Western New York Spelling Bee

The Andover News will sponsor the 1946 National Spelling Bee in this territory in cooperation with The Buffalo Evening News, which is conducting the contest for the public, private and parochial elementary schools of the eight counties of Western New York. As the spelling bee progresses, the News will report schools in this vicinity enrolling and later will report the champion spellers as they are selected. Every Western New York elementary school taking part in the 1946 National Spelling Bee will share in the prizes. The best speller in every school will receive a copy of Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, fifth edition, while the second best speller will receive a certificate of merit. In addition, the champion speller of each school will have an opportunity to win other prizes in the county matches.
