades. The Ag students had as their visitor Mr. Maynard Boyce.

Miss Mina Argentieri visited the classes in which commercial subjects are taught and Mr. Norman Seip observed in the music department.

On The Bookshelves

The library has a grand assortment of new books that have just come in.

Among these books are the following: "Barclay Back" which is designed for a typical high school boy or girl.

It is an exciting foot ball story written by Ralph Henry Barbour.

Bethel Merriday is a novel about a young girl on the stage, written by Sinclair Lewis.

The book "Annapolis" is the history of Annapolis from 1845 to the present time.

There are many more books that you could be told about, but why don't you drop in the school library and look around for your self?

Ag Classes To Use Incubator

On Thursday and Friday of last week the boys in the Agricultural One and Four classes equipped the incubator with new parts.

They are planning to start the incubator within several week's time.

The shop boys are still working on their Christmas present projects.

The Agricultural classes had as a visitor last Wednesday, Mr. Maynard Boyce, the Agricultural teacher from Scio.

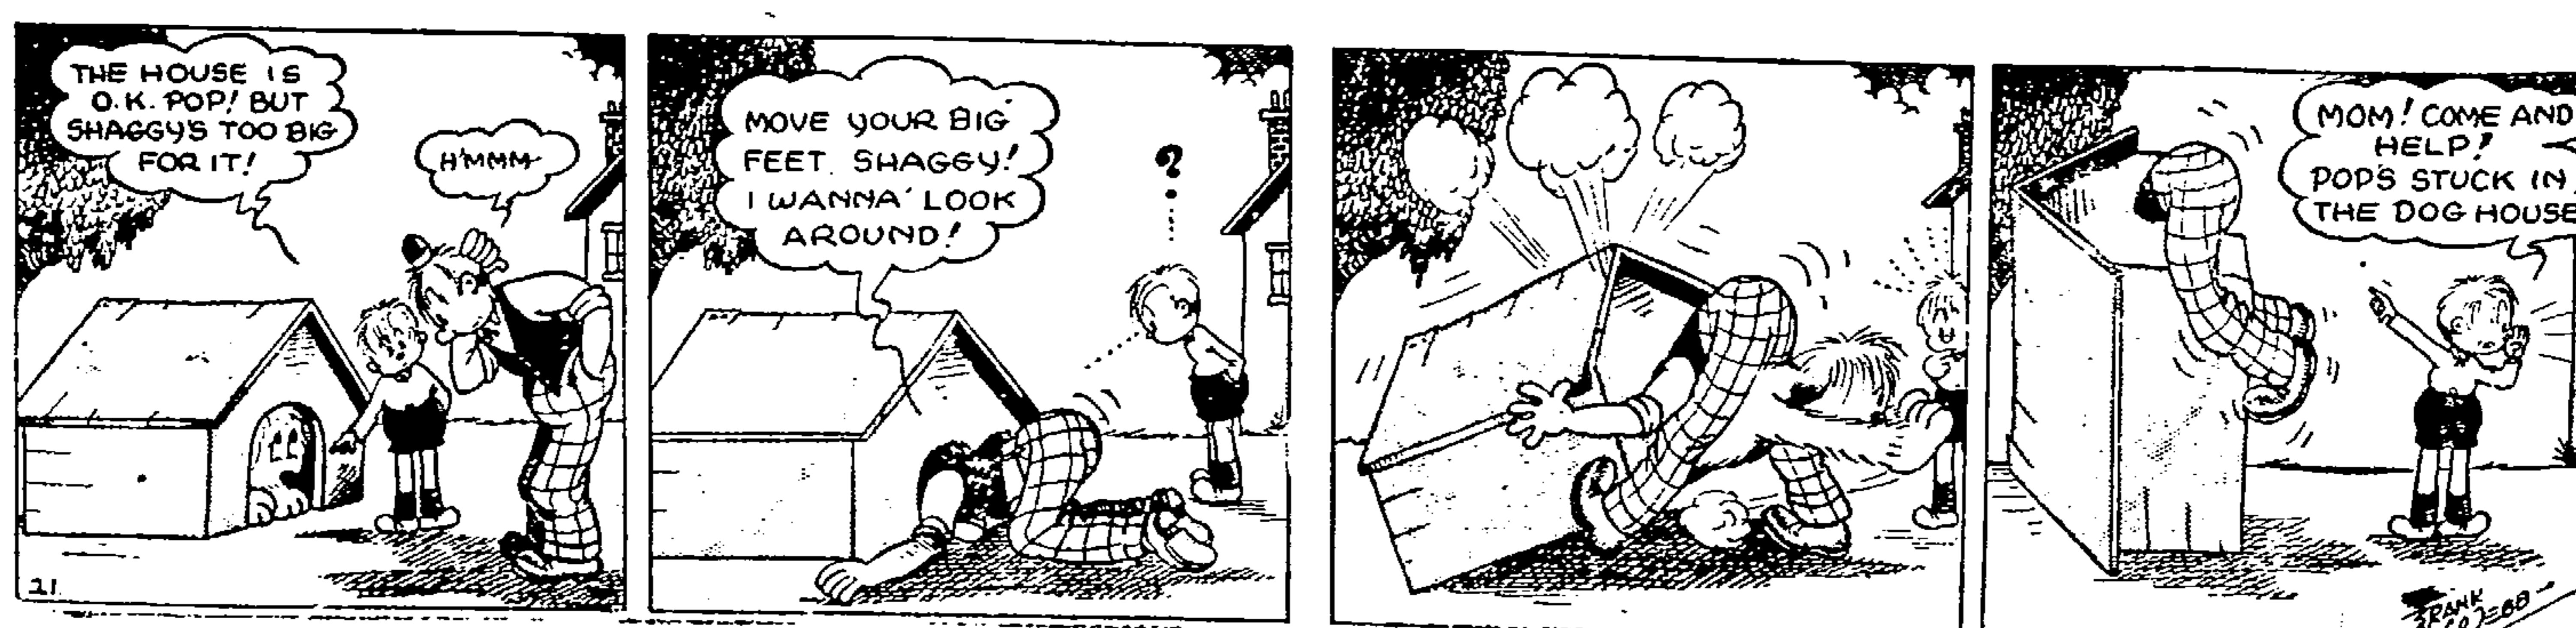

Fighting Gob: "You don't see any of them getting by me, do you?"

Second (to boxer who had been taking it for two rounds): "Why don't you stop some of those punches?"

Fighting Gob: "You don't see any of them getting by me, do you?"
