ODT Urges No Spring School Recess

As another step in transportation conservation, Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, urges that schools and colleges cancel their spring vacations this year. Col. Johnson pointed out that this year's spring vacations will come during the extremely critical period in wartime transportation, when every effort must be made to avoid non-essential travel. The omission of these vacations will be especially desirable as it affects students who must travel to reach their homes, for it "will save for each student a trip home and return," he wrote in a letter to John W. Studebaker, United States Commissioner of Education. As many as 300,000 students would normally be taking such vacation trips, Mr. Studebaker said in endorsing Col. Johnson's recommendation.
