Why Study English?

By Lewis Wintemburg

Why study English? To most people of our educated nation this would be a simple question to answer. However, you would be surprised at the number of high school students that don't understand.

I believe that the first thing in opening the door to your life career is found in English. If you are a stenographer or even a common tygist you will be confronted with these facts. You will have to be able to change your shorthand into intelligently developed sentences and paragraphs. You will have to know how to be courteous and kind to your fellow workers as well as your superiors. An Important quality in both the stenographer and typist will have to be a high ability to spell. Correct spelling is very important in the business world of today.

Maybe you would like to become an actor or an actress, or even perhaps a producer. In order to do any of these three professions you must have a very good form of speech and a pleasant way of speaking. An actor or actress knows that how they speak their part is a most important thing in their life's work. The second most important is how to walk, sit, drive cars and do everything needed on stage or on screen.

Perhaps, you may prefer to go into the trucking or automobile industry. If you are trucker it is not so important how you walk, but you must know how to take orders, how to carry them out and how to read directiton and road signs. If you work in an automobile factory it is very important, in order to advance, to speak well when you are with your employer or foreman. You must know rules of the plant and what each means. Also it is important that you can enjoy talking with your fellow workers and let them enjoy you.

I know that I haven't covered any of the vast area where English is the number one fact for success. It would be impossible to write all of the things where English is important but I'm sure I can't think of a profession where it isn't. All you high school students! Stop and think before you say that English isn't helping you to prepare for your life after you leave good old A. C. S.

Bouquets to You

We are tossing our orchid to you, this week, Mrs. Greene.

We send you this for the fine work you have done in keeping our students healthy. Mrs. Greene deserves all the credit given to her for the work pertaining to the school nurse.

She treats all the small aches and pains of A. C. S. students. Listens to their tales of woe with a patient smile and then fills some kind of a remedy for them. Even if its just advice for a good nights sleep.

Bouquets to you, Mrs. Greene from the A. C. S. students. SM

Faculty Tea Held

The Faculty of A. C. S. met in the Home Economics Room, Tuesday afternoon, immediately following the school hours, for an informal tea.

The Home Economics classes baked the cookies for the tea. The faculty agreed that the brownies made by the boys were excellent.

Miss Rita Elliott and Mrs. Howard Gath, third and seventh grade teachers respectively, were co-chairmen of the tea.

Similar teas will be held monthly, during the ensuing school year. PJ - DAD

Girls' Sports

This coming week the Junior-Senior girls in their gym classes will play volley ball to prepare for the play day Saturday, December 2, 1944, in which ten girls from A. C. S. will participate. The program will be as follows:

10:00, Dressing for game.
10:30, Volley Ball.
12:00, "War Game."
12:45, Shower.
1:00, Lunch.

After lunch there will be dancing in the gym for those interested. JL

Latin Club Has Spaghetti Dinner

Through the kindness of Mrs. Emilio Yannie, the Latin Club was treated to a spaghetti and meat ball supper at the school cafeteria Monday evening, November 20.

Several high school teachers, including the Club sponsor, Mrs. McKenna, were present. After the supper, the members of the Club sang "America" in Latin and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and singing popular songs.

The Latin Club was organized the week previous with 17 members from the Latin 1 and 2 classes. The officers elected are as follows: Consuls:

Audrey Baker and Patricia Ludden; Quaestor, Delores Ellis; Scriba, Jean Kemp.

Freshman Frolics

Who woke up in the middle of the night to find a mouse for a bed companion?

What reservation are you staying on Nora? With those pig tails you sure looked original.

You better keep down here after Earl or was the clothesline awfully low?

What's the matter with your environment in English Class, Rick?

What tall, tan, young freshman is Helen Yannie enterested in?

I see Jo Ann finally got a letter. Lucky you.

What boys shudder every time the telephone rings?

Why can't you crack a smile in English I Class, Earl Gross?

It seems to me the freshmen could find something more interesting than the teacher to talk about.

Have you heard that the freshmen homeroom is the best looking class in school? Leo

Panthers Beat Greenwood, 19-7

The Greenwood Central School basketball team met defeat at the hands of the Andover Central Purple Panthers in a non-league game on the ACS court, Tuesday night. Andover triumpher with a score of 19-7.

The game got off to a slow start with neither team playing good ball until the last quarter when the Andover team started to "click" and rolled up several decisive scores. Fouls and "travelling" were frequent and other evidences of inexperience were noted. The score at the end of the first quarter was 3-2 in favor of the visitors, at the half it stood 5-5 and at the beginning of the last quarter the game was still tied up, 7-7. It was only in the last quarter that the locals came through with 12 points to decide the contest.

Jim Holt, one of last year's varsity members, topped the scoring honors by making 10 points. The last quarter proved that the team has considerable promise of success this season. Their next test will be on the Scio court in the first League game on December 8.

The second teams of the two schools had a preliminary game with the locals walking away with the honors to the tune of a 37-0 score. The Junior Panthers made a fine showing, although against a smaller and very inexperienced team. The boys making up this junior team are Earl Gross, Jim Gorsuch, Jim Burgett, Kevin Lynch, Jim Smith, Earl Richardson, Edward Elliott and Dick Wheaton.

The line-up for the varsity game was as follows:

Andover	Greenwood
Howland	Stevens
Horan, J.	Hardy
Smith, F.	Woodworth
McCormick	Donaldson
Jackson	York
Holt	Osmin
Ordway
Baker, R.
Dunham
Behn
Referee	Reil

Tuning Up

The music department is at present working on the Christmas operetta, which will be held Wednesday, Dec. 20. Miss Horn wishes that those in the cast who have not reported would do so immediately.

The Senior Chorus, which now meets twice a week, was so interested in the new piece which will be sung during the operetta, that they completely forgot the time and sang it the entire period.

The second grade has learned a new song which they have sung so much the teacher went home singing it at night.

Some of the girls from the first and second grades in the operetta are going to look good enough to eat.

Let's hope no one gets hungry. RMB

"Sophomore Symphonies"

Did you hear Jerry was out with George again?? Wouldn't have been the Greenwood dance, would it?

Is Althea H. still being true to the Navy? We just wondered.

Are you disappointed, Jean S. because you didn't go to Hornell Sunday?

Are you Zaa.

What Sophomore girl is always giving the initials, never the names?

Don't tell me Earl G. has gotten a dear! (Don't get excited, it's four legged.)

We hear Dickie E. had company Sunday. We just can't imagine who it was.

Hey, Jim S.! Why all the questions about hermits in History Class? Think of becoming one?

We hear Jim G. lost his report card. Accidently, or are you on the level, Jim?

What Sophomore girl is to be remembered by her dark eyes?

Where was Pat L. Saturday night?

Say, Edith! Isn't it about time you started growing up? (Physically, I mean.) PFL

Did you enjoy yourself at the dance Doris? I hope so.

Why does Bob B. bother with a Sophomore girl? Why not a Senior, Bob!

Will Earl G. ever stop raving about Patt L.

Why don't Jerry L. and James O. admit that they are that way about each other? ? ?

What seventh grade girl is writing to a certain Sophomore hero?

What Sophomore girl nearly caught a deer?

From who do all those letters come, Dot and Barb?

What's the matter with Jeanne and Jerry? You aren't lame are you? JS - DW

Boys Beat Girls 360 to 339

No, this isn't the report of a basketball game; it's a different kind of contest, one in which the participants just can't help themselves. The above score shows the relative number of boys and girls in the Andover Central School district from little wee babies up to 18 years of age, as shown by the annual school census report for 1944 which has recently been completed in the school office.

A further study of this report shows that of the pupils attending school, the boys also predominate with a score of 248 for the boys and 236 for the girls. However, the future promises a more even state of affairs, for of the 169 children under school age, 84 are boys and 85 girls.

Twelve and sixteen year olds are in the majority so far as age groups are concerned, with 49 children in each group. The smallest age group is that of babies under 1 year old which numbers but 25. The next smallest group is the 9 year olds with 30.
