PROTECT YOUR HOME FROM TUBERCULOSIS

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Christmas Seals are bullets for workers fighting for you on the home front. Essential to the war effort is the nation's health—the men in the service—the men in the factory and farms—the very homes of America, must be protected against the by-products of war-pollution and disease.

Deadliest of all enemies of men, one that strikes without warning, is the dread tuberculosis. Millions of people are still in danger from tuberculosis, more this year than last, for this country is facing a wartime rise in the disease.

You are not asked to shoulder arms but can help in home defense by buying your share of Christmas Seals. It is not too late for you to buy the Seals that fight tuberculosis. Please send in your contribution today.

Habits are servants, or masters, of men. How about your habits?

The vigilant eagle of American pride shall fly once more with the dove of Peace by his side . . . is our fervent Christmas wish!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DYNAMIC CHRISTIAN LIVING

International Sunday School Lesson for December 27, 1942.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." — Romans 12: 21.

(Lesson Text: Rom. 12: 1-3; 9-21.)

It is fitting that this series of lessons should close with a discussion such as this. It will be recalled that the theme of the last quarter's lessons was "Studies in Christian Life, Personal, Family and Church." We are to consider how we may live as a Christian, advised by the great Apostle Paul, as he set it forth in this great twelfth chapter in his letter to the Christians in Rome.

The Book of Romans can be divided into two main parts, the first, chapter 1 to 11, is doctrinal and the second part, beginning with the twelfth chapter, practical. You will notice how the twelfth chapter begins, "I beseech you therefore." Of the "therefore" Dr. Jowett says: "When the Apostle Paul, in the twelfth chapter of Romans, begins to be hortatory, perceptive, practical it is because he has already prepared the rich bed in which these strong and winsome graces may be grown.

"Every precept in the twelfth through all the previous chapters through the rich, fat soil of sanctification and justification and the mysterious energies of redeeming grace."

Because of what God has done for us, we should present to Him ourselves, dedicated to His service, responsive to His will. The One Volume Commentary has the following comment to make on the first two verses of Romans: "God's redeeming love should be answered by the true sacrifice and the spiritual, ritual service of a life of purity and self-denial and work for God. Do not follow the fashions and the customs of the worldly society around you, but let your ways of thinking be so changed by the Holy Spirit that you look for and recognize God's will, and love to do it."

Paul also cautions against self-conceit. "For I say, through the grace that was given me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but so to think as to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to each man a measure of faith." The poet, Cowper, has well expressed the same idea: "Beware of too sublime a sense Of your own worth and consequence! The man who dreams himself so great, And his importance of such weight— That all around, — that all that's done— Must move and act for him alone, Will learn in the school of tribulation The folly of his expectation."

In verses 9-21, Paul outlines a very worthy program, a high ideal for the Christian life, which will require constant struggling on the part of the individual if it is to be attained. If one lives in accordance with this pattern, he will be living a transformed life.

Paul begins his program with "love," as he frequently does. Love is fundamental. Without it there can be no real living. If one's love is genuine, it follows that there will be love for God, for one's fellow-men, that he will honor others, will do his share in meeting the needs of God's people, will be hospitable and will do all in his power to serve God realizing that in serving his fellowmen, he is serving God.

If we will realize the truth of one of Paul's word pictures when he compared life to a game, we will appreciate more deeply the challenge of living rightly and fully. To play the game squarely, and fairly to ourselves and to our Creator, we must keep our bodies fit, our minds clean, and be considerate of our fellow team-mates.

For the Christian's race the prize to be sought after at the end of the trail is eternal life with Jesus; the goal is the high calling that Jesus has placed in his heart. As Christian runners in this race of life let us keep our eyes ever on Jesus striving to reach the goal of his perfection, looking only unto Him, the author and finisher of our faith.
