I had been practeveryone knows these things and tically dragged to it by my siston behalf of the Senior Class ter and a couple of friends — well—need I say more? and I was pretty embarrassed. I' couldn't even do the two-step, let alone that bewildering hum-learned and fast! The caller said "Four more" and I found myself in the middle of the floor trying to wrench myself free of all-to-be-willing-to-learn me Oh, but I mixed up that set. I even had a couple enemies when I finished, but never-thelearned both to square and round in about a million "easy" lessons plus a sorefooted and very glad-to-get-rid-of-me beau.

Oh, yes, I did study, not too much but enough to pass on. My English grammer was rotten (and but my literature wasn't to awful. History was okay but could remember
