Do You Advertise Well for Your Parents

Manners are little things that one acquires during his association with other people.

You either have them or you don't. In which class are you? There is no half-way mark in manners.

Good manners usually reflect back on your parents. Thus, if you have well-mannered parents you are probably well-mannered, altho this does not necessarily hold true in all cases. And vice versa.

Manners at home, manners at church, manners at school. Manners at school are what we are primarily concerned with at the present time. Coming to class quietly, speaking and acting politely to the teachers are some suggestions for manners in the classroom. Being polite to each other is another excellent suggestion.

Courtesy costs nothing and pays large dividends, so why not use good manners in every day life. BD

Freshman Is Poetess

In her spare time, Virginia Loring, '46, has written several poems as a tribute to her mother, Mrs. Ralph Benjamin, who has just returned home from the hospital in Binghamton where she spent some time convalescing from an illness. One of these poems which, as those who know her well will see, reveals Virginia's personality to a remarkable degree, is printed here for the enjoyment of Hi Herald readers:

To My Mother
You'll never know how much I missed you,
How many things on which I needed your advice;
You've always been a swell pal,
And certainly more than nice.
In helping me to solve my problems
You've been as sympathetic and understanding
As a mother to her child should be.
These are only a few of the things
That make you mean so much to me.
Dad and I ate your cooking every day
But we didn't fully realize how good it was until you went away.
We're glad to have you back, mother,
This time, we hope you'll stay.

Young Hungarian Talks "From Darkest Europe"

Gitta Sereny, Dramatic Student in Vienna and Nurse in Occupied Europe, Tells Story

Gitta Sereny, talented 20-year-old Hungarian girl, comes to Andover Central School on Thursday, Dec. 10th at 2:30 p. m., to speak to a Junior-Senior high school assembly on her experiences as a national of a submerged and Nazified country, as a refugee and then a social worker in occupied Paris, and as a new American happy in new-found freedom. Her subject is "From Darkest Europe."

Miss Sereny received her early education in an English public (private) school for girls near London, studied also in France and Switzerland, and, at the time Hitler marched into Austria in the famed "Anschluss" movement, was studying for the stage under the famed Max Reinhardt in Vienna. She is a true cosmopolite, and thus better able than most Americans to value her coming to American citizenship.

Experiences aplenty have studied her path across the continent of Europe; she was born, dramatically enough, in an airplane to a dramatic family; she appeared in a playlet before the King and Queen of England while in school in that country, and later she, with several other girls, was selected by the school authorities to greet Hitler as he marched into Vienna.

She met American Helen Hjett, well-known NBC newscaster who took her first speaking tour under the auspices of School Assembly Service, in Switzerland and again in Paris, where both young women were living at the time of the fall of France and the German occupation. Miss Hjett, as a newscaster attached to the French government, was forced to flee, but Miss Sereny, as a citizen of Hungary, nominally friendly to Germany, was, on the contrary, forced to stay in Paris and became a nurse with the Auxiliare Sociale caring for homeless, frightened, forlorn youngsters.

Here her linguistic abilities came into play, and she served for many months before her helpfulness to enemies of the Gestapo caused her to flee France before it was too late. Many speaking engagements were arranged for her immediately after her arrival in this country, and she has also served with some of the government agencies here in propaganda efforts directed at the enslaved countries of Europe.

FFA Discusses Blood Testing of Chickens

Mr. Fribolin presided at a round table discussion on the incubation of chickens and the blood testing of mature hens to obtain hatching eggs at a meeting which the Future Farmers of America attended in the agriculture room Wednesday during activity period.

Briefly, Mr. Fribolin's method of performing a blood test is as follows: The hen is caught and inspected to determine whether she is satisfactory for hatching as far as outer appearance is concerned. A drop of blood is taken from a wing of the chicken and mixed with a drop of pullorum antizem. If the hen has a disease, the blood will coagulate in a lump. This hen is discarded or killed. All non-reactors are kept for hatching purposes. DB

The world is jammed with people who believe anything nice that is said about them. CMH

Science Club to Hold Dance

The Science Club of Andover Central School will hold a round and square dance Saturday night, Dec. 5th from 8 to 12 o'clock. The purpose of this dance is to raise money for a photographic enlarger and other supplies. Music will be furnished by Henry Baker and local musicians.

The admission price will be 35 cents per person for adults and 25 cents per person for students. BB

With Needle and Spoon

The homemaking A girls have been studying fruit and vegetable cookery. They experimented with various foods and found that to preserve green coloring in vegetables they should be cooked in small amounts of water in an uncovered container. It was also found that the unpleasant odor and flavor of cabbage and other strong flavored vegetables is reduced if cooked in large amounts of water in uncovered containers. Less food value is lost if vegetables are cooked quickly. A good method to follow is to have the water boiling before adding the vegetables. The girls also had a lesson on making fruit and vegetable salads and salad dressings.

The Home Economics 7 girls have begun studying a new unit on consumer education.

The ninth grade girls are studying the proper ways of setting tables and correct table manners. BB

Let's Join the WAACS

The Women's Army Auxiliary Corps is rapidly growing in size and is taking the places of soldiers in Air-Raid Warning Commands, Army Posts and First Aid Centers.

The WAACS training includes a code of conduct, where and when you should wear hats, how far you should use make-up and nail polish (fingernails are "ashes of roses" more often than "reckless red") and the ruling prohibits drinking in uniform.

Upon your arrival at a WAAC Camp you are given typhoid shots and other protections against disease. Then you spend six hours at classwork. First you must become acquainted with the rituals of military courtesy. You must understand the rigid discipline required by the Army and must be familiar with its organization and the insignia of different branches. You must know the fundamentals of First Aid, how to read maps and what to do in an air raid or gas attack.

An OC (Officer Candidate) is taught how to keep a Service Record, a Morning Report of the activities of her company, clothing and equipment records, duty rosters, sick reports and who is responsible for the government property.

The auxiliaries (privates) have special training in the fields and both the OC's and auxiliaries have an hour a day of drilling and an hour of calisthenics to develop high-speed co-ordination.

While training there will be plenty of irks and headaches and it is true that a rare and difficult bit of readjustment is necessary for practically every woman of the Corps, but you, as a WAAC, will love your WAACdom. When you have reached the age of 21 you may enlist in this branch of the service designed especially for women. CMH

First Tests In Nation-Wide Science Search Here

Preliminary examinations in connection with the national Second Annual Science Talent Search will be held Saturday, December 5, at Andover Central School under the supervision of Wm. H. Maloy, local science teacher.

Students taking the science aptitude test will be Elaine Pope and Arthur Temple.

The Science Talent Search is being conducted by the Science Clubs of America, administered by Science Service. Purpose of the Search is to discover and help develop scientific talent that will be of value to the nation in war and in peace.

Forty boys and girls who lead in the preliminary examinations will be given all-expense trips to Washington to attend the Science Talent Search and to take the final examination. Two contestants, one boy and one girl, will be selected by a board of judges, on the basis of written and oral examinations, to receive Westinghouse Science Grand Scholarships of $2,400 each ($600 per year for four years). Eight more contestants will receive Westinghouse Science Scholarships of $400 ($100 a year for four years) and $3,000 additional in Scholarships will be awarded.

As part of the preliminary examinations, each contestant will submit an essay of about 1,000 words on the subject "Science's Next Great Step Ahead."

Seniors Take In $105 at Play

The Senior play, "Brother Goose" proved to be successful from a financial as well as a dramatic standpoint. The total gate receipts from the afternoon and evening productions amounted to $105.26.

The final statement as to what the class actually made on the play, after the bills such as Federal tax and royalty are paid, will be made in next week's paper. MEH

Black, She's Sarah; White, She's Betty

We present Betty Louise Halsey, born on April 29, 1925 in Andover. She has three sisters.

Betty is studying Home Economics VII, English IV, Bookkeeping I, and History C in school, but she likes Home Economics the best.

Her favorite movie is "To the Shores of Tripoli," and her favorite movie star is Betty Davis. She likes Christmas best of the holidays because she says it is a time when a family can get together and distribute happiness. Her favorite color is yellow. Her favorite hobby is collecting cook books.

After Betty finishes high school she plans to go to a commercial school.

At present Betty is best remembered for the excellent work she did in the part of "Sarah," the colored maid in the Senior play, "Brother Goose." DonB

PURPLE PANTHERS WIN OVERTIME FRAY FROM ALFRED-ALM.

The locals began the hardwood season in glorious style by upsetting Alfred-Almond 31-29 in an overtime contest on the latter's court Monday evening.

This game proved to be one of the Panthers' typically exciting games that are too numerous to mention. The game went back and forth from one team's favor to another, from the start of the game to the finish, until the score remained deadlocked as the clock ran out. During the overtime period Dolan dropped one in to put the locals in a lead that they held until the finish of the overtime period, thanks to some remarkable passing by the whole team.

"Chuck" Holt and "Slip" Karcanes were the scoring spearheads for the locals, "Chuck" dropping in 14 markers and "Slip" eight. Polan and Thorngate accounted for 22 of Alfred-Almond's 29 points to lead in the scoring.

Andover faces its traditional basketball rival in Wellsville tomorrow evening (Friday) and is looking forward to an exciting game. The varsity game will start at 7:30 o'clock on the local court.

GIRLS' PING PONG TOURNAMENT TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

The annual ping pong tournament is to began Monday, Dec. 7th with the girls playing to determine their champion. The tournament is especially important to all girls this season as a part of their earning a letter. The winner of this contest will receive 50 points; second place 30 points and third place 20 points.

In order to determine opponents, all girls interested in entering this contest should leave their name with Mr. Ingerson. The names will then be drawn from a box and matched up. Games in this tournament will be played after school and a record of the winners will be kept on the gym bulletin board. MEB

Music Notes

Work began this week on the operetta "Madonna's Choice" which will be given some time before Christmas by members of the music department. Tryouts for the various parts were held during the week.

The selections "My Devotion," "Our Director" and the "Zenith Overture" were played by the band at the Senior play, "Brother Goose," Nov. 24th. A trumpet solo, "Manhattan Serenade," was featured, by Marian Stevens, '44. SM

Phyllis Temple Writes Winning Composition

Phyllis Temple was recently awarded 50 cents in War Stamps as winner of a composition contest sponsored by Miss Jaekle, English 8th grade teacher. The composition "What Can I Do?" appears below:

Everybody plays a part in the war even tho he isn't in the armed forces of Uncle Sam. One thing that worries us is that we are either too old or too young to fight, or that we are too busy at home, cooking, cleaning, or mending.

Here are a list of things that we can help do:

Protecting Ourselves -- Did you know that 52 million Americans live in so-called "target areas"? We can clean out our attics and put a pile of sand and a shovel there for incendiary bombs. We can also get ready for blackouts by putting up blackout curtains and doing just as our air raid wardens tell us.

The Purple Panthers looked ragged and out of condition in their first game but showed streaks of good playing and had that old fight that brought them out of the fire in the final minutes of play during the overtime period.

"Chuck" Holt was really on his shots in the first period of the Alfred-Almond game. He accounted for nine of the team's 15 points scored during the first half.

"Bob" Baker did a good job substituting Monday night in his first game for the varsity.

"Slip" got hot in the second half on his one-handed push shots and helped keep the score ripping in the Panther's favor.

"Naze" Dolan played an outstanding defensive game as well as helping to account for his share of the points.

"Jim" and "Whitey" had their hands full in feeding the forwards the ball as well as keeping the game moving into one of the Panthers' finest passing games.

The Alfred-Almond game proved to be one of the most exciting games the fans have ever witnessed on the Alfred-Almond court. The boys were never afraid of losing, even when they were behind by a fair margin.

The cheerleaders and the large crowds that were missing were noticeable even tho the Andover girls did an unrehearsed job of cheerleading and the crowd was larger than could be expected because of the gas rationing.

The Purple and White faces one of their oldest and toughest rivals tomorrow evening (Friday) on the local court when they play Wellsville. Wellsville's orange and black combine has been practicing for about three weeks and ACS is that team's first opponent.

Let's have a large crowd from the home town out to see the Purple Panthers open up the home court season Friday evening against Wellsville. There will be a preliminary game before the varsity game and a "dime dance" afterwards, sponsored by the Student Council.

(2) Civilian Mobilization -- By June 1, 1942 more than nine and one-half million Americans had volunteered for spare time war work. By that date more than eight and one-half million of them were doing volunteer war jobs.

(3) Conservation--Did you know that the steel in the two million refrigerators we made in 1939 would have made 20,000 light tanks or 56,000 anti-aircraft guns? We can get along with less, take good care of the things we have, keep our homes in good repair. We must share rides; all rubber things should be kept in good repair and don't make mistakes in buying.

(4) Salvage--Did you know that one old flatiron will provide enough scrap iron to make four hand grenades? You can help by taking the scrap to the scrap pile yourself and making a thoro search of your closets and cupboards.

(5) Your War Budget--Germany is spending seven out of ten dollars of its national income for this war. England is spending six out of ten dollars for the war. At the time of Pearl Harbor, we were spending two out of every ten dollars for the war. We can give our attention to the art of spending.

(6) Health--In 1940 the American worker lost an average of ten working days thru sickness and accidents. Check up on your family's health. One person in every home should be training in some kind of first aid.

(7) Information--Most of the rumors against us and our allies are started by Hitler's agents. Read your daily newspaper carefully. Study the geography of the world wide war. Don't be a rumor spreading Nazi agent.

(8) V-Homes--In "V Homes" the people follow the instructions of the air raid warden; they conserve food; they refuse to spread rumors, and they buy Defense Bonds and Stamps regularly. There are more things that could be listed but there is not room for them.

Boys and girls can also be very
