Watch Your Waste Measure

Reliable evidence shows that all the food that goes into American kitchens, about one pound in every seven is thrown in the garbage can. This is food that is good to eat. In a week's time the food that is thrown away is enough to supply a day's meals for every member of your family.

How often do you clean out your refrigerator? Often enough to be sure there are never shriveled carrots? - inedible lettuce? sour gravy? Food in your refrigerator will not keep indefinitely. Every time you store a left-over, be sure you plan to use it soon. See what is in the refrigerator before you go shopping. Watch your waste measure.

Egg Freeze

Freeze eggs now while supplies are more plentiful. That's the advice from the experts at Cornell, and here's how to do it.

Keep in mind that egg yolks coagulate in freezing unless they are mixed with something else. Therefore, to freeze whole eggs, beat them with a fork-just enough to break the yolk and mix them well with the whites. Place the beaten egg in wax cartons of the size that is suitable for your family. If single eggs are wanted, place one egg lightly beaten, in a small cellophane envelope and place several of them in a carton. Always allow room for expansion.

To freeze egg whites, separate the whites from the yolks, and place in wax cartons or cellophane bags. To freeze egg yolks, mix them with corn syrup or honey, or with salt, depending upon the intended use. If they are to be used in cakes, puddings, etc., use two tablespoonfuls of sugar or honey or corn sirup for six egg yolks. If they are to be used in salad dressings, one level teaspoon of salt may be used for six egg yolks.

Turn to Trays

Hot weather is a time that ought to endear trays to any homemaker who hasn't already learned to depend on them. A big sturdy tray makes it possible to clear the dinner table and bring everything out to the kitchen in just one trip.

Once you've tried a "tote" tray to carry all small cleaning equipment thru the house in the morning, you'll probably decide

Uncle Sam Says

Millions of you await your newspaper boy every day. He is important to me and to you. He is the citizen of tomorrow. He may be your lawyer, doctor, business man, mechanic, engineer, manufacturer, and, perhaps, your President. $90,000 newspaper boys like Jimmy sold $179,823,938.50 in War Stamps and Bonds. Now that the war is over, Jimmy hasn't stopped buying savings stamps and bonds. I am proud of the way Jimmy backed the attack against our enemies. I am equally proud of Jimmy now for backing his future.

you cannot get along without one.

And, of course, there are the decorative trays, one for each member of the family, to be filled in the kitchen buffet-style and carried to the porch, backyard, or a breezy window. They help to make a picnic out of the simplest hot-night supper. So when the temperature reaches 80 and above—reach for trays.
